Mr. Clark Griffith's experiment in making a championship omelette without breaking any dividend eggs suggests the applicability of Mr. Kipling's philosophy—"Only thyself hath afflicted thee."

Those who remember when Coxey's army marched on Washington and stormed the very citadel of the Nation's Capitol, are not likely to be stampeded by the announcement from the silk shirt and wildcat oil stock belt that Mr. Brookhart, all by himself, is on his way to tell Congress what to do.

* * * *

And so passes from the political picture a victim of the very radicalism which he himself helped to implant in the peasant mind when he was arousing public opinion against the railroad power. Mr. Cummins in a way is very much like the eagle in the fable wounded by an arrow tipped by one of his own feathers.

In view of the fact that the Hon. Bill Oldfield can base the prediction of a sweeping nation-wide Democratic victory on the election of a member of the school board in Izard county, Arkansas, the Iowa primary opens a large field to his prophetic genius. Bill knows politics from A to Izard.

It is understood that careful scrutiny of the Constitution has failed to disclose to the House conferees on the mothers' aid bill the want of any power to legislate for Sophie Irene Loeb.

SENATE PASSES BILL GIVING TRAFFIC HEAD RIGHT OVER PERMITS

MAY ALSO INCREASE SPEED AS HE SEES FIT

Measure Provides for Appeal to Courts by Driver Losing License.

The Senate last night passed the traffic bill giving the traffic director full authority to issue and revoke permits and to regulate speed above 22 miles an hour as he sees fit.

With several changes from the measure as it passed the House, it now goes back to that body for concurrence. The most important change made in the House bill was elimination of the provision designed to prevent hotels from granting space monopolies to taxicab companies. The provision which would have given the traffic director authority over pedestrians was also stricken out, but he is given authority over street cars and animal-drawn vehicles.

Three-Year Permits Provided.

As passed by the Senate, the measure provides for the issuance of three-year permits at $3 each. The director is empowered to revoke permits as he or his assistants deem necessary. In each instance the reasons must be set forth and the permit holder is given 30 days to file an appeal to any of the justices of the District Circuit Court of Appeals by the writ of error procedure.

Many legal authorities have contended that the writ of error procedure offers little if any recourse from the director's action, as on a writ of error it is contended the appellate court would not go into the merits of the charges.

It is provided that the appeal shall not serve as a stay of the revocation.

Reason for Increasing Speed.

Under provisions of the bill the director may designate any street in the city and increase the regular 22-mile-an-hour speed limit as much as he desires. This is intended to permit greater speeds on the boulevards, where the electric signal devices are operating, but the language of the provision was so broadened by the Senate that the greater speeds may be authorized on any thoroughfare.

Penalties for violations of the original traffic act are somewhat strengthened by the bill, both as passed by the House and as passed by the Senate.

Another important provision of the bill, both as passed by the House and Senate, is that which directs that all traffic violations shall be prosecuted by the corporation counsel's office. This is intended to meet the traffic director's contention that the United States attorney's office does not cooperate with him, and also that the dual prosecuting system is ineffective of itself.

Regulations Here Assailed.

Senator Cole Blease, of South Carolina, who held up passage of the bill several nights ago, made this provision the vehicle for an attack on traffic regulation here generally.

Senator King, of Utah, made known again his unalterable opposition to the "dual authority," asserting that traffic should be under direction of the superintendent of police with an assistant for traffic matters.

There is to be no improvement in traffic regulation here under the present divided responsibility, he said.

Senator Capper, chairman of the Senate District committee, and Senator Jones, of Washington, succeeded in getting the bill up for consideration after it had been passed over in the hurry of business.

The traffic director is given one year in which to issue the new permits after the final passage of the bill.

Van Kills General, Veteran of 3 Wars

London, June 8 (By A. P.).—Brig. Gen. Edward A. Plunkett was fatally injured by a motor van today while crossing Piccadilly. He died on the way to the hospital.

He served in the Nile expedition, in the Balkan war and the great war with marked distinction. He was born in 1870.

Curfew Goes Into Effect But Night Clubs Fight

New York, June 9 (By A. P.). The Restaurateurs Protective association was organized by night club proprietors today to combat the 2 o'clock curfew put into effect by police this morning. Beyond formulating plans to send a committee to explain the financial results of the law to Mayor Walker, no definite steps were taken at the meeting.

Police Commissioner McLaughlin defended the curfew, saying that some of the clubs were conducted by criminals and that after two in the morning honest persons were in danger.

"We know what has been going on during certain hours in the night clubs," said Commissioner McLaughlin, "and for this reason we decided that 2 o'clock was the hour for all decent people to be out of such places."

DR. GREGG NAMED HEAD OF HOWARD UNIVERSITY

First Colored Man to Serve as Executive in History of Institution.

COMES FROM FLORIDA

Bishop John A. Gregg, of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, was elected president of Howard university at a meeting of the board of trustees yesterday held in the Carnegie library on the university campus. The election was made at the afternoon session of the board, after more than 30 candidates had been eliminated by a committee on nominations, headed by Col. Theodore Roosevelt, of New York.

The first negro to serve as the head of Howard since its founding in 1862, Dr. Gregg comes to the university with wide administrative experience, having served as president of Edward Waters college in Florida, and for many years as president of Wilberforce university, Wilberforce, Ohio. Dr. Charles R. Brown, dean of the Yale Divinity school, presided over the six-hour session of the board.

Annual reports of the administrative officers of the university, Dr. J. Stanley Durkee, retiring president, and Emmett J. Scott, secretary-treasurer, were presented. Dr. Durkee rehearsed in detail the outstanding accomplishments of eight years of administration. The report of Dr. Scott reviewed the financial condition of the university, detailing at length the general improvements of the educational plant.

While the budget for the past year was reported as $686,745, not including the unexpended portion of the government appropriation of

Fireboats Present Fallsway Oil Blaze From Attacking Baltimore Ships.

Baltimore, June 8.—A river of flames swept through downtown Baltimore to the harbor today when oil ignited in the Fallsway, the downtown section of Jones Falls, a city drainage stream. The Fallsway covered for the greater portion of its length, suddenly belched fire and billowing clouds of black smoke at Baltimore street, three blocks from the ship basin, where it becomes an open stream.

The black pall coasted rapidly downstream to the harbor, to be met by three fire boats which prevented it reaching shipping. Buildings overlooking the stream were engulfed in smoke, and their woodwork seared and windows broken by the heat. The Lombard street and Pratt street bridges and the Folly theater were damaged.

Where the inflammable material came from fire officials had not definitely established, but they believed it to have escaped from a filling station tank at some point near the covered section of the huge drain. A cigarette or cigar stub, they said, might have ignited it. Firemen draped curtains of water over nearby buildings, and covered the surface of the stream with chemicals.

Briton, Kidnaped In China, Is Killed

Hongkong, June 8 (By A. P.).—The body of J. M. Phillips, British manager of the Asiatic Petroleum Co., has been found in the river at Nanking. Mr. Phillips was kidnaped by bandits several days ago. Soldiers were sent to try to effect his release, and it is presumed the bandits killed him.

HOUSE RETIREMENT MEASURE IS LIKELY CONFEREES' CHOICE

Lower Body Names Its Managers; Bargaining Held Blocked.

LIBERAL SENATE ACT EMPLOYES' FAVORITE

Slight Modification May Be Granted as Result of the Treasury Surplus.

Government employes' retirement legislation, dormant for the last few weeks, was thrown into conference yesterday with the indications that the bill as passed by the House will in the end prevail.

Representative Lehlbach of New Jersey called the matter up in the House and House conferees were appointed. Besides himself, Representatives Smith of Idaho and Jeffries of Alabama were named as the House managers.

Senate conferees probably will be appointed today when the action of the House is reported to it.

Mr. Lehlbach obtained unanimous consent to call up the bill and also unanimous consent for the appointment of conferees. Either of his moves could have been blocked by one vote which would have necessitated the rules committee bringing in a special rule in order that the bill might go to conference.

Bargaining Unlikely.

Because of the known attitude of the House managers it is considered likely that their conferees will not be in a position to bargain freely with the Senate conferees and for that reason the House, or administration bill, is expected to be fairly closely followed in the final measure.

As passed by the House annuities graduating to a maximum of $1,000 on a salary of $1,500 are provided and the retirement age limits of the present law are retained. The employe's contribution is increased from 2½ to 3½ per cent. The measure, it is said, will cost the government $29,000 a year less than the present law.

The Senate bill is that originally sought by the employes and which they still want if they can get. It would increase the maximum annuity to $1,200, based on a salary of $1,600. Lower age limits would be made optional and the employe's contribution is increased from 2½ to 4 per cent. This measure will add some $17,000,000 annually to the government's cost, it is said.

There is the possibility that in conference and in the light of the recently reported good standing of the government's bank account, the bill may be liberalized in some of its less important features. It would be possible, it is pointed out, for the insertion of optional retirement age limits, perhaps higher than those now in the Senate bill, but which would be a liberalization over the House bill.

Woman and Infants Slain; House Fired

New York, June 8 (By A. P.).—An autopsy today showed that Mrs. Mary Milazzo, 51 years old, and her two grandchildren, Mary and John Martulla, 5 and 2 years old, respectively, were killed by blows on the head and did not die in the fire which wrecked the interior of their frame dwelling in Brooklyn yesterday.

The announcement to this effect by Medical Examiner Norris convinced the police the murderer fired the house. Life was not extinct in 5-year-old Mary when she was thrown on the blazing bed where her body was found.

Ludendorff Blames Smoking by His Wife

Munich, Bavaria, June 8 (By A. P.).—Gen. Ludendorff's home life was wrecked by his wife's incessant cigarette smoking, his counsel is reported to have told the county court justice when the private hearing on Frau Ludendorff's petition for divorce was resumed today.

The general's counsel is further reported to have declard that Ludendorff's irritability was not caused by his political activities, as alleged by the wife, but by his general abhorrence to her smoking.

Neither of the principals was present at the hearing.

ADMIRAL C. F. HUGHES.

HUGHES IS PROMOTED AS FLEET COMMANDER

OTHERS TRANSFERRED

To give more officers a chance at high commands in peace time, the Navy Department has inaugurated a policy of yearly changes in flag officers instead of every two years. Announcement of the change came yesterday with the promotion of Admiral Charles F. Hughes, now commander-in-chief of the battle fleet, to commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, with the rank of admiral. He relieves Admiral S. S. Robison, present commander-in-chief, September 4, it was announced along with the following reassignment of flag officers. Admiral Robison becomes commandant of the Thirteenth naval district and navy yard at Puget Sound, Wash., succeeding Rear Admiral J. V. Chase.

Vice Admiral R. H. Jackson, now commander of the battleship divisions of the battle fleet, will be commander-in-chief of the battle fleet, with the rank of admiral, relieving Admiral Hughes.

Rear Admiral L. R. de Steiguer, now commander battleship division 4 of the battle fleet, will succeed Vice Admiral Jackson as commander of the battleship division of the battle fleet, with rank of vice admiral.

Rear Admiral A. H. Robertson, now commandant of the Eleventh naval district and naval operating base, San Diego, will be commander of the scouting fleet, with rank of vice admiral, to succeed Vice Admiral Josiah S. McKean, in September.

Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, now president of the board of in-

Raiders Seize Bogus Revenue Stamp Plant

New York, June 8 (By A. P.).—Three men were arrested and 3,000,000 counterfeit revenue stamps, representing a value of $250,000, were seized here early today when Federal agents raided the office of a lithographing company.

Agents were sent from Washington eight weeks ago upon the discovery of a counterfeit internal revenue stamp used in sealing whisky bottles. Clews led them to the sixth floor of a building in the heart of the lithographing district on Rose street. Two agents climbed a fire escape, forced entrance through steel fire shutters, and found three men at work. Copper plates, two presses, the stamps, and a large quantity of liquor labels were seized.

RUTH BRYAN OWENS HOLDS SLIGHT LEAD

Seeking House Seat in Florida Primary; Fletcher Is Far Ahead for Senate.

Jacksonville, Fla., June 8 (By A. P.).—From the senatorial race, in which mounting returns maintained United States Senator Duncan U. Fletcher's 2-to-1 lead for renomination, interest in the Florida Democratic primary late tonight turned to the neck-and-neck race between Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owens, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, and W. J. Sears for the Fourth district congressional seat.

Returns from 142 precincts out of 336 in the district gave Mrs. Owens 8,503 votes and her opponent 8,015.

Returns from 303 of the 1,269 precincts gave Senator Fletcher 18,098; Jerry W. Carter, 9,351, and John Van Valzah, 808.

The total vote today is expected to exceed that of 1922, which was 88,759. In the Fourth district in 1922 the total vote cast was 30,018.

WADSWORTH STAND CLARIFIES NEW YORK FIGHT AS DRY TEST

CRISTMAN BACKED BY ANTISALOONISTS

Smith Signs the Bill Calling for Referendum on Prohibition.

New York, June 8 (By A. P.).—The New York political situation, carrying elements of nationwide interest because of the importance to be played by prohibition issues, had crystallized tonight into approximately the form to be presented to the voters.

Acceptance by former State Senator Franklin W. Cristmas of an invitation to run against United States Senator James W. Wadsworth for the Republican senatorial nomination, with the organized support of the "bone dry" forces of the State, was followed at once today by a statement from Senator Wadsworth of his position on the liquor question. He asserted that the root of all prohibition evils was the eighteenth amendment, and that it is hopeless to expect real reform until that amendment is removed from the Constitution.

The statement, contained in a letter from Washington, was seen as an answer to critics who had accused the senator of hedging on the issue brought about in New York State by the enactment of the recent measure providing for a referendum on prohibition next fall.

Would Modify Law.

Senator Wadsworth said that he was an advocate of modification of the Volstead act as the first step toward elimination of the eighteenth amendment, and that he favored ultimate adoption of government liquor sales similar to that in force in Quebec.

Before sailing for Europe last Saturday Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university and mentioned prominently as a possible Republican candidate for the governorship this fall, also announced himself as in favor of a law similar to that of Quebec.

Gov. Alfred E. Smith, whose Democratic friends are exerting pressure to persuade him to run for the governorship again, despite his announced intention of retiring, signed the bill calling for the State referendum and has long been known to advocate modification of the prohibition laws.

In a statement issued tonight after Senator Wadsworth's letter was made public, Orville S. Poland, head of the legal department of the Antisaloon league in New York, said:

"The drys find every reason for elation in Senator Wadsworth's letter. He himself says he is wet. It leaves but one thing for any sincere believer in prohibition to do, and that is to vote for the independent dry candidate."

(By Associated Press.)

MAN, 47, SHOOTS SELF AT GRAVE OF MOTHER

NO REASON IS ADVANCED

Standing over the grave of his mother in Rock Creek cemetery, which only a moment before he had decorated with roses, Robert Kaiser, 47 years old, an employe of the District building, living at Washington Grove, Md., yesterday afternoon took out a .25 caliber automatic revolver, pressed it close to his heart, fired twice and fell across the grave, mortally wounded.

Robert D. Howell and Jonathan S. Kemp, employes at the cemetery, who were startled by the shots, hurried to the grave where Kaiser had fallen, less than 100 yards from the cemetery office, picked the wounded man up and carried him to the office. Police of the Tenth precinct were summoned by Howell and Kaiser was taken to Garfield hospital in a patrol.

Physicians at Garfield hospital who examined the wounds of Kaiser refused to operate, saying that the man was in such a serious condition that the shock of an operation would hasten his death. Both of the bullets passed directly under the heart and through the left lung. Physicians said either of the wounds is fatal.

Police asked Kaiser why he had committed the act, but he refused to make any statement, merely telling them his name and address. Kaiser is married and had been employed as a cabinet maker at the District building for more than fifteen years.

RECOGNITION DENIED CHAMORRO REGIME

(By the Associated Press.)

Announcement was made last night by the State Department that the United States does not and will not recognize as the government of Nicaragua the regime now headed by Gen. Chamorro.

Asserting that the American government "continues to be, as it has always been, a warm friend of the Nicaraguan people," and that its attitude toward the Chamorro government remains unchanged, the department's formel statement continued:

"Needless to say, the American government sincerely hopes that the Nicaraguan people will by a return to a constitutional form of government make it possible for the United States to extend recognition to such a government and enter into formal diplomatic relations forthwith."

Former Helen Gould Divorces O. M. Burke

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Paris, June 8.—Official records of the Paris divorce mill today confirmed the fact that the former Princess Vlora, formerly Helen Kelly Gould filed suit for a divorce from Oscar M. Burke, but the correspondent learns the decree already has been granted. Mr. Burke rushed to Paris from New York at the end of May to facilitate the proceedings.

The one time Helen Kelly now calls herself princess again without objections from Mr. Burke's family, who while their daughter-in-law visited them in New York, it is said, frowned on her use of the title, a relic of her marriage to the Albanian nobleman.

FOES SEE COOLIDGE REBUKED BY RESULT OF IOWA PRIMARY

Steering Body Prepares for Adjournment in About 2 Weeks.

GOFF'S DRY MEASURE LEFT OFF PROGRAM

Farm Relief Is Discussed Seriously; French Debt Still in Doubt.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Though the result of the Iowa primaries is conceded to be a rebuke to the Coolidge administration and an aggressive demand by the corn belt for farm relief, there are so far no indications that the Republican program for winding up the present session of Congress will be delayed or affected.

Farm relief came to the fore in the Senate and was discussed seriously for the first time, but the day was practically devoted to sharp and uncompromising attack on the pending measure, characterized as economically unsound by Senator Fess, who stood his ground against a host of Republican senators who now favor the bill which is a modified version of the McNary-Haugen bill, which until recently was characterized as a "quack remedy."

Meanwhile, the Senate steering committee met and formulated a program which should bring adjournment sine die in about two weeks, barring unforeseen developments.

Measures on Program.

The Goff bill to strengthen prohibition enforcement, which Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Antisaloon league, regards as imperative, has been left off the schedule, despite vigorous protests of Senator Willis, who may take his fight to the Senate floor. No prospect of action on the French debt is in sight. The steering committee singled out the radio bill, the Smoot-Green bill to create a separate prohibition bureau, the bill to put prohibition agents under civil service and the Pittman silver purchase bill as the measures to be taken up before the session ends, in addition to measures already on the preferred list.

The defeat of Senator Cummins in the primaries dominated all other considerations when the Senate convened. Republican leaders, who did not wish to be quoted, admitted that the result was a distinct mark of disapproval of the Coolidge policies, but some declared that Iowa has been antiadministration on the farm issue for many months, and thus no great damage was done by letting the world know this fact.

Senator Cummins issued the following brief statement:

"I have nothing to say except to express in this way my deep appreciation to my friends in Iowa for their constant, untiring work in my behalf. They have done everything for me that loyal, unselfish men and women could do. I am profoundly grateful to them, and this gratitude will continue so long as I live."

Democrats Predict Victory.

Republican insurgents, like Senators Norris and La Follette, issued statements to the effect that the Iowa result was a declaration of independence of the farm interests. The Democrats were jubilant and generally indorsed the following statement issued by Senator Steck, of Iowa:

"The result of the Democratic primary definitely established that a majority of Iowa Democrats is for Claude Porter, and the November election will see an elimination of all factions in Iowa's Democratic ranks and will see a solid vote cast in favor of Mr. Porter. This Democratic vote, plus the Republican support that will be cast in protest against Brookhart will give us an even chance of sending another Democratic member to the Senate."

Some of the Republican leaders admitted that Democratic chances to carry Iowa in November were now far better than would have been the case if Cummins had been nominated. Claude Porter is well known here, where he has served as Assistant Attorney General.

Sees Republican Revolution.

Representative Oldfield, of Arkansas, chairman of the Democratic congressional committee, said:

"The overwhelming defeat of Senator Cummins was the most severe blow yet dealt this administration. Following on the heels of the

Alice W. McNeill and Henry Gilligan Are Given Appointments.

CHARLES F. CARUSI GETS ANOTHER TERM

Reorganization of Board Will Be Held at Session Next Month.

The reappointment of Charles F. Carusi, dean of the National University law school, as a member of the Board of Education, and the appointment of two new members, Alice W. McNeill, colored, and Henry Gilligan, was announced yesterday, by Chief Justice McCoy, of the District Supreme court.

Mr. Carusi is widely known in legal circles here, and notice of his reappointment had been expected. Alice McNeill succeeds Coralie F. Cook, who has served on the board of education for twelve years, longer than any other member in its history. She had notified judges of her disinclination to be considered for reappointment. Her successor was formerly a teacher in the Dunbar High school. She was educated in the public schools of Hartford, Conn., and in Smith college, and has been a teacher in Cheney (Pa.) Normal school, and the Miner Normal school, of this city.

Succeeds Greenwood.

Mr. Gilligan succeeds Ernest Greenwood, vice president of the board, who recently notified judges that he did not care to be reappointed, owing to pressure of business. Mr. Gilligan is president of the North Capitol Citizens association, a member of the local bar, and an active worker in the Rhode Island Avenue Methodist church, where he is superintendent of the Sunday school. He is also president of the Langley Junior High Parent-Teachers association, and has for years shown an acute interest in the school system of the District. He is at present at the Western Maryland college, Westminster, Md., attending the graduation of one of his two daughters, Miss Dorothy L. Gilligan, and is expected to return to Washington today.

The new board members will attend their first board meeting early next month, when the annual reorganization meeting will be held. News of the appointments, circulated yesterday in school circles, was greeted with general satisfaction, it was stated.

Vote of Confidence For Supreme Court

Complete confidence in the personal and judicial integrity of the chief justice and the associate justices of the Supreme court of the District of Columbia was expressed in a resolution adopted yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the District Bar association at the courthouse.

The resolution, offered by John Lewis Smith, president of the association, read as follows:

"Be it resolved, that the District of Columbia Bar association does hereby record its complete confidence in the personal and judicial integrity of the chief justice and the associate justices of the Supreme court of the District of Columbia."

Smoot Is Reelected Mayor of Alexandria

William Albert Smoot yesterday was reelected mayor of Alexandria, Va.

Councilmen Thomas J. Fannon, Edmund F. Ticer and Robert S. Jones also were reelected. J. E. W. Timberman was elected to succeed Arthur H. Bryant, who declined reelection. All were unopposed and received unanimous votes.

Woman Badly Hurt When Hit by Taxicab

Mrs. H. B. Van Dezenter, 50 years old, 718 Twenty second street northwest, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon when she was struck by a taxicab driven by Theodore G. Chastin, 26 years old, of 1135 New Hampshire avenue northwest, at Eleventh and G streets northwest. She was removed to Emergency hospital and treated for possible internal injuries.

According to police Mrs. Van Dezenter was stepping from the curb in front of the Palais Royal department store when she was struck by the taxicab, which Chastin was backing into the curb. Chastin, after taking the woman to the hospital, went to the First precinct and reported the accident. He was released after making the report.

Rabbi Wants Local Jews to Help Home

Rabbi Abram Simon, in a radio talk last night over station WRC, urged local Jews to join the Hebrew Home for Aged during the present drive to secure 2,000 contributing members.

PAMPHLETS TO SHOW PHASES OF CAPITAL

Commission Instructs Department Heads to Prepare Booklets.

The District board of commissioners has instructed department heads of the local government to prepare pamphlets, illustrated with pictures, describing various phases of the city's administration.

It is proposed to have these pamphlets serve a triple purpose, according to Engineer Commissioner J. Franklin Bell, who suggested them. They will form a partial basis for the work of the National Capital park and planning commission in making plans for future development of the District; they will serve to report to citizens of Washington on the progress of the municipality and they will be useful as exhibits at the annual convention of the National Municipal association to be held here in November.

Department heads have been instructed to prepare exhibits for the convention and it is planned to distribute these pamphlets in connection with the exhibits.

HEART ATTACK FATAL TO WILLIAM TURNER

Veteran Employe of Post Is Found Dead in Paper Storeroom.

William Turner, 48 years old, 1419 R street northwest, for 25 years route agent for The Post, was found dead in a paper storeroom in rear of 808 North Capitol street, by Allen J. Stout, 33 Franklin street northeast, yesterday afternoon. Stout summoned an ambulance from Emergency hospital. Mr. Turner was pronounced dead by Dr. John Pickford, of the hospital staff.

Dr. Joseph D. Rogers, deputy coroner, was notified and will hold an inquest at the morgue today. It is believed that Turner went into the storeroom early yesterday morning to check up on the delivery of papers. Dr. Rogers said it appeared Turner had been stricken with a heart attack and died before he could summon help.

As route agent in the Bloomingdale section Mr. Turner covered the same territory in which his father, the late Jacob Y. Turner, had delivered the newspaper for many years. At the latter's death, in 1901, his son assumed his route. Surviving Mr. Turner are three sisters, Mrs. M. A. Skinner, at whose home he lived; Mrs. Owen Keith and Mrs. Agnes Miller, and two brothers, Charles and Harry Turner. The latter is employed in the mailroom of The Washington Post.

ARTHUR W. TUPPER DIES.

Engineer in Lighthouse Service to Be Buried Tomorrow.

Arthur Warren Tupper, 47 years old, long a resident of nearby Maryland, died yesterday at his home in Riverdale, Md., after an illness of six weeks. He was an engineer in the lighthouse service.

He is survived by his wife and three children, Richard W., Charles Drury, and Margaret Lyles Tupper. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 9 a. m. in Pinckney Memorial Episcopalian church, Hyattsville, where he was a member of the choir for many years, and will be conducted by the rector, the Rev. Henry L. Durrant. Interment will be in St. James' Church cemetery, near Friendship, Anne Arundel county, Md.

Episcopal Church Stone to Be Laid

The corner stone of the new building of the St. Columba's Episcopal church, Forty-second and Albemarle streets northwest, will be laid this evening at 6 o'clock. The Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman is expected to be present. The building will cost approximately $100,000 and will be built of graystone. Land for the church was purchased with funds provided in the will of Miss Mariana Murdock, whose father, the owner of Murdock Mill, gave the land more than 60 years ago for the first church. The new building adjoins the old church.

The Rev. W. W. Shearer is rector of the church. Others who will be present are: The Rev. Charles Warren, rector of St. Alban's Episcopal church; the Rev. G. C. Bratenahl, dean of the Washington cathedral, and William Tyler Page, clerk of the House of Representatives, who is a vestryman of the church.

ADVISORY COUNCIL FOR REFORM AFTER FENNING HEARINGS

Citizens' Board Indorses Five Bills Seeking Change in Present Laws.

EXCEPTIONS FAVORED FOR SMALL ESTATES

Measure Designed to Prevent Confining of Sane Persons Wins Support.

Approval of five bills to reform administration of the estates of insane persons and other public wards, growing out of the Fenning charges, was voted by the citizens advisory council last night without debate, except as to minor details, and with no mention of the commissioner's name or of conditions reported to exist under existing laws.

One of these was to reduce the maximum allowance of guardians or committees from 10 to 5 per cent of the total amounts of estates administered. The council recommended an amendment permitting the courts to make exceptions in cases of small estates. Two other bills limited to five the number of infants and insane persons, respectively, for whom any one person could act as guardian. An amendment was suggested to these to permit courts additional leeway in exceptional cases.

Would Halt Railroading.

A bill making elaborate provision to prevent the railroading of sane persons into insane asylums, and one changing the method of appointment of guardians for insane were approved.

The bill to create a public administrator for the District was approved as to apply to the handling of estates of abandoned indigent persons and wards of the District, dying "without relatives or creditors." But the council disapproved giving a public administrator jurisdiction over the estates of insane persons, preferring the committee or guardian system and saying the other five bills made better provision.

The council disapproved the bill to create a bureau of school hygiene in the health department, citing the fact that school authorities and the District health officer unite in opposition to it.

Col. Bell Replies.

A letter from Lieut. Col. J. Franklin Bell, engineer commissioner, was read, which was interpreted by Chairman Jesse C. Suter as an abandonment of the letter from the District commissioners a week ago rebuffing the council in its invitation to the commissioners to confer with council members on a 10-year financial plan to improve the District. Col. Bell's letter referred to the 1928 budget estimates soon to be submitted to the council, and concluded as follows:

"It is to be expected that, before the estimates for the next fiscal year are taken up we shall have plans on which to base a financial program as recently recommended by the council."

The council recommended extension by Congress to employes of the District of the provisions of the bill to permit veterans to defer their 1926 annual leave until 1927 in order to attend the American Legion convention in Paris.

A letter was ordered sent to Maj. Raymond A. Wheeler, retiring assistant to the engineer commissioner, expressing regret at his transfer from the city and appreciation of his services to the District.

There was a calm after the storm at the Capitol yesterday in so far as the case of Commissioner Fenning is concerned.

Representative Rankin, of Mississippi, who attacked Frank J. Hogan, attorney for Mr. Fenning, Monday and who in turn was attacked by the commissioner while he was being held, set about to prepare briefs on the law in the case. No argument is to be received on the facts.

Mr. Rankin must have his briefs ready by tomorrow night, and 48 hours is then to be given defense attorneys for the presentation of their answer. Action by the House judiciary committee is expected some time next week.

Barry Farms Body Leaves Federation

The Barry Farms Citizens association, meeting last night in St. John's church, Anacostia, voted to withdraw from the Federation of Civic Associations, and passed a resolution requesting the commissioners of the District to abolish the citizens advisory council.

This action was taken because of activity of the Federation of Civic Associations in securing a site other than section C of Anacostia park, favored by the Barry Farms association, for location of a colored bathing beach.

LIEUT. VAN WINKLE ASSERTS CITY HEADS IGNORANT OF BUREAU

Disapproval of Policewomen's Bill Calls Forth Statement at Hearing.

Uniforms Suggested by Representative Norton for Female Members of Force.

None of the District commissioners know anything about the woman's bureau, Lieut. Mina C. Van Winkle, its head, told the Senate District committee yesterday. The bureau head made this statement when confronted with disapproval of her bill by the commissioners.

One of the commissioners has "been near the house of detention," she said, but he never visited the "bureau," and one has been "so busy since he became commissioner with his trials that he has had no time."

Bill Called Dangerous.

James S. Easby-Smith, local attorney, told the committee that Mrs. Van Winkle's bill was "unnecessary, dangerous and unconstitutional," and the measure was also attacked by Mrs. G. R. Kalmbach, representing the District Congress of Parent-Teachers Association. Mrs. Kalmbach said her organization would not oppose the bill if the objectionable features were removed, and Mr. Easby-Smith, asserting these features should most certainly be removed, said there was no need for the bill at all.

Mr. Easby-Smith read from Mrs. Van Winkle's testimony before the committee hearing the bill last year to show that the policewomen wanted authority to enter homes without warrants. Mrs. Van Winkle was quoted as saying there were laws other than the written ones which her forces had to deal with.

Mrs. Van Winkle Yields.

With the session nearly ended, Mrs. Van Winkle seemed to yield all of the objectionable provisions of the measure in the hope that something will be passed. She even agreed when Senator Copeland, of New York, reduced the number of policewomen which she seeks from 98 to 64. Senator Copeland said New York city has only 125 policewomen.

Representative Mary T. Norton, of New Jersey, issued a statement asserting that the bill in its present form may easily "lead to undue interference with people's private affairs." Mrs. Norton said that the policewomen should be required to wear uniforms the same as men and they should have as much authority and no more than the men.

Good Seen in Uniforms.

"The presence of uniformed policewomen in amusement places would make for law and order," Mrs. Norton asserted.

"If women detectives are needed," she added, "let them be assigned to the detective bureau. I believe that the major opposition to the bill would instantly disappear if the policewomen were uniformed.

"The inclusion of provision in the present bill authorizing policewomen to 'investigate neighborhood conditions' might well lead to spying into homes, particularly with the blanket exemptions of policewomen from regulations and discipline of the police force."

Parent-Teachers Oppose Bill at Special Meeting

Asserting that too much power will be vested in the women's bureau if the bill pending in Congress to provide for enlargement of the bureau is acted upon favorably, the Parent-Teachers association in a special meeting yesterday at the Brooke tea house voted to oppose the bill's passage.

Mrs. Giles Scott Rafter, president of the association, led the opposition. The resolution was fostered by members of the executive committee, which met prior to the special assembly. Mrs. Rafter contended that the policewomen were provided with ample power in the bill passed in the last session of Congress, which, she said, Lieut. Mina Van Winkle accepted and practically every social organization in the city approved.

The meeting was called to honor the 62 presidents of the parent-teacher chapters throughout the city and was attended by 100 representatives of the various associations.

A silver loving cup, donated by Adolph Kahn, for the association with the largest monthly attendance, was awarded to Mrs. Adelaide Shannon, 226 Fourteenth street northeast, president of the Edmonds school association. The cup was won by the same association last year and will be awarded permanently to the association winning the honor three successive times.

For the largest increase in membership during the last year, Mrs. Basil Manley, representing the Johnson-Powell-Bancroft association, was awarded a $5 gold piece. Reports of work of the various associations were read and reported as evidence of a most successful year.

In opposing the pending bill for the women's bureau, Mrs. Rafter advocated that a detention house for children, under supervision of the juvenile court, be established.

Plans for Washington Cadet Camp Made

Plans for the annual Washington cadet summer camp were announced yesterday by Col. Wallace M. Craigie, United States army, head of the military training department of public schools in the District.

The camp is to be at Camp Simms, in Congress Heights from June 26 to July 17. Students who have completed a semester of military work are eligible, Col. Craigie announced, but owing to the fact that accommodations are available for only 200 cadets, preference will be accorded officers, non-commissioned officers and band members.

Maj. Gen. Anton Stephan, United States army, will review the cadets. Emphasis will be placed on war games in the work at the camp, the program of activities also including swimming, musical instruction for band members, target practice, instruction in military courtesy and map reading. A band of 20 pieces will be stationed at the camp throughout the period of training.

George W. Offutt, Jr., New A. A. A. Director

George W. Offutt, jr., Washington attorney, yesterday was elected a national director of the American Automobile association in convention in Chicago.

The election of Mr. Offutt, it was said, came as recognition of the size and activities of the District of Columbia division of the association.

METHODS OF BAIRD REVEALED BY REED

Senator Tells Senate How the Dry Director Used Espionage System.

(By the Associated Press.)

Secret methods employed by former Prohibition Director Baird, of Pennsylvania, were revealed to the Senate last night by Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, during a lengthy debate on the House bill placing the enforcement personnel under the civil service act.

Prefacing his revelation with the remark that he was perhaps being indiscrete, Senator Reed, who opposed the bill, detailed Baird's personnel difficulties and said that the turnover in the western Pennsylvania enforcement office approximated 100 per cent every 60 days.

Baird had an arrangement, Senator Reed continued, with a telephone Central operator who listened in on all conversations conducted by persons suspected of being leaders "of the beer and whisky ring in western Pennsylvania." Information obtained in this manner, he added, resulted in dismissal of several agents whom he said could not have been dismissed summarily if they had been under civil service.

New York Holds Baum In Williams Robbery

A warrant charging Harry Baum, 24 years old, with being one of four bandits who stole several diamond and emerald rings from the home of Mrs. Norman Williams, of Washington, D. C., but overlooked valuable jewelry and securities in a vault, was received today.

Baum was arrested here June 1 for alleged burglary of the home of Frank McGoldrick, of Brooklyn. A photograph was sent to Washington and was identified by Mrs. Williams as that of one of the men who robbed, bound and gagged her and seven servants March 7. One man has already been sentenced to 30 years for participation.

CARPENTERS RECEIVE $10 DAY BY NEW SCALE

Compromise Reached With "Old Line" Builders Carries 50-Cent Raise.

THREE UNIONS INVOLVED

Carpenters of Washington have agreed on a compromise of their wage demands by accepting the offer of the "old line builders of the city, and will receive $10 a day instead of $10.50 as they demanded, it was reported yesterday.

The new wage, when ratified by the builders, who offered the compromise, will mean an increase of 50 cents a day, since the old wage was $9.50.

The carpenters agreed to the compromise, it was reported, at a recent meeting. By the decision a controversy, which has been going on behind closed doors since January 1, was brought to an end.

However, the "speculative builders," represented by the Operative Builders' association, announced yesterday that no agreement has been entered into by their organization.

Arguments against the increase were that the cost of living has been declining since the beginning of the year, and that an increase would compel contractors to employ nonunion labor.

Arthur L. Smith, president of the Builders and Manufacturers' Exchange, announced yesterday that no word had been received from the carpenters, who are represented by the District Council of Carpenters, comprising three unions. The compromise was offered some time ago by the "old line" builders, he explained. The matter will be definitely closed when the carpenters report their decision and the agreement is signed by both parties.

Kleysteuber Named Mayor of Potomac

By a vote of 156 to 138, William M. Kleysteuber yesterday defeated Charles L. Adams for the office of mayor of Potomac, Va. J. W. Varney was elected town treasurer; J. R. Johnson, clerk, and A. F. Driscoll, sergeant.

Councilmen elected were Maurice L. Bettis, J. H. Rollins, W. E. Kidwell, George R. McCauley, W. B. Fulton and A. B. Garrett. A $15,000 bond issue to clear the debt on the town hall was authorized by a vote of 164 to 133.

Censored Producers Enjoin Play Jury

New York, June 8 (By A. P.).—The producers of "The Bunk of 1926" obtained an injunction today restraining the district attorney's play jury, the Actors' Equity association and the police from interfering with the presentation of the play at the Broadhurst theatre. The production was condemned and ordered closed Monday night by the play jury. The injunction is returnable June 14.

Ramsay Wallace, producer, announced that the play would be given tomorrow evening altered in no way from the performance that was found objectionable.

LIBERALS IN HOUSE BACK LLOYD GEORGE; VOTE SPLITS PARTY

LORD OXFORD REJECTS CONCILIATORY MOVES

Commons May Have to Decide Which Wing Will Get Committee Room.

London, June 8 (By A. P.).—David Lloyd George came victorious out of his conflict with Lord Oxford and Asquith today in the meeting of the liberal parliamentary party, where he was sustained as liberal leader in the house of commons by a vote of 20 to 12. Thirty-four members of the party attended the meeting.

This means that Lloyd George will retain his chairmanship but that the small liberal party, of a total membership of about 40, is definitely split into two sections, which will follow the leadership of Lloyd George and Lord Oxford, respectively.

Peace Moves Fail.

It further indicates that Lord Oxford rejected the advice of numerous members of the party belonging to both sections that he endeavor to seek a reconciliation. These peacemakers, being opposed to an airing of the troubles, which could only further divide and weaken an already weak party.

At the previous meeting of the liberal parliamentary party, on Thursday last, Mr. Lloyd George had the advantage in the first round of his conflict with the Earl of Oxford. He was supported by a majority of those present, and a motion of confidence in Lloyd George came before the meeting, but was not pressed to division, in order that Lord Oxford might first be acquainted with the "sense of the meeting."

At that meeting Mr. Lloyd George made an impassioned speech justifying his attitude in refusing to participate in the party councils when the general strike was in progress. The meeting was then adjourned until today.

Lord Beauchamp, leader of the liberals in the house of lords, represents the Lloyd George section, which has the further advantage of a separate political war chest.

The house of commons now has the invidious task of deciding whether to accord the privilege of the committee room accommodation in the house to Mr. Lloyd George as chairman of the party or to Sir Godfrey Collins, who is a strong supporter of Oxford and chief liberal whip.

There was much talk today about the possibility of invoking Lord Reading as conciliator, or possibly the new leader of the party, but apparently this plan, if it ever existed, has fallen through.

Mr. Lloyd George presided at today's meeting, and Sir John Simon, one of the committee of three appointed at the previous meeting, gave details of his conference with Lord Oxford when he acquainted him with the "sense of the meeting" as previously instructed.

Asquith's View Unchanged.

Sir John also read a letter to Sir Godfrey Collins from Lord Oxford, who declared that he was acting after full reflection and with complete absence of personal or sectional feeling, and he decided that "nothing has happened since my letter to you last week to alter the view I then felt bound to express."

In this letter Lord Oxford virtually read Lloyd George out of the party, declaring that the parliamentary chairman's action in failing to join in the party councils was equivalent to his resignation.

The meeting then discussed the resolution moved last week by Sir Robert Thomas—"that the liberal party in the house of commons deprecates the publicity given to the differences between the liberal leaders and expressed the earnest hope that our leaders will use their best endeavors to restore unity in the ranks."

This resolution was regarded as censure of Lord Oxford, and an amendment was moved to delete the words "deprecates the publicity given to the differences between the liberal leaders." But this was rejected 20 to 12, and the Thomas motion was carried 20 to 10. In this division Sir John Simon abstained from voting.

DEMAND OF PERET FOR FINANCE BILLS MAY CAUSE CRISIS

Minister May Resign Should His Colleagues Fail to Share Views.

PROPOSAL FOR UNION CABINET IS UP TODAY

Briand Hurries From Geneva. Rationing of Food Not to Be Ordered.

Paris, June 8 (By A. P.).—The political situation tonight is growing more and more disturbed and seems heading for a crisis.

M. Peret, the finance minister, who is the principal advocate of the government, is representing to all parties as indispensable the rapid passage of measures for financial rehabilitation, and is understood to be so insistent on this point that he may go so far as to resign if he fails to have his way.

Should the cabinet share his opinion it would be necessary for the ministers to resign in a body, to enable Premier Briand to reconstitute his administration. The premier is on his way to Paris from Geneva and will consult tomorrow with his ministerial coleagues at the foreign office, prior to the formal cabinet council at which the momentous decision will be taken as to whether the government will continue as at present or adopt M. Peret's proposal for a national union ministry.

In any case, should the decision go against M. Peret, nothing will be left undone to induce him to remain in the cabinet.

It is not impossible, although highly improbable, that M. Briand may decide to resign, in which case the name of Louis Barthou would be put forward to head a national union ministry.

If reorganization of the cabinet should become necessary, Premier Briand's idea is said to be to add members to his official family, as was done during the war, rather than to let any of the present ministers go. The added members would represent all parties so that in the end a coalition government would be virtually assured.

Finance Minister Peret's plan, it is understood, involves the opening of credits with the United States to cover commercial needs. In American financial circles it is felt that credits undoubtedly will be sought and probably will be accorded, but that the time for that will be when arrangements have been made for stabilization of the franc.

War-time rationing of food and other necessaries of life will not prevail in France, even for the purpose of rehabilitating French finances, but restrictive measures of a far-reaching nature will be put into effect.

Imports To Be Cut.

This decision was reached today at a conference of the ministers, under whose control the task of restricting consumption and instituting economies has been placed—the ministers of interior, public works, commerce and agriculture. No new embargo on imports or exports will be imposed, but measures designed to reduce importations to a minimum have been prepared which, it is believed, will serve the purpose.

A report emanated from Geneva today that M. Peret, the finance minister, had placed his resignation at the disposal of the premier. The reason given was that M. Peret was disconsolate over the fall of the franc. This was discounted in Paris, inasmuch as the franc, which at noon touched 34.05 to the dollar, was quoted at 6 o'clock this evening at 33.25, a considerable rise.

The chamber of deputies today defeated a motion to adjourn discussion of the bill which would raise the salary of deputies from 27,000 francs to 42,000 francs annually. The vote was 247 to 243. The bill now will be discussed on its merits.

3 MAKE PLEA OF GUILTY TO ATTACK UPON GIRL

EVIDENCE TO BE HEARD

Sycamore, Ill., June 8 (By A. P.).—Emerson Wilson, Stanley Hurt and Leonard Rich, entered plea of guilty today before Judge William Fulton, in the De Kalb county circuit court, to charges of criminal assault instituted by Miss Dorothy Westervelt, student at the Northern Illinois Teachers' college at De Kalb. Judge Fulton will hear testimony, beginning June 15, on which to base his sentence.

The pleas of guilty represented a sudden reversal of the defendants' position. They came after a protracted conference between attorneys this morning.

Wilson and Hurt were students at De Kalb as was Miss Estervelt. With Rich, they were charged with having attacked the girl on an automobile ride on April 16.

Miss Westervelt was found unconscious in front of the home of a De Kalb friend the morning after the ride.

GEORGETOWN GIVES SECRETARY HOOVER HONORARY DEGREE

WORLD-WIDE SERVICE PROMPTS RECOGNITION

Many Notables See Class of 487 Get Diplomas for College Work.

Secretary of Commerce Herbert C. Hoover was made an honorary doctor of laws by Georgetown university yesterday afternoon in recognition of his promotion of the foreign trade of the United States and his world-wide services to humanity. The affair marked the 127th annual commencement of the university.

One of the largest gatherings ever assembled at a Georgetown commencement, including Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador, and other dignitaries, heard Secretary Hoover, in addressing the 487 members of the graduating class, declare that the maintenance of American democracy against class or decay is assured by its new conception in the selection of leaders from its own masses. "This door of opportunity is through education," Mr. Hoover said. "By building this open stairway we have set up a fundamental protection to democracy itself."

Honor Lieut. Labat.

Gen. Dumont, military attache of the French embassy, awarded the palms of the office d'academie to Lieut. Jean J. Labat, chairman of the French department at Georgetown, in the name of the French republic for his services in connection with the recent Interparliamentary Union sessions here. At the same time President Charles W. Lyons, S. J., conferred upon Dr. Nicholas A. Gallagher, of Boston, a medical graduate of the 1909 class, the honorary degree of master of sciences.

President Lyons conferred the degree upon Secretary Hoover in the name of the university, and the Secretary was presented by the chancellor, the Rev. Louis J. Gallagher, S. J.

In his opening address President Lyons declared that "Georgetown might be called an old-fashioned university, perhaps," since it has "interwoven science and religion, God and country," in its training. Stressing that the university was born in the time of travail in this country, President Lyons declared that its early associations with the founders of the republic had inspired in its teachings a love for liberty and the need of protecting the rights of others.

"Liberty unrestrained becomes license," he declared; "liberty limited by the rights of others becomes golden and humane."

Other Degrees Given.

Among the outstanding graduates were Thomas H. Healy, assistant dean of the School of Foreign Service, who was given a degree of doctor of philosophy from the graduate school, and Representative William P. Connery, of Massachusetts, awarded a degree of bachelor of laws. The graduates were presented by the deans of the various departments, including Dr. William N. Cogan, newly appointed dean of dentistry.

Nineteen candidates for commissions as second lieutenants, infantry, and as first lieutenants, medical corps, in the army reserve corps, were presented by Lieut. Col. Augustus A. Dannemiller, U. S. A., commandant at Georgetown. The medical commissions were awarded to Vincent A. Amato, Albert A. Cinelli, Jerome F. Cristina, John V. Dolan, George J. Ellis, Martin W. Jurkowitz, Edward J. Leonard, Anthony J. Lettiere, John F. Lynch, Charles A. McLoughlin, Richard D. Mudd, James M. O'Brien, Martin L. Quinn, Paul N. Taylor and Hugh J. Welch. TRINITY GRADUATES URGED TO AID PRESS AS LEVER FOR GOOD

DEGREES CONFERRED BY ARCHBISHOP CURLEY

Candidates for Colelge Honors Are Presented by the Rev. W. J. Kerby.

Commencement week at Trinity college ended yesterday with conferring of degrees upon graduates by the Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, archbishop of Baltimore.

The graduation address was made by Michael Williams, editor of "The Commonweal." Touching on the Catholic intellectual movement which is gaining impetus in this country, Mr. Williams told the graduates that they should realize necessity for young Catholic women engaging in literary fields that they might make the mighty power of the press an instrument for good.

He congratulated them in having a most memorable year for graduation, the year of the eucharistic congress, and the year which marks the 150th anniversary of the death of St. Francis of Assissi, whom he held to be a model worthy of following.

Advised by Archbishop Curley.

Archbishop Curley echoed the remarks of Mr. Williams and told of the necessity of living up to the ideals taught them in the college and said that they should make use of their opportunities made possible by talent and education.

Candidates for degrees were presented by the Rev. William J. Kerby, Ph. D. The degree of doctor of philosophy conferred by the Catholic university was conferred on Miss Miriam Frances Dunn, A. B., A. M., of Springfield, Mass. The honorary degree of master of literature was conferred on Mrs. Thomas H. Carter, of Helena, Mont., and Miss Ella Loraine Dorsey, of Washington.

Miss Dorothy Evelyn Donley, of Columbus, Ohio, was graduated magna cum laude in the bachelor of arts degree. Those who were graduated cum laude were Miss Eileen Frances Cooke, Portland, Oreg.; Miss Mabel Eileen Cooney, Providence, R. I.; Miss Veronica Marie Lilly, Philadelphia; Miss Gertrude Reiman, La Crosse, Wis., and Miss Helen Virginia Thompson, Washington. Miss Josephine Carmen Wilson, of San Juan, Porto Rico, was graduated bachelor of science.

Degrees Conferred on Class.

Other degrees conferred were:

A real vacation in COLORADO

COSTS NO MORE THAN ONE NEAR HOME

Come on—

Two weeks is plenty!

Summer rates way down!

That glorious vacation in Colorado you have dreamed about—let's figure how easily you can have it this year.

Have you two weeks? That's plenty. Colorado is near! You arrive in the heart of the Rockies the day after you leave Chicago. Ten days of wonderful fun in the mountains!

Cost? Much lower than you may think. Special summer rates on the Burlington are surprisingly low. And accommodations in Colorado are very moderate—comfortable, convenient lodging and board for as low as $17.50 a week. An ordinary near-to-home vacation would cost you as much!

Then why not this real vacation? Rocky Mountain National-Estes Park, the Pike's Peak region, Denver's Mountain Parks, the world-famous 236-mile Grand Circle Tour, and a hundred other wonderful experiences are in store for you.

For a moderate additional cost you can have your Burlington ticket take you to Yellowstone and Glacier National Parks.

For real enjoyment, come to Colorado on the Burlington. Three fine Colorado trains daily from Chicago. Famous Burlington service—you'll delight in every mile of it. You'll understand why the Burlington is the most popular route to the Rockies.

Burlington Escorted Tours

If you do not wish to plan your own Colorado trip, join a Burlington Escorted Tour party with everything planned and paid in advance. Experienced travel expert with each party takes care of all travel details.

Going to California?

The Burlington through route via Denver, the Royal Gorge, scenic Colorado and Salt Lake City reveals "America's most magnificent panorama of mountain scenery."

Most popular route to the Rockies

Superb equipment, perfectroadbeds, and courteous, thoughtful service have won for the Burlington the largest patronage of Rocky Mountain vacationists given to any railroad $363,842 for the new medical building, the budget for 1927, as recommended, amounted to $858,000, including the medical building appropriation.

The recent death of Charles I. Corby, member of the board of trustees, was deplored by resolutions. Trustees elected to serve for three years and to fill vacancies on the board were Dr. M. O. Dumas, Dr. Thomas Jesse Jones, of New York; Dr. J. E. Mocrland, Dr. Marcus F. Wheatland, of Newport, R. I.; J. C. Napier, of Nashville, and Dr. Sara W. Brown, as alumni trustee. Other trustees elected were:

Dr. J. H. Dillard, of Charlottesville, Va.; George W. Crawford, of New Haven, Conn.; George Foster Peabody, of Saratoga Springs, N. Y.; Dr. Peter M. Murray, of New York, and Robert V. Fleming.

Lieut. Comdr. W. H. Bloedorn, of the United States naval corps, was elected to fill the chair of medicine made vacant by the death of Dr. Henry P. Parker. He was formerly head of the department of internal medicine of the United States Naval Medical school, and is at present chief medical aid to Rear Admiral Stitt, surgeon general of the navy.

GALLAUDET GRADUATES TOLD TO KEEP UP STUDY

Urged by Dr. Jameson to Continue On Entering World of Affairs.

DEGREES RECEIVED BY 13

Study should not end on graduation day, Dr. J. Franklin Jameson, director of the department of historical research of the Carnegie institution, told the thirteen students who were graduated from Gallaudet college yesterday. He urged them to continue study after they have entered the world of affairs.

Dr. Jameson's address was made orally and was translated in the sign language for the benefit of deaf-mutes who took part in and attended the graduation exercises. The orations of three of the graduates were delivered in the sign language.

Degrees were conferred on the following: Master of arts in the normal department, Lola Maxine Tull, B. A., Mississippi college; bachelor of arts, George Alfred Brookins, Oregon; Byron Benton Burns, Alabama; Edward Ficht Kaoroher, Pennsylvania; Victor James Knauss, Ohio; Ethel May Newman, Washington, and John Gordon Young, Canada; bachelor of science, Marie Constance Marino, Connecticut; Janie Simpson Curry, South Carolina, and John Samuel Reed, jr., Nebraska; certificate of graduation from the normal department, Elizabeth English Benson, Maryland State Normal school.

The degrees were conferred by President Percival Hall, Vice President Charles Russell Ely, Prof. Isaac Allison and Miss Grace Coleman. The Rev. F. C. Smielau, Episcopal missionary to the deaf of northern Pennsylvania, pronounced the invocation and the benediction.

RITCHIE GYMNASIUM SCENE OF EXERCISES

Half of Graduates From Washington and Points in Nearby Maryland.

Degrees and diplomas were awarded to more than 200 students at graduation exercises of Maryland university, held yesterday in Ritchie gymnasium. One-fourth of those honored were from this city, while a similar number were from points in Maryland adjacent to the District.

George E. MacLean, former chancellor of the University of Nebraska and former president of the University of Iowa, addressed the graduates, choosing as his subject "America's World-wide Vision." The valedictory was given by Thomas A. Browne, of Chevy Chase. Included in the awards were 45 advanced degrees, 6 of which were "Ph. Ds."

District Students Lead.

Highest awards among the medal and prize winners went to M. Stewart Whaley and William C. Supplee, of Washington; Laura Betty Amos, of Forest Hill, Md.; Patricia Wolf, of New York city, and Joseph L. McGlone, of Baltimore. Miss Amos and Mr. Whaley received the citizenship medals which go to the coed and male student of the senior class "who, during their collegiate careers, have nearest typified the model citizen and have done the most for the general advancement of the university."

Medals for "typifying the best in collegiate athletics" were awarded Miss Wolf and Mr. Supplee. McGlone, who was president of the students' assembly, was given a special award from the administration of the university for effective cooperation in general university affairs.

Others Winning Medals.

Other medal winners were Robert Surguy Caruthers, the James Douglas Goddard memorial medal, to the student from Prince Georges county for excellence in scholarship and moral character. Eva Lucille Atkinson and Emily Catherine Herzog, Sigma Pi Sigma medals to freshmen making highest scholastic averages during first semester. Elick Edward Norris, Dinah Berman memorial medals for sophomore who attains highest scholastic average of his class in the college of engineering.

Kenneth Stoner, George T. O'Neill, Margaret Wolfe, Patricia Wolf and George Emerson Bishoff, the diamondback medals for faithful and efficient service on the student weekly paper. Parks Shipley, George Morrison and Helen Beyerle, the reveille medals for efficient and faithful service on the year book. Charles Clarke Beach public speaking prize offered by W. D. Porter to student who shows the greatest advancement in public speaking.

Ellen Jane Keiser, the woman's senior honor society cup offered to the woman student of the three upper classes having the highest scholastic average during the two semesters preceding its award. New Mercer society, Dr. H. J. Patterson cup for excellence in debate. Various military prizes were awarded at the competitive drill, May 29.

Degrees, prizes and certificates were presented by Dr. Albert F. Woods, president of the university. Capt. W. P. Scobey, presented the military commissions. The Rev. J. A. Myer of Laurel, Md., gve the invocation and the Rev. Ronalds Taylor, of College Park, the benediction. There were selections by the University orchestra.

GRADUATES ESTABLISH $100,000 ENDOWMENT

INTEREST FOR COLLEGE

Establishment of a $100,000 graduate endowment fund was announced last night at the annual class night exercises of George Washington university. The exercises were attended by the 400 seniors who are to be formally graduated at the commencement exercises in the Washington auditorium tonight.

Gilbert Ludwig, a member of the graduating class, announced that the class had decided that its memorial to alma mater would take the form of an endowment fund. Each member of the class will pledge himself to contribute $100 over a period of ten years.

The class of 1927 and succeeding classes are expected to do likewise. When the fund reaches the $100,000 mark the money will be turned over to the university for the purchase of sites, buildings and equipment. Meanwhile, the university will receive the annual interest from the fund.

The prospective graduates gathered last night to bid farewell to the school, to the undergraduates and to each other. Addresses were made by the various class presidents, songs were sung and some scintillating wit was indulged in. One senior, having delivered his greetings, announced that he was all set to have the wizards of finance scramble for his services.

Miss Caroline D. West presided over the exercises. The following class presidents delivered greetings: Grace Harris, Columbian college; Jeanne Gravatte, teachers college; Gilbert Ludwig, engineering college; George Bonebrake, law school; James F. Davidson, medical school. Miss Sophia Waldman made the salutatory address and Walter Lawrence reviewed the history of the class. A class poem, composed by Miss Minnie M. Ronning, was read. Miss Lyne Smith made the class prophecy. Harold Young delievered the mantle oration, and the valedictory was delivered by Miss Ruth Williams.

To Graduate in Boston.

Miss Alice Bryant Harvey, 5380 Chevy Chase parkway northwest, who has successfully completed the pianoforte course of the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, will graduate from the institution June 22. Miss Harvey began her study of music in Germany prior to the war, and after six years' service as a nurse, resumed her studies. She completed the course in two years and has played in a number of the institution concerts.

"If you want the truth—

"—go to a child." And the old saying is certainly true, isn't it?

Here was the case of a young woman who, in spite of her personal charm and beauty, never seemed to hold men friends.

For a long, long time she searched her mind for the reason. It was a tragic puzzle in her life.

Then one day her little niece told her.

You, yourself, rarely know when you have halitosis (unpleasant breath). That's the insidious thing about it. And even your closest friends won't tell you.

Sometimes, of course, halitosis comes from some deep-seated organic disorder that requires professional advice. But usually—and fortunately—halitosis is only a local condition that yields to the regular use of Listerine as a mouth wash and gargle. It puts you on the safe and polite side. Moreover, in using Listerine to combat halitosis, you are quite sure to avoid sore throat and those more serious illnesses that start with throat infection.

Listerine halts food fermentation in the mouth and leaves the breath sweet, fresh and clean. Not by substituting some other odor but by really removing the old one. The Listerine odor itself quickly disappears.

This safe and long-trusted antiseptic has dozens of different uses; note the little circular that comes with every bottle. Your druggist sells Listerine in the original brown package only—never in bulk. There are four sizes: 14 ounce, 7 ounce, 3 ounce and 1¼ ounce. Buy the large size for economy.—Lambert Pharmacal Company, Saint Louis, U. S. A.

THE RESULT IN IOWA.

Smith W. Brookhart's victory over Albert B. Cummins in the Iowa primary is widely interpreted to be an expression of the resentment of Iowa Republican farmers against the reluctance of the administration to support the kind of farm legislation which some of the farmers demand. Mr. Brookhart is supposed to be a more ardent supporter of the plan to subsidize the farmers than Senator Cummins has been, although Mr. Cummins seems to have found little difficulty in convincing himself that if the Iowa farmers wanted a subsidy they were entitled to receive it.

In some quarters it is suggested that Iowa Republicans supported Mr. Brookhart in large measure because they resented the action of the Senate in the Brookhart-Steck election contest. Another fact, not overlooked, is that Senator Brookhart voted against the world court protocol while Senator Cummins voted for it.

The returns in the Brookhart-Steck contest serve as a warning against too hasty conclusions regarding this week's primary. Iowa Republicans prefer Brookhart to Cummins undoubtedly; but the Cummins Republicans may contract the disease of party irregularity, too. Iowa is no longer a rock-ribbed Republican State, according to the official finding of the Senate. It has one Democratic senator and it may have another if Cummins Republicans should conclude that an out-and-out Democrat is preferable to a man who in their opinion is a renegade Republican bent upon tearing his party to pieces. Much will depend upon the strategy of the Democrats of Iowa, and the posture of affairs in November will have great influence upon the vote.

Mr. Brookhart is coming to Washington to press for farm relief legislation. This is a bigger task than capturing the senatorial nomination. The House has turned down the proposal that the Treasury should finance the corn-belt farmers. The farmers outside of the corn belt are not commanding their representatives in Congress to support the subsidy bill. The South is not supporting the corn belt. President Coolidge long ago made a study of the agricultural situation and reached the conclusion that government control of surpluses and price-fixing legislation would not do. In this he is supported by the overwhelming mass of the American people.

The consumers of the United States would have reason for apprehension if Congress and the President gave signs of yielding to the demands of the corn-belt farmers. But there is no such sign and there is no reason to presume that Mr. Brookhart's victory will frighten the administration or Congress into action which would favor one class of taxpayers at the expense of another.

Nearly all of the world's big jobs are held by men who don't know or care what cerise is.

RIVALRY OF NEW ZEALAND.

The American farmer, if he is wise, will keep a sharp lookout for agricultural developments in the antipodes. Great Britain, having barred all fresh and frozen meats produced in continental Europe, owing to the prevalence of the foot-and-mouth disease, must look elsewhere for her meat supply, and will naturally turn to her own possessions before searching elsewhere. Long ago Australia developed sheep-breeding to such an extent as to absolutely dominate the British market for mutton and lamb. New Zealand within the past five years has succeeded in grabbing off a large share of the cheese trade of Great Britain and is increasing that share rapidly.

While bread and cheese form a large part of the noonday meal of half the working population of the British realm, with a "leg of mutton on Sunday," there is also a vast army of inhabitants of the "tight little island" who must have a "rasher of bacon" for breakfast with tea every morning. Pork from Holland is under an embargo. Nor can John Bull get his bacon from any other European country while the embargo is maintained. Ireland can not supply all his needs, and the prices in the United States have lately been so high that the American producer has found the local market more attractive than that of Europe.

Now comes New Zealand with an eye open to the opportunity. At a recent meeting of some of the commercial organizations in Auckland the subject came up for serious consideration, and it was asserted that within a comparatively short period it will be quite possible to create a trade between New Zealand and England in frozen pork and pork products which may reach $50,000,000 a year.

Fifty years ago 75 per cent of the cheese imported into England went from the United States. That market has ceased to exist, practically, and New Zealand supplies London with its "Cheshire," and "Cheddar." The development of the oil-burning steamers has practically eliminated distance between the Pacific and the English channel, and the mere fact that Australia and New Zealand are a few thousand miles farther from the British markets than are the packing plants of Chicago and other Western cities is not an important handicap against the development of the Australasian pork industry.

New Zealand will bear watching.

Sophistication doesn't mean so very much except the ability to yawn without opening your mouth.

POSSIBLE TAX REDUCTION.

Senator Smoot's statement to the Senate and the country in reply to the suggestion that the surplus in the Treasury will justify another tax reduction in the next session of Congress appears to dispose of that matter, at least so far as the Treasury is concerned, since the position of the senator from Utah is supposed to reflect the views of the Treasury.

The Secretary of the Treasury, in his 1925 annual report, estimated that the surplus at the end of the fiscal year 1926 would be $262,000,000, and at the end of 1927 about $300,000,000. This estimate was made prior to November, 1925, and of course was based on probabilities; but did not take into consideration possible additional expenditures through the enactment of new legislation by the present Congress.

There are several reasons why the surplus on June 30, 1926, may be larger than the estimate, and why the surplus on June 30, 1927, is a matter of uncertainty altogether. Collections of back taxes and total refunds, it is estimated, will make a net additional in receipts amounting to about $100,000,000 this fiscal year. This month's income tax receipts are guesses, therefore the total receipts are estimates. The budget estimate of 1926 receipts was $3,880,716,000, while up to June 1 last, the actual receipts were $3,311,116,000. June receipts may be approximately $500,000,000.

The budget's estimate of total expenditures for 1926 was $3,618,675,000. The actual expenditures up to June 1 were $3,108,135,000. Items not reckoned with when the budget estimate was made may bring the total expenditures up to about $3,400,000,000. If these figures or estimates are correct, it will be seen that the surplus will not much exceed the budget estimate of $250,000,000. If it reaches $300,000,000 it will be a surprise to the Treasury.

The budget's estimate of total receipts amounting to about $3,824,530,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1927, is based on the income and customs receipts of 1926. The accuracy of this estimate depends entirely upon a continuance of business prosperity. The budget's estimate of total expenditures for 1927 is $3,494,222,000; but this does not take into account many additional expenditures authorized and funds appropriated for the year 1927.

Senator Smoot says:

> It is absolutely futile to attempt at this time, prior to definite knowledge as to the operation of the 1926 revenue act, to tinker with the estimate involving the 1927 revenue.

Federal finances differ from State finances, in that the former are based wholly on estimates as to the operation of tax and revenue laws. On the other hand, in State financial operations property may be assessed definitely and a rate of taxation imposed which will give in advance a fairly accurate idea as to the State revenue for the following year. Since a new Federal tax law makes the surplus a matter of estimate, not to say a guess, it seems wise not to count upon a surplus justifying tax reduction until the end of the fiscal year arrives and the surplus is ascertained with some degree of accuracy.

The less the car costs, the sassier the horn.

CASH IN THE TREASURY.

Ever since the close of the world war the United States Treasury has been in the habit of financing every three months the short-time debt of the United States by issuing certificates of indebtedness and renewing or partly liquidating them by borrowing money on new certificates of indebtedness.

This month, when the 15th day arrives, there will be sufficient money in the Treasury to meet the short-time fiscal demands of the government without new borrowing. This is the first time it has been possible for the Treasury to do this since the period of quarterly financing began—about 1918.

In March last the Treasury issued $495,000,000 of securities running three months. Since then income tax and customs collections and collection of back taxes have been so large that enough money has accumulated or will accumulate before June 15 to make it possible for the Treasury to pay these obligations without borrowing money or making any further financial operation.

Thus business prosperity and unusual revenue from customs and collection of back taxes make it possible for the government to expedite reduction of the Federal debt.

Now that all the debts are settled, all that Americans have to do is to buckle down and pay them.

NEW YORK WETS AND DRYS.

It is inevitable that prohibition is to be a burning question in the New York senatorial election this fall. It is to be a question more within the Republican party itself however, than between the Democrats and Republicans. Efforts of the Republican leaders to distract the attention of the voters from the prohibition issue and focus it upon reorganization of State government, or some other question, are doomed to failure, notwithstanding the hope of some Republicans that Charles E. Hughes as chairman of the State convention might succeed in that stupendous task. But Senator Wadsworth's clear and courageous statement setting forth his views on prohibition makes it impossible for the Republicans to soft-pedal on the issue. The New York senator will go before the voters as an opponent of the eighteenth amendment, whether the State convention remains silent on the question of a referendum or not.

The fight against Wadsworth will be waged not so violently by the Democrats, who undoubtedly will nominate a wet candidate for the Senate, but largely by the dry element of the Republican party. The drys long ago served notice that they would oppose Wadsworth's election. In this determination they are not bound by party organization. They have no desire for Republican success. Their object is to beat Wadsworth, and their hope is that they can swing enough Republicans away from the Wadsworth standard to elect a Democrat, even though the latter may be as wet or wetter than Wadsworth.

This is the situation in New York that has led the drys to tender the nomination for senator to State Senator F. W. Cristman, running as an independent candidate against Wadsworth and whoever the Democrats may name.

Mr. Cristman has accepted the offer of the nomination and petitions will be circulated to place his name on the ticket. It is also said that the drys will present his name to the Republican State convention which will meet September 27, not with any expectation of having him nominated, but in an effort to embarrass the Wadsworth followers. It is conceded that the State convention will choose Mr. Wadsworth as the candidate for senator.

So far the Democrats have not centered upon a candidate. They have been quick, however, to resent the imputation that there is a "deal" on by which the Democrats will not offer determined opposition to Wadsworth in return for Republican votes for Gov. Smith, should the latter be prevailed upon to run again for governor. There may, in truth be a "deal" between the Republicans and Democrats of New York, but it is not a deal entered into between the party organizations. If there be such a deal it is among the independent voters of both parties, and that this is possible has been shown on several occasions in the results of the New York elections. Such a deal in November is not impossible nor improbable.

DISTRICT FINANCES.

In making public the tentative estimates of appropriations required for the needs of the District government in the fiscal year 1927-28 the commissioners will doubtless receive the approval of the citizens and taxpayers of Washington. This action will establish a precedent, inasmuch as heretofore the estimates of expenditures have been kept secret. Officials of the budget bureau, however, have indicated that they have no objection to the plan of the commissioners to take the public into their confidence in the matter of the District needs. The final estimates as prepared for the budget bureau will not be made public, but nevertheless submission of the tentative estimates to the citizens advisory council for study and recommendation, and the publication of the figures, will give the taxpayers information that heretofore has always been denied them.

The taxpayers have a right to know what is proposed to be done with their money. Since Congress has receded from its former position of bearing half of the cost of government and has imposed upon the taxpayers a far greater burden than they had to shoulder even under the 60-40 plan, the people of the National Capital have taken a much keener interest in the disposition of the money they pay in taxes.

The commissioners have shown commendable foresight in having prepared well in advance the estimated needed expenditures for the upkeep of the District during the next fiscal year. They also are preparing a statement of the prospective income of the District for the year based on a new tax valuation which is to become effective July 1, 1927. These figures will give the people of Washington a good idea of their relation to the local government and Congress and what is expected of them in the way of taxes. It will also stimulate interest in the plans of those who are at the head of District affairs, both in the municipal building and in the committees of Congress. In giving the people an opportunity to be heard on fiscal affairs the commissioners as well as the taxpayers should profit.

In time automobile manufacturers may adjust everything except a flat tire and white pants.

THE RIVERS AND HARBORS SNAG.

There is a serious difference of opinion between the House and Senate over the rivers and harbors bill, which passed the House last week. That measure is so smeared with pork grease that the Senate finds its legislative digestive apparatus threatened with nausea. Some of the Senate leaders intimate that they will adopt the tactics of the late Tom Carter, of Montana, and treat the bill just as that gentleman handled a similar measure when he was fighting for irrigation legislation. They will filibuster it to death.

On the other side is Chairman Dempsey, of the House committee on rivers and harbors, who thinks that the House is as well able as the Senate to "sit it out all summer." The New York member, knowing how much his colleagues on both sides of the House are in need of pork, does not hesitate to declare that the House will not consent to adjourn until the Senate passes the bill.

President Coolidge is understood to have appealed to some of the Senate leaders for aid in disposing of the bill in order that the way may be cleared for an early adjournment. He is not exactly enamored of the bill as it stands today, but is said to be willing to sign it if by so doing he can hasten the day when he will no longer have "Congress on his hands."

Prolonged filibusters which are proclaimed in advance rarely materialize. There are ways and means to accommodate statesmen when river and harbor spareribs are abundant. The Senate has full power to make amendments. It can "perfect" the bill by adding a cutlet here, a ham there and chitterlings to suit.

Don't wager your money on a death struggle between the two houses of Congress on the rivers and harbors bill. There is pork enough for all!

Lots of people feel better at night than in the morning despite a tiresome day of killing time.

The Worst Story I Heard Today—By Will Rogers

The Worst Joke I heard today was told to me by Frank Stutz, Advertising Department of the Association of Dyers and Cleaners. You know the advertising and Newspaper men have been in New York in Convention lately, and he tells me this story to show just the power that advertising has on the mind of the people of today. Everything is style.

Just to show that advertising makes a habit, the other day one of our Dry cleaners received a garment to clean and recolor, and here was the order, "Dye this silk dress the same shade as a (naming the brand) Cigarette Box."

PRESS COMMENT.

Found—A Solution.

Toledo Blade: Congress may end the discussion by passing a bill in favor of nice growing weather for the farmers.

They're the Lads.

Pittsburgh Gazette-Times: The United States army needs 150 second lieutenants, probably to put discipline into the ranks.

A Good Reason.

Philadelphia Inquirer: "In spite of his 90 years, Joe Cannon goes to his office every day," which may be one reason he is 90 years old.

First Find Your Rabbit.

Minneapolis Journal: To make a Welsh rabbit, first catch your rabbit. Likewise to make a disarmament agreement, first define your armament.

Poland's Strong Constitution.

Chicago News: Poland's constitution has not been violated by the revolution, Warsaw claims. Poland is to be congratulated on her strong constitution.

Lots to Do Yet.

Cincinnati Enquirer: Now that Congress has learned of that big surplus in the national Treasury, all hope of an early adjournment has gone glimmering.

The Turks and Latin.

Norfolk Virginian-Pilot: "Turks May Adopt Latin"—headline. At least that would be less troublesome than some of their past attempts to adopt the Greek.

The Sucker Crop.

Philadelphia Record: The birth rate in the class made celebrated by Barnum seems to be rising rapidly. Seats for the first performance of a new revue in New York are selling at $55 each.

A Spring Discovery.

Detroit News: The customary large quota of householders have made the discovery this spring that by painting the kitchen woodwork you can make everything else in the place look shabby.

The Golden Rule.

Louisville Courier-Journal: Twenty-three men with 41 horses plowed and planted 20 acres of corn one day last week for a sick farmer in Hardin county. Putting in golden grain by the golden rule, as it were.

Has Very Convenient Eyes.

Detroit Free Press: Some of our leading political writers profess to see a waning of President Coolidge's popularity. A political expert can always manage to see what he is especially looking for.

Unemployment In France.

Brooklyn Eagle: Of the 409 persons drawing unemployment aid in all France, 22 are women and 95 are Russians. The contrast between Paris and London is striking—which is to say that striking has a lot to do with unemployment.

Germany's Birth Rate.

Brooklyn Citizen: Germany's birth rate, it is reported is decreasing. It is now down to 20.4 and is fast approaching the low French rate, which is remaining stationary at 19.4. Prof. Alfred Grotjahn, of Berlin, who sounds a note of alarm over these statistics, states that it will require a birth rate of 20 per 1,000 to keep the population barely stationary, if one puts the average lifetime at 50 years.

Coal and Congress.

Springfield Republican: That the present situation in the coal industry in the United States "is almost as impossible as the British situation" is the conclusion of the committee on coal and giant power. The committee looks for a crisis in the coal industry upon the expiration next March of the Jacksonville agreement. Possibly Congress, if it had the authority, would be capable of agreeing upon a plan of reorganization and conduct of the coal industry in both of its branches, though this is by no means certain. But Congress should at the least be prepared to deal with the emergencies that chronically arise while the chaotic conditions continue.

Small Feet.

Philadelphia Record: Of course, this story about 25,000 pairs of American women's shoes being unsalable in Moscow because the Russian women have such small feet is a mere piece of impertience, expressive only of resentment because the United States has not recognized the soviet. It is perfectly well known that American women have the smallest feet of any women in the world where nature is not interfered with. In China measures have been taken to prevent the feet from growing, but since the empire was abolished and the Chinese have set up the claim that they are "allee samee Melican man" we understand that foot-binding has been abandoned. If Russian women do not buy American shoes it is probably because they can not get their feet into them.

Now to Work.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: Possibly the Senate will now be able to get down to work. Its mind has not been in Washington for several days. The senators have been waiting for the returns from Iowa to help them decide whether they should talk one week or two weeks longer about farm relief. They have discussed migratory birds, the Chippewa Indians, the Interstate Commerce Commission, Muscle Shoals and the public grazing lands while the subject before the house was supposed to be the Haugen bill. In fact, they have just about exhausted all topics other and except the iniquities of the spring weather. Iowa will be heard from this morning and the Senate can again get down to business. Another primary like that in "Hawkeye" land would be a sad strain on its frayed and overwrought sensibilities.

The House Detective.

New York Telegraph: More than $2,000 lay for hours on the lobby of the Waldorf, untouched. There was nothing peculiar about this, but the odd part of it was that a house detective found the money. The first time in the annals of modern hostelries that a house detective has ever been known to find anything except turpitude.

The Evangelism of Science

By GLENN FRANK.

SINCE the war, superstition has been trying to get science on the run.

All sorts of absolute opinions, dead dogmas, irrational inhibitions, silly superstitions, and foolish fears have come out from under cover and inspired crusades whose leaders seek to convince the public that modern science is undermining all that is high and holy, all that is sound and sane in life.

The scientists and the scholars must share the blame for all this.

All the sciences have lying, relatively unused, in their laboratories socially usable ideas that would, if really used, lift the whole tone and temper of American life.

Unfortunately many of these ideas are today buried under the jargon of technical scholarship and effectively insulated from contact with our common life.

Now and then fitful and fractional glimpses of these ideas filter into the press and are immediately pounced upon by demagogues who misinterpret them and use them as ammunition in a misguided warfare against the whole helpful output of the modern mind.

If we are to save the results of scientific research from slander at the hands of demagogues or from sterility as the private luxuries of highbrows, there must be some soundly conceived attempt to winnow out the net social and spiritual contributions of scientific research from the chaff of attendant detail, and then these contributions must be translated into the common tongue.

Scientific research may unearth and amass all of the necessary raw materials for a great renewal of American life, but these raw materials for a great renewal will be about as valuable as so much sawdust if they lie unused in our laboratories or remain buried in technical reports that none save the supereducated can understand.

And these results of scientific research will never be used in any broadly effective way until the man in the street has at least a bowing acquaintance with them.

We must somehow find ways and means for thrusting the results of scientific research into the stream of common thought and for making them the basis of our public policies and social procedures.

The scientist is the hope of civilization, but his contribution does not become a social asset until it gets beyond the stage of inarticulate accuracy.

The victories of intelligence will remain insecure and liable to periodic defeat by strange revivals of superstition and intolerance unless we can manage to match the evangelism of superstition with an equally effective evangelism of science.

Because of all this, the most useful man in America today is the occasional scholar-genius who combines the burrowing qualities of the mole with the singing qualities of the lark, the man who is master alike of the science of research and of the art of expression.

SHENANDOAH PARK.

By BLANCHE C. HOWLETT.

Spring is here. A symphony is heard,
The music of the tree, and flower, and bird.
The orchestra, a brook with rocky bed.
Some ironwood horns, a fern, the fiddlehead,
The wind, a harpist who is world-renowned,
Makes wood and dell with melody resound;
With briar harp, another instrument
Whose lyric notes to symphony are blent,
Accompanies a thrush's matin lay,

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Liberalized Retirement.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: There is just one thing about the liberal retirement bill and that is this: If the Senate and House can not agree on a bill they could pass over the President's veto, then they must agree on a bill that the President will sign.

If no bill is passed this session, there will be none the next, as that will be the short session, and nothing will be done about a liberal retirement bill until we have a new President, and in the meantime 50 per cent of those now retired will die of old age and the other 50 per cent will starve to death. "Let's go!"

She Likes Will Rogers.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Herein please find expressed appreciation of your witty correspondent, Mr. Will Rogers.

His daily "Worst Stories" are enjoyed greatly by us, and his articles in The Sunday Post, which we read upon retiring Sunday night, are generally "screams."

In this week's paper in which Mr. Rogers shows the relation between the condition of your teeth and your success in mastering the Charleston, he has surely outrogered himself.

This caused about the heartiest laugh I have indulged in since reading a former article of Mr. Rogers in your paper on the subject of "Etiquette." These two are gems, and whenever the Washington baseball season gets dull, or it seems too long to wait for another Democratic convention, I shall bring forth these two clippings. I am awaiting with keen interest Mr. Rogers' letters from abroad.

The Unemployment Problem.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In view of the fact that the interest of many public-spirited citizens or groups of individuals has been directed toward the future of birds, art, science, &c., which in itself is commendable, little or no attention has been given to the conditions resulting from diversified unemployment, not readily assimilated through our industries.

It is not in a spirit of criticism that I refer to the question, but the thought occurred to me that a commendable public service could be rendered if means could be provided, through the chambers of commerce, boards of trade or other civic bodies, to secure employment in active industries for those suspended or discharged for reasons of economy and efficiency, that the minimum of unemployment would prevail in this progressive nation of ours and to prevent the attempt to secure the positions already filled by others who are equally dependent on its continuance for support.

Fundamentally, of course, crime conditions are improved or corrected by the environment of the home, but unemployment creates a tendency to this inclination at least, so if the maximum number of our worthy citizens could be continuously employed it would relieve a serious situation—that is, the result of employes being separated from public utilities, corporations and government service.

Long-lived Married Men.

Baltimore Sun: Data made public in Chicago are taken to prove that married men live longer than single ones. This was known to the early Babylonians, who invented a well-known jest. Speaking to the point, however, one wonders whether matrimony really conduces to long life. An explanation could be that women intuitively refuse to pair off with chaps who are doomed to short lives and, as the phrase has it, merry ones. They want reliable providers, and so they select the fellows who do not flirt, even with death.

CAPITAL SOCIETY EVENTS

MRS. COOLIDGE received yesterday at 4 o'clock. Mme. Bryn, wife of the Minister of Norway, and some Norwegian-American ladies connected with the committee of the Norse American centennial, who presented her with a copy of the famous Baldishol tapestry, an old Norwegian work of art, which Mrs. Coolidge accepted for the White House tapestry.

The gift was in commemoration of the visit Mrs. Coolidge made to Minnesota last year, when she attended the Norse American centennial.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge received the delegates to the international conference of oil pollution of navigable waters at 4:30.

The Ambassador of Spain and Mme. Riano entertained a company of 30 guests at dinner last evening at the embassy.

The former Ambassador from Cuba, Dr. Terriente, accompanied by Mme. Terriente and their daughter, who are on their way from Cuba to Europe, will pass through Washington tomorrow on their way to New York. They will be met by the present Ambassador, Senor Don Aballi.

Mme. Bryn, wife of the Minister of Norway, entertained the committee of ladies of the Norse American centennial who came to Washington to present Mrs. Coolidge with a copy of an old Norse tapestry yesterday at the legation. There were twelve guests.

Mrs. James J. Davis, wife of the Secretary of Labor, accompanied by their children, will depart today for Mooseheart, Ill., where they will pass the summer. The Secretary expects to accompany them if he is not detained in Washington.

Back in Capital.

Former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey, having been appointed by the President as chairman of the oil pollution conference now being held in Washington, arrived in the city Monday and, with Mrs. Frelinghuysen, is staying at the Mayflower, where he entertained at luncheon yesterday in the presidential dining room. His guests were Mr. Archibald Maclean and Mr. Albert W. Laslett, of London, and Mr. Robert F. Hand, of New York, delegates to the conference, who are also registered at the Mayflower. Mrs. Frelinghuysen and Mrs. Maclean were also present at the luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blake Dewey, of Chicago and Washington, entertained a party of six at dinner last evening in the presidential dining room of the Mayflower. Their guests were the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey and Miss Suzette Dewey and Mr. Albert B. Dewey, jr., who returned yesterday from abroad.

Mrs. Coolidge, Mrs. Dawes and Mrs. Longworth, while attending the previous showing of the spring flower show at noon yesterday, were each presented with a beautiful bouquet of Mrs. F. R. Pierson roses, which are a deep red, and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge roses of delicate yellow. Little Miss Lynda Bissel presented the flowers.

Mr. Thomas Bell Sweeney will sail Saturday from New York on the Homeric for England, where he will join his younger son, Mr. John Sweeney and attend his graduation. Mrs. Sweeney will depart June 21 for New Haven, Conn., to attend the graduation exercises of her son, Mr. Thomas Sweeney, jr., at Yale, and will from there go to Bar Harbor to open up her cottage. Mr. Thomas Sweeney, jr., will sail with a party of friends from Yale, July 3, for Europe, where he will pass the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman entertained at dinner last evening in honor of Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin, dean of William and Mary college. There were twenty guests. The dinner was served in the patio of their country estate at Edgemoor.

Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips, sr., and Mrs. Charles H. Johnson, of New Castle, Pa., mother and sister of Representative Phillips, are visiting at his home on Sixteenth street.

Mrs. Henry C. Corbin entertained at tea yesterday afternoon at her country home, Highwood.

Mrs. C. William Ramseyer, wife of the respresentative from Iowa, will entertain at luncheon today in honor of Mrs. Horace Mann Towner, wife of the governor of Porto Rico, and of Mrs. Ramseyer's mother, Mrs. George Phillips, of Bloomfield, Iowa.

Miss Maud Marshal Mason, who was one of the models yesterday in the Junior League Fashion show, will depart today for West Point where she will attend the finals at June week. After one or two short visits she will return to Washington in about ten days.

Reinhardt—Foxall Wedding.

An interesting military wedding which took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock was that of Miss Alice Gough Foxhall and Lieut. George Cooper Reinhardt, of Fort Humphreys, Va. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thorpe Nesbit, with whom she has been making her home during the winter. The house was charmingly decorated with summer blossoms. The bridal couple stood in the large bay window of the drawing room, the Rev. U. G. B. Pierce officiating. A stringed orchestra played during the afternoon.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Nesbit and was gowned in white georgette crepe made in period style with a bouffant skirt and a tight fitting bodice. She had a large white hat trimmed with long maline streamers falling from each side of the brim, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Edgar Newton Brawner, who was the matron of honor, wore a gown of orchid georgette crepe made like that of the bride, and she carried a colonial bouquet of flowers.

Lieut. Jerald Sullivan, of Fort Humphreys, was best man and the ushers were: Lieut. Howard Ker, Lieut. Emil Peterson, Lieut. L. E. Bingham, Lieut. Clinton Robinson, Lieut. Fremont Tandy and Lieut. Gordon Pexton. They formed an arch with crossed sabers, under which the bridal couple passed after the ceremony.

Mrs. Nesbit, sister of the bride, was in a gown of blue crepe de chine and she carried a bouquet of mauve and pink flowers, and Mrs. Reinhardt, mother of the groom, wore a gray gown and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of flowers. There was a reception immediately following the ceremony when there were 60 guests, who also attended the ceremony. Lieut. and Mrs. Reinhardt departed later by motor on a wedding trip to Boston, the latter gowned in a traveling costume of navy blue twill with fawn accessories. They will sail June 29 from New York for Hawaii, where Lieut. Reinhardt will be stationed for the next five years.

Miss Ramona Lefevre is in New York and is registered at the Ambassador.

Brig. Gen. and Mrs. M. Gray Zalinski will be hosts at dinner tomorrow evening at the Congressional Country club, when they will have 64 guests.

Representative and Mrs. John H. Small are at the Hotel Astor in New York.

Mrs. C. A. Stedman is closing her home on New Hampshire avenue and departing for her cottage at Spring Lake, N. J.

Envoy Is Honored.

Wills Sainte Claire Now Leads Fine Car Group in—Low Price

Wills Sainte Claire is now lowest in price in the fine car group.

The Roadster is now $2700; the Gray Goose Traveler $2700; the 5-Passenger Sedan $3150; the 7-Passenger Sedan $3250.

These figures make the buyer pause, consider, examine. What an alluring investment in finer motoring and enduring transportation.

There has been no cheapening, no change. Besides all the usual equipment and fitments—rear view mirror and the like—each Wills Sainte Claire is furnished with such costly accessories as: Lovejoy Shock Absorbers; Winterfronts; special Bi-Flex de luxe bumpers both front and rear; and many others.

For quiet delivery of smooth-flowing power, for original beauty, the Wills Sainte Claire has long held a place of its own.

Now excess values still further distinguish it—a fact that deserves an investigation and a ride.

POST WORLD SERIES CONTEST ENLIVENED AS ENTRANTS GROW

More Teams and Individuals Enroll in Subscription Campaign.

PRIZES TO BE AWARDED TO PLAYERS AND FANS

Attendance at the Baseball Classic This Fall Is Reward at Stake.

Although a little too late to join the "early bird" class in The Washington Post's subscription world series contest, eleven baseball teams enrolled yesterday and began their task of "getting the worm." The "worm" in question being winning one of the two team prizes and attending the baseball series this fall, regardless of where it will be played.

The nine players, three substitutes and manager of the two teams which turn in the most paid-up subscriptions to The Post between now and September, and 20 fans, men, women and children, will comprise the party which will attend the series as guests of The Post. One team will be chosen in the class of 16 years or under and the other team in the class of 16 years or over. Teams within a radius of 25 miles of the Capital are eligible.

The 20 fans will be chosen from hundreds of men, women and children from all walks, classes, creeds and races of life, who are entered in the contest. Interest in the race is growing more as days progress and a "Garrison finish" is anticipated by the contest manager.

Information regarding the contest is published almost daily in The Post. However, if some difficulty arises, the answer to which is not given in the rules and regulations, the contest manager, room 49, The Post building, is good at working puzzles and can solve any difficulty.

Those who entered yesterday were:

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Allen will be at home after a short trip at 2703 Woodley road.

Mrs. R. W. Bolling will motor the latter part of this month to her camp in Maine, with her children and her sisters, Miss Clara Lutz and Miss Gertrude Lutz. They will remain there for the summer months, returning the latter part of September.

Miss Eudofilia Arboleda, of Quito, Ecuador, is the guest of Capt. and Mrs. E. M. Benitez, at their apartment in Kew Gardens. Miss Arboleda is a student at Goucher college, Baltimore.

Mrs. Thompson Seton Honored.

Mrs. Grace Thompson Seton, national president of the League of American Pen Women, has arrived in Washington and will be the special guest of honor at the Rose Garden bridge of the league tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Mock, 2960 Newark street, at 2 o'clock.

The national executive board is a committee of the whole for the affair, while the special committee of arrangements consists of Mrs. Macpherson Crichton, chairman; Mrs. Theodore Tiller, vice chairman; Mrs. Homer Hoch and Mrs. Du Puy.

The committee announces that the prize for the highest score will be a large autographed photograph of Mrs. Seton, while attractive prizes have also been provided for each table. Reservations may still be made at the national headquarters of the league, room 231, Mayflower hotel, or through members of the committee.

Mrs. Crichton is hostess for two tables and her guests will be Mrs. Seton, Mrs. R. J. Grant, Mrs. Rush Holland, Mrs. Charles Williamson, Mrs. Charles Cecil, Mrs. E. L. Huffman and Miss Gladys Lighton Wood.

Mrs. Edward Nelson Dingley, first vice president, will have as her guests Mrs. George Wallace, Mrs. James Mears and Mrs. Ira Peters.

Mrs. William D. Leetch's guests will be Mrs. Edmund L. Jones, Mrs. Frank S. Smith and Mrs. Sydney Parham.

Mrs. D. C. Chace will have as her guests Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, Mrs. DeWitt C. Croissant and Mrs. M. K. Barroll.

A partial list of others who have taken tables includes: Mrs. Frederick I. Johnson, Mrs. William C. Gorgas, Mrs. Delos Blodgett, Mrs. Theodore Tiller, Mrs. William Atherton Du Puy, Mrs. Estelle Moses, Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, Mrs. William Wolff Smith, Mrs. Helen Nelson Doocy, Mrs. Virginia Monro, Mrs. Blanche Ray and Mrs. Hal Smith.

The membership of the Alabama society is looking forward to the reception and dance to be given this evening at the Chastleton hotel, Sixteenth and R streets northwest, at 8:30.

This being the last entertainment of the season, Col. James S. Easby-Smith will be the speaker of the evening.

The golden jubilee of the Alumnae Association of Holy Cross academy was celebrated at Holy Cross Monday evening. Covers were laid in the spacious foyer. A basket of yellow roses formed the center, and the golden color scheme was carried out in all of the decorations.

Mrs. Evelyn Stone, president, presided. The following program was introduced by Miss Mary Agnes O'Brien, toastmaster. Toasts by Mrs. Lillian Saum Pritchard, Miss Anna Adele May, Mrs. Agnes Downey Rice, Miss Eugenia Lieutaud, Miss Julia Kennedy, Miss Marie Tricou and Miss Nelda Schnopp, and special features by Miss Patricia Sullivan, Mrs. Viola Mallet Conboye and Miss Agnes Walter.

Arrangements were made by Mrs. Eva Fowler Zable, assisted by Miss M. Louise Darr, chairman of the golden jubilee fund. A handsome bound book, containing the roster of the association, was presented to the sister superior. The annual meeting immediately followed the dinner.

Miss Traver Married.

In the presence of a large circle of friends from Virginia, District of Columbia, Maryland, West Virginia and Ohio, Miss Almyra Miles Traver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James William Traver, of Washington and Maryland, was married at noon June 2 at Park Vew Lodge, their summer home, Mountain Lake Park, Md., to Mr. Harold Edward Jacobs, member of a prominent family of Clarksburg, W. Va.

In the dining room of the lodge, where a beautiful altar in white had been erected with a background of native wild flowers, palms, and rhododendron, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Bahner, of the First Presbyterian church, Clarksburg, W. Va.

The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played as the bride proceeded to the altar with her father, who gave her in marriage. The decorations were white lilacs, lilies of the valley, gladioli, peonies and sweetheart roses grouped to advantage throughout the room and the lower flower of the house.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin with pearl trimmings. A voluminous tulle veil was worn, simply arranged with rose point lace across the brow and down on either side, and held in place with clusters of orange blossoms and lilies of the valley. The train of the veil was made of rose point lace which had been used on such occasions dating from its first use by the bride's grandmother, 150 years ago to North Carolina. The bride carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and orange blossoms. The attendants were Miss Marian Palmer Brown, maid of honor; Miss Bonnie Jean Brown, ribbon girl; Miss Harriet Anne Brown, flower girl, all of Marietta, Ohio. Miss Lucy Jacobs, of Clarksburg, W. Va., niece of the groom, was also ribbon girl.

Mr. Jacobs had as his best man Mr. William Jacobs, his brother, of Zanesville, Ohio. The ushers were Mr. Roscoe Brown, of Marietta, Ohio, and Mr. Ray Adams, of Washington, D. C. Luncheon was served after the ceremony to the visiting guests, after which Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs departed for an extended trip by motor.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Arthur Balloch announce the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Agnes Balloch Bready, to Mr. William Dawson yesterday in the city of Washington.

Mr. Joseph Tumulty entertained a small company at luncheon yesterday on the Willard roof.

Mrs. George B. Trible and son, George, jr., will depart Monday evening for Jamestown, R. I., to pass the summer at Hilltop cottage, which they have taken for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Springs, of Lancaster, S. C., are again in Washington for a short stay at the Mayflower.

Mr. Golden Donaldson will entertain informally at luncheon today on the Willard roof.

SUMMER REST and CONTENTMENT

With the increasing importance of the Summer Home, its furnishings are taken more seriously than in past days.

It can no longer be the abiding place of relegated and incongruous fitments—it has become a home in the finest sense—a haven of rest and contentment.

This establishment has aggressively advanced this idea of better homes, and our present exhibit of moderately priced Furniture is the fulfillment of careful planning to place this ideal within the reach of the many.

And the same purchasing power that makes the displays so extensive reduces the cost.

These savings are given to our Customers.

NEW ENGLAND IDEA OF HELP FOR WEST REJECTED BY IOWA

Either Dawes or Lowden Could Carry State Over Coolidge, Is View.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS WILL BACK BROOKHART

Democrats, However, Plan Fight to Elect Second Senator to Sit With Steck.

By ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 8.—Smith W. Brookhart's defeat of the veteran Senator A. B. Cummins is interpreted here by many as showing that Iowa's electorate was bent on telling the White House and Congress that when the corn belt says it wants farm relief, it doesn't mean maybe.

On all sides it is construed as a rebuff for President Coolidge and his agricultural policies. The great impelling force that rolled up Brookhart's plurality of upward of 70,000 was agrarian resentment of the same type that led Minnesota a few years ago to elect Magnus Johnson. Out where the tall corn grows, the voters, incensed over the failure to get action on bills to ameliorate the economics of the farm, sought to hand Washington a jolt to show it could be done, and they deemed Brookhart the heaviest brick they could shy.

"No Plums on Applesauce Trees."

In a ribbon line across its front page, the Des Moines Tribune tonight philosophizes on the election thus:

"Maybe Monday's Primary Has Convinced Some Politicians That They Cannot Pick Plums From Applesauce Trees."

This, in a nutshell, seems to be the object lesson the voters sought to convey.

All of the representatives in Congress who had contests were renominated.

Porter Leads in Democratic Race.

On the Democratic side, Claude R. Porter, of Des Moines, is far in the lead of his two rivals, J. G. Murtagh, of Waterloo, and J. Ray Files, of Fort Dodge.

Political circles today were buzzing with the post-mortem discussion. The Iowa primaries by one and all the leaders are held to be of deep significance as reflecting trends in national politics. Some of the high lights in the interpretative line were:

1. Will the jolt handed Washington mean farm relief? Iowa's idea is that Congress and the administration will sit up and take notice of what is deemed a notice from the corn belt to fish or cut bait.

2. How are President Coolidge's political fortunes affected? Throughout the corn belt of Iowa, Illinois and Indiana the President has been diminishing in popularity, and for months an air of chilliness has been manifest. From all appearances the Chicago speech was to Coolidge what the Winona speech on downward revision upward was to President Taft, a banana peel. The primaries demonstrate Coolidge is slipping.

"Eastern View" Criticized.

3. Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois is regarded in Iowa as the great hope of agriculture. Next comes Gen. Charles G. Dawes, who is fighting for farm relief. Politicians out here almost unanimously say that either Lowden or Dawes would have a walkaway against Coolidge in Iowa.

4. A growing cleavage between the "Eastern view" and the "Western view" on protection as applied to industries, labor, banks, the railroads and as not applied to agriculture. Iowa's corn belt echoes with red-hot criticism that New England is unsympathetic toward the middle West and is devoid of understanding of the agricultural problem. The talk today was that the voters not only sought to jolt the President, but also to hand a jar to Senator Butler, of Massachusetts, who as national chairman was criticized out here two years ago as not understanding the middle West. Butler, they say, if he had tried might have headed off the ousting of Brookhart from the Senate. It is regarded as somewhat of a homeric jest for the Iowa electors to have nominated for the Senate a man whom the Senate has just unseated.

Democrats Are Hopeful.

5. After telling the world that "New England" makes nothing of a hit in Iowa many declare the movement farm relief enactments will be followed by an agitation for downward revision of the tariff on articles consumed by the farmer.

6. A rising hope among the Democrats. They are building on the theory that Iowa, having elected one Democratic senator, Dan Steck, may repeat 1924.

Nationally, the State leaders theorize that out of the farm relief controversy may come a South-West alignment that might give a strong Western Democratic candidate for the Presidency a good chance in 1928, if agrarian amelioration is developed into a national issue.

Clyde Herring, Democratic national committeeman, lost no time today in extending an invitation to Republicans to vote for Claude Porter in November.

Prepare Rousing Campaign.

The Democrats are preparing for a rousing campaign. Their idea is that the Republicans are so split factionally by the Cummings-Brookhart struggle that numbers of them will swing to Porter, as they did to Steck two years ago.

The Republicans pooh-pooh this and say there is not a chance. Brookhart has "toned down," they point out, and has lost his horns, so to speak, and in all events he is not as radical a radical as was Cummins when he first broke into the big circuit.

Some of the Cummins leaders lost no time in saying Brookhart would get their support. The main Republican leaders say there will not be enough defections from Brookhart to make it even a close race.

But the Democrats point out that Porter is well known as a progressive Democrat, having made several State-wide campaigns for office. In the Wilson administration he was Assistant Attorney General, and in the war period prosecuted a number of cases against the I. W. W., among them "Big Bill" Haywood.

LEADERS HOLD PRESIDENT REBUKED IN IOWA PRIMARY

defeat of Pepper, McKinley and Stanfield, it shows that the revolution within the Republican party is on.

"This administration has not enacted and will not enact real farm relief legislation. The first step toward this end is for the Western farmers and their representatives in Congress to join with the Democrats in bringing about a downward revision of the tariff on the things the farmers have to buy.

"Defeat of the administration Republicans can have but one significance. It shows clearly that the Democrats will win a sweeping victory at the polls in November."

Senator Gerry isued a statement along the lines of that issued by Representative Oldfield. Though Senator Norris and other progressives characteried the Iowa result as a warning to President Coolidge, there was no comment from the White House spokesman at yesterday's conference with the newspapermen.

Curtis Declines Comment.

Senator Curtis, the Republican leader, likewise declined to comment. Mr. Curtis, as leader of the majority, was against reading Brookhart out of the party last year and likewise was lukewarm to any suggestion of getting rid of him during the Brookhart-Steck contest. In other words, Mr. Curtis endeavored to harmonize matters so that the Iowa result in one sense bears out the prediction of Mr. Curtis that punitive measures against Brookhart would react against the Republicans.

Senator Butler, who is charged by Brookhart with having worked for his removal from the Senate, had no comment to make. The administration senators discussed the result privately but not for publication. Aggressive agitation in the corn belt for farm relief and a growing feeling that the Coolidge administration is dominated by the East and does not understand the problems of the middle West and West were given privately as the consensus of Republican leaders respecting the cause of Brookhart's victory.

Brookhart's opposition to the world court, which Senator Cummins sponsored, is also referred to incidentally. This was the starting point of Brookhart's rehabilitation among Iowa Republicans, it is admitted. It is also noted that all the Republican senators so far defeated in the primaries voted for the world court, while Senator Watson, who was successful in Indiana, voted against it.

That Brookhart will seek to identify himself with farm relief legislation by coming to Washington and consulting with senators interested in agricultural legislation caused little surprise here, especially as Brookhart's strength in the November election will depend largely on his activities on behalf of the farmers from now on.

Senator McNary characterized the Iowa result as an aggressive demand on the part of the agricultural interests of the country that Congress pass some effective farm relief legislation at this session. It soon became evident that the Senate was disposed to consider the pending farm relief bill more seriously. Excepting for a typical political speech by Senator Harrison the entire day, after the early executive session, was devoted to the farm relief bill. The discussion was earnest and serious, with senators on both sides of the chamber closely following the debate.

Meanwhile, it was reported that President Coolidge might alter his position with respect to the principle of the McNary-Haugen bill, which is included as an amendment to the present House bill being considered by the Senate. The principle in question is whether it is not economical policy to adopt the equalization fee provided for in the bill. In a general way, the government, through a proposed farm board, advances the money to enable the farmer to distribute and take care of his surplus and so-called equalization fees are collected from the producers to pay the government for money advanced. Secretary of Agriculture Jardine has stated his view that the principle involved was economically unsound. President Coolidge is understood to have shared this view. But Vice President Dawes is credited with holding the opposite view.

Mellon's View Awaited.

Several members of the House, favoring the Haugen bill, have called on Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and asked him for an opinion as to the economic soundness of the measure. Mr. Mellon told them he would reserve his judgment until he had talked the matter over with the President and Secretary Jardine. The hope of those favoring the equalization fee is that Mr. Mellon, after his talks with the President and Mr. Jardine, will indorse the soundness of the principle. This, it is said, might pave the way for early action by the Senate on a modified McNary-Haugen bill and favorable action by the House will be anticipated if the administration withdraws its objections to the McNary-Haugen bill under prescribed conditions.

But the current report that the Iowa result would cause a stampede in the Senate in favor of the pending farm relief bill did not materialize. Instead, Senator Fess of Ohio consumed practically the entire afternoon attacking the bill.

Fess Assails Measure.

Mr. Fess took the position that the present agricultural unrest with its demand for relief by legislation was comparable to the agitation of the greenback days of 79, the 16-to-1 silver campaign of 96 and the populist agitation of 1900, all of which demanded quick or quack remedy and all of which passed into oblivion when the Congress failed to adopt economically unsound measures of temporary relief.

Challenged by Senators Watson, Gooding and Norris, Senator Fess stood his ground. At one time the debate between Gooding and Fess became so bitter that both senators talked to each other simultaneously and Vice President Dawes had repeatedly to admonish them to speak one at a time. Various suggestions of what is wrong with the agricultural situation and how it might be remedied were advanced by Senators Mayfield, Wadsworth, Gooding, Fess and others, with Senator Norris taking the position that he would indorse any practical remedy that could be suggested, but that he did believe something practical should be done.

Senator Steck, of Iowa, in his maiden speech, suggested revision of the tariff as a remedy. The Re-

IOWA.

Sioux City Tribune (Pro-Cummins)—The chief factor in the outcome of the primary may be put down as Iowa's resentment of the Senate's vote in unseating Col. Brookhart and the waning of Coolidge sentiment in this State.

There has been no farm relief legislation. The East has not listened to the middle West, but has heard the voice of President Coolidge and Secretary Jardine. The farmers voted as they did because they did not like the Coolidge speech in Chicago and the unchanging attitude of the administration toward farm relief through this session of Congress.

A good many Iowans voted for Col. Brookhart because Daniel F. Steck was seated by the Old Guard. Iowa, simply, has signified how determined it is to name its own senators.

MINNESOTA.

Minneapolis Star (independent-antiadministration) — With his three lead-off batters, McKinley, Pepper and Cummins, striking out in succession, we take it Manager Coolidge is not confident about winning a third pennant.

Minneapolis Tribune (Republican)—It will be interesting to observe what effect, if any, the Iowa Republican primary election will have on farm legislation. Republican voters of that State seem to have indicated beyond question their opinion that there can be found and must be found a Federal legislative solvent for an economic problem. It would appear that their minds are focusted on the Haugen bill, as embodying a sound principle and a workable plan.

Minneapolis Journal (Independent Republican)—The corn belt has wreaked vengeance on Senator Cummins. Its grievances is that it has not been able to make the inflated values of its $200 an acre land profitable and that the government has not rushed to its rescue with a subsidy and a scheme of price fixing. But if the corn belt in snuffing out Cummins, has only succeeded fastening on itself six more years of Brookhart its own punishment may prove quite as grievous ah that of its victim.

MISSOURI.

The Kansas City Star (Independent)—Yesterday Iowa told the world through Brookhart that it is unhappy and wants to kick the table over.

There were cross currents, of course. Senator Cummins is advanced in years. He could not appeal with his old-time fire. Brookhart is young and vigorous. He won sympathy because of his treatment by the Senate majority when he was unseated.

The outcome naturally is disturbing at Washington. It is further indication that the prairie States are looking to Congress for helpful legislation in dealing with farm problems that have proved too formidable to be dealt with by individual farmers. The Iowa primary should be a tremendous incentive to congressmen to find some sound substitute for the defeated Haugen bill.

ILLINOIS.

Chicago Evening Journal (Democrat—The victory of Smith W. Brookhart over Senator Cummins in the Iowa Senatorial primaries on Monday was another stunning blow for the Coolidge administration. One by one senatorial pillars of the administration fall, and in the midwest the results of the primaries are dark warnings to the Republican party as to what will happen next November and in 1928. The party that has flouted the farmer's demands for relief and ridden him to death with a New England tariff is about through.

Chicago Tribune (Republican)—The victory of Smith Brookhart in the Iowa primaries is one of those things that will happen in the best regulated families. We are sorry for it because we do not think it is going to help Iowa, the Iowa farmer, or the Iowa business man, or the Iowa workmen to have Mr. Brookhart in the Senate. It is not going to add, but on the contrary subtract from the ability of the Senate to legislate wisely and therefore we shall be sorry for the Senate and the country if Mr. Brookhart is sent to Washington as there seems not much doubt he will.

INDIANA.

The Indianapolis News—There is no reason for surprise, though there is a great reason for regret, over the defeat of Senator Cummins by Smith Brookhart in the Iowa senatorial primary. The result could hardly have been unexpected even by Senator Cummins and his friends. It is evident that many people in Iowa resented the unseating of Brookhart as Senator, an act which was made by his supporters and champions to appear as an affront to the State of Iowa.

The Indianapolis Star—If Brookhart gets back to Washington under a Republican label, he will be no more of a Republican than he was when he was there before. He will be no asset to Iowa Republicans nor to his party. Under a convention system, the Republican leaders of the State would have prevented saddling themselves with such a liability. He will not be able to get anything for them, nor want to. He seeks to play his own game.

Leatrice Joy Gets Final Divorce.

Los Angeles, June 8 (By A. P.). Final decree of divorce from John Gilbert, motion picture star, was granted here today to Leatrice Joy, his former wife. She obtained an interlocutory decree a year ago.

Veteran Hangs Self When Cummins Loses

Special to The Washington Post.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, June 8.—The defeat of Senator A. B. Cummins broke the heart of John Stine, 75-year-old civil war veteran, and he committed suicide at his home in Lisbon today. Stine, when he learned that Brookhart was successful, obtained a rope, went to the barn and hanged himself.

Secretary Davis Given Degree.

St. Louis, Mo., June 8 (By A. P.).—Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War, today delivered an address at the commencement exercises of Washington university here, of which he is a graduate. The honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon him. Chancellor Herbert S. Bailey spoke of Davis as "an inspiring example of the obligations of stewardship and responsibilities of power."

Brookhart's Lead 69,295; Only 85 Precincts Missing

Des Moines, Iowa, June 8 (By A. P.).—Although all precincts had not reported tonight, returns from 2,362 precincts of the State's 2,447, gave Smith W. Brookhart a plurality of more than 65,000 in yesterday's senatorial primary. The count of the leading candidates was Brookhart, 203,077; Senator Cummins, 133,782; Howard Clark, 62,373.

Over 3,000 cities and towns have streets paved with portland cement concrete

Horse-and-Buggy Pavements Won't Do

Property owners in many towns and cities whose streets swarm with motor traffic are still wasting their money on horse-and-buggy "pavements" of bygone days.

These rough, bumpy streets are directly responsible for broken springs, cut tires, greater depreciation of cars, physical discomfort, loss of time, and many accidents involving loss of life or limb.

And the heavy expense of trying to keep worn-out, dangerous, horse-and-buggy streets in repair, added to their original cost, amounts to more than enough to pay for true, even, non-skid concrete pavement that has the maintenance built in.

So in the long run you are paying for concrete streets. Why not get them?

Makes your car a thunderbolt for POWER

ESSO is a new motor fuel. A fuel so inherently powerful, so flexible in its range of accomplishments, that it is beyond the limitations of any other fuels.

ESSO does away with all motor knocks and adds to the power of your car, no matter how long you've run it. ESSO gives a power that like a thunderbolt will demolish the twisting curves of the long tough hills. And in traffic when you step on ESSO it shoots your car ahead with a faster pick-up than you have ever known. Clean on the get-away, swift on the get-there.

And as for endurance, ESSO just eats up the long country roads—no matter how rutted or sandy they are. It pulls you out of anything and puts you home on time.

Test ESSO today. Start clean with a tankful of ESSO. Test it in any way you want, under any road and weather conditions. Then you'll know why ESSO is "better than the best motor fuel you've ever used".

Red in color. Packed with power. On sale at the ESSO pump.

What the consistent use of Esso gives

1. All your motor's power—and no knocks.
2. Greater flexibility — less gear shifting.
3. Freedom from use of choke—no crank-case dilution.
4. Quick start—lightning fast.
5. Instant pick-up—quick as a cat.
6. Speed and pull for the long hard hills.
7. New and longer life to the engine.

Esso

TRADE MARK REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

Esso is already proven

This giant motor fuel has already proved a sensation in Baltimore and Washington. The local reputation of this special "Standard" blended motor fuel became so favorable that in the short span of a few months its fame spread to other cities and states.

The result was such a widespread demand for the great motor fuel that the Standard Oil Company has now decided to market it generally. So, in order to avoid confusion with other automotive fuels and to give such a distinctive product a really distinctive name of its own, this special super fuel will hereafter be known as ESSO. Ask for it by name—ESSO.

HITS, ERRORS, LAUGHS FEATURE FACULTY PLAY

Pyramid Honor Society Defeats George Washington Instructors.

In a game that abounded with hits, errors and laughs, the George Washington university faculty team was defeated by the Pyramid Honor society in the annual baseball tussle on the Monument grounds yesterday. The score was 14 to 12.

The players, for the most part, were in disguise. Some appeared golfers, some as tennis players and others as plain pedestrians. One of the professors wore a felt hat.

President William Mather Lewis, wearing golf togs and a ball-player's cap, yanked himself from the pitcher's box in the fourth inning, after being deluged with hits in the second inning and permitting six runs. Guy Hottell, star football player for the George Washington eleven, pitched for the honor society. Richard Tennyson, the sports writer, umpired.

Brooke Entertains At Ad Club Lunch

With one of the largest attendance of guests and members ever assembled in recent years the Ad club of Washington met at luncheon yesterday in the City club, where a program by prominent persons of the theater was given.

Clifford Brooke and a quartet of his National Theater Players, John Warner, Miss Leneta Lane, Miss Dorothy Tierney and Miss Diveley furnished laughs by songs and stories. Brooke Johns, played his banjo and led his "Oklahomans" in modern melodies. Plans for the convention to be held starting June 20 in Philadelphia were discussed and Allen de Ford, chairman, announced that 42 local delegates were going to the Pennsylvania city.

SPRING EXHIBITION OPENS AMID GREAT ARRAY OF FLOWERS

BEAUTIFUL BOUQUET GIVEN MRS. COOLIDGE

Horticultural Society Display Attracts Many Exhibitors of Rare Blooms.

Amid a riot of colorful flowers and fragrant scents Mrs. Coolidge, Mrs. Charles Dawes and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, wife of the Speaker of the House, and Secretary of Agriculture Jardine yesterday officially opened the grand spring exhibition of the American Horticultural society at the Washington hotel.

Prize blooms of almost every variety are entered for the coveted gold medals which will be awarded by the American Horticultural society and the American Rose society for the prettiest blooms and plants. Wounded war veterans from Walter Reed hospital, prominent society fanciers and professional growers have entered their creations.

One of the most pleasing events of the day was the presentation of a bouquet of roses to Mrs. Coolidge by tiny Lynda Bisset, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bisset. The bouquet consisted of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge roses and Mrs. F. R. Pierson roses, which were created by F. R. Pierson, of Tarrytown, N. Y. The Mrs. Coolidge rose is the only five gold medal rose in the world. The Mrs. Pierson rose also is a gold medal rose.

Among the patronesses of the show are Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, Mrs. W. M. Jardine, Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss, Mrs. T. Janney Brown, Mrs. Avery Coonley, Mrs. Francis Farwell, Mrs. Louis A. Frothingham, Mrs. Floyd S. Harris, Mrs. Francis King, Mrs. Frank B. Noyes, Mrs. Frederic A. Parkhurst, Miss Julia Pearce, Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, Mrs. Charles H. Stout, Miss Grace Sturtevant, Mrs. Charles D. Walcott, Mrs. William M. Weaver, Mrs. Chester Wells and Mrs. George Ellery Wood.

David Lumsden is chairman of the exhibition committee and is assisted by Peter Bisset, J. Marion Shull, Joseph A. Herbert, jr., and H. P. Simpson.

Five local garden clubs are entered in the contest—Georgetown, Battery Park, Hyattsville, Arlington County and the Rhode Island Heights Citizens Association clubs. H. R. Pierson is exhibiting his latest bloom, which he has named the President Calvin Coolidge rose. It has already won a gold medal. S. S. Pennock is exhibiting a new variety of roses, while the principal peony exhibition is presented by George W. Payton, of Rapidan, Va., and Mrs. Edward Schwartz, of Gaithersburg, Md.

Taft Leaves Friday For Canadian Home

(By the Associated Press.)

Chief Justice Taft, recuperating from illness which prevented him from presiding Monday at the final session of the Supreme Court for the term, passed a restful day in bed dictating correspondence and reading.

Although he is said to feel sufficiently recovered to start on the trip to his summer home in Canada, he has yielded to the recommendation of his physician, a heart specialist, and will rest in bed until Friday when he expects to leave Washington.

John Coolidge to Summer School.

Burlington, Vt., June 8 (By A. P.).—Prof. Bennett C. Douglass, director of the University of Vermont summer school, said tonight he had received the application of John Coolidge, son of the President, for admission to the summer school. He will take a course in economics.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon, June 8, and after night session for consideration of miscellaneous measures, recessed at 11 o'clock p. m. until today at 12 o'clock.

Senator Simmons, ranking minority member of finance committee, assailed Secretary Mellon for using $330,000,000 surplus to retire part of public debt instead of permitting part of it to be devoted to tax reduction.

Chairman Smoot, of finance committee, pointed out that payment made by Treasury Department was on short-time commercial loans which otherwise would have to be renewed, and not upon the principal of war-time bond issues.

Senator Steck (Democrat), of Iowa, in maiden speech, declared country would "never forget or forgive" adjournment of Congress without passage of adequate farm relief legislation.

Iowa senatorial primary result afforded vehicle for political speech by Senator Harrison (Democrat), of Mississippi.

Senator Fess (Republican), of Ohio, declared the McNary farm bill would "bring economic ruin to country."

After protracted discussion confirmed six members of board of tax appeals.

Jefferson Myers, of Oregon, was nominated to be member of Shipping Board.

Quota limitations on immigration from North, Central and South America on same basis as now applicable to European countries would be imposed under bill introduced by Senator Borah (Republican), of Idaho.

Senator McNeely (Democrat), of West Virginia, assigned to committee on rules.

Interstate commerce committee reported bill designed to make Pullman surcharges unlawful.

Investigation of Pennsylvania Republican senatorial primary begins today.

Tariff Commissioner Glassie told investigating committee situation on tariff commission had been misrepresented by Commissioner Dennis and his Democratic associates in recent testimony.

Elections committee unanimously reported in favor of dismissing contest of Magnus Johnson against election of Senator Schall, of Minnesota.

Civil service committee organized for investigation into charges that postmasters and other appointive officers have been required to pay for appointments.

Republican steering committee added to legislative program bills for regulation of radio communication, to create bureaus of customs and of prohibition in Treasury Department, placing prohibition enforcement personnel under civil service, and Pittman silver purchase bill.

Senate agreed to conference report on three omnibus pension bills involving 1,950 veterans and entailing additional annual cost of $320,000.

HOUSE.

Met at noon June 8 and adjourned at 5:20 p. m. until today at 12 o'clock.

By vote of 215 to 97 passed and sent to Senate bill to provide additional Federal judges for New York, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Maryland, South Carolina, Michigan, South Dakota, Iowa and California.

Passed resolution for congressional committee to welcome back to United States Lieut. Comdr. Byrd, first man to fly to north pole.

As representatives of House at 150th celebration of battle of Fort Moultrie, at Charleston, S. C., Speaker Longworth appointed Butler, of Pennsylvania; Anthony, of Kansas; Johnson, of South Dakota, Republicans, and Montague, of Virginia and Lanham, of Texas, Democrats.

Free transportation, with meals at cost, would be granted former service men going to France on government ships to attend convention of American Legion next year, under bill by Mr. Taylor, Democrat, of West Virginia.

Military committee approved bill that would authorize return to States of welfare funds contributed to national guard organizations which served during world war.

Legislation to pave way for voluntary railroad consolidation was urged before commerce committee by Elliott H. Goodwin, vice president of Chamber of Commerce of United States.

PARDON FOR DOTY, AMERICAN, IS HELD LIKELY IN FRANCE

War Minister Painleve Says Clemency Probably Will Be Exercised.

SUSPENSION OF DEATH SENTENCE IS ORDERED

Charge of Desertion From Foreign Legion Caused Court-Martial.

Paris, June 8 (By A. P.).—War Minister Painleve intervened today to save the life of Bennet J. Doty, of Memphis, Tenn. He telegraphed the military authorities in Syria, where Doty is held for deserting the foreign legion, ordering them to send the documents in the case to Paris for examination and to suspend the execution until the war ministry has time to pass on the evidence.

The war minister explained to the correspondent that the documents in all court-martial cases in Syria are sent to Paris for confirmation before the sentences are carried out.

This procedure would naturally have been followed in the present case, but as an extra precaution he had wired expressly that nothing more be done with regard to Doty until he, the war minister, was heard from again.

Briand Had Taken Action.

Premier Briand, who learned of the case in Geneva, wired to Paris suggesting that execution of sentence be suspended, although the affair is exclusively in the jurisdiction of the war minister, and the premier has no instructions to give in such a case.

War Minister Painleve added that, while no decision would be taken until the documents were examined, he was of the opinion that clemency would be exercised. This would not be in the form of a cancellation of the court-martial's judgment, but in the form of a pardon.

Doty, who enlisted under the name Gilbert Clare, is charged with both desertion from the foreign legion and rebellion.

Committee Decides For Senator Schall

(By the Associated Press.)

The Senate elections committee report finding that Senator Schall, Republican, Minnesota, is entitled to his seat, and dismissing a contest brought by former Senator Magnus Johnson, Farmer-Labor, was presented to the Senate yesterday by Chairman Deneen, Republican, Illinois.

Action was postponed as was consideration of a motion by Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota, that the evidence taken at the committee hearings and the findings be printed. Chairman Deneen said that the committee had not ordered the evidence printed because of the cost.

15 U. S. WOMEN AWAIT BRITISH COURT TONIGHT

9 AT AFFAIR TOMORROW

London, June 8 (By A. P.).—Debutantes at the first of the season's royal courts, which will be held tomorrow evening at Buckingham palace, bid fair to make the occasion one of the most brilliant of pageants in recent years.

Among those presented tomorrow will be fifteen American women, while nine will be presented on Thursday. All will attend under the wing of Mrs. Alanson B. Houghton, wife of Ambassador Houghton.

Tomorrow Mrs. Houghton will present seven Americans in the diplomatic circle in addition to the embassy staff. They are Miss Melanie Avery, of Farmington, Conn., sister of the London military attache; Mrs. John Baird, of Philadelphia, wife of the assistant military attache; Mrs. Roberta Burg, of Boston, wife of the assistant naval attache; Miss Lindsay Beach, of Rochester, N. Y., a friend of the Houghtons; Mrs. William Carleton Watts and Miss Emily Watts, wife and daughter of the naval attache, and Mrs. Charles Mettler, of Atlanta, Ga., wife of an assistant military attache.

The embassy staff, which will attend the court, are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sterling, Mr. and Mrs. Boyleston Beal, Ray Atherton, Percy Blair and William Taylor.

In the general circle Mrs. Houghton will present Mrs. Mildred Tytus, Alice Lee and Eva Wise, of New York; Caroline Patterson, of Dayton, Ohio; Lorraine Liggett, of Boston; Henrietta Johnston, daughter of the naval attache at Paris; Mrs. Wilson Pritchett, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Curtis Brown, of London.

Ambassador Houghton, as well as his daughter Matilda, will attend all the courts of the second series, which will be held in July.

House Celebration Delegates Selected

(By Associated Press.).

Speaker Longworth yesterday appointed a committee of five to represent the House at the 150th celebration of the battle of Fort Moultrie, a revolutionary war battle at Charleston, S. C.

They were: Representatives Butler, of Pennsylvania; Anthony, of Kansas, and Johnson, of South Dakota, all republicans, and Montague, of Virginia, and Lanham, of Texas, both democrats.

Rope, Touching Wire, Kills Child at Play

Cumberland, Md., June 8.—Thomas, 8-year-old son of Thomas Lebeck, died today at Allegheny hospital from burns received when his clothing became ignited yesterday while playing near his home. The child threw a coiled rope over a high tension wire while playing cowboy.

The ground and rope were wet. A blinding flash was seen a moment later. The boy, screaming, was found lying on the ground, his clothing a mass of flames.

Closing of Antilles Ship Line Approved

(By the Associated Press.)

Discontinuance of the American-Antilles line, operating the steamships Haiti and Paria between New York and Trinidad and the Guianas, was approved yesterday by the Shipping Board.

The board also approved the sale for $10,000 cash, of the steamship Haiti to the Columbian Steamship Co., subject to a five-year guarantee of service to the Virgin islands, British and French West Indies, Paramaribo and Dutch Guiana.

HOUSE PASSES BILL FOR 9 NEW JUDGES

(By Associated Press.)

Bill to authorize appointment of additional Federal judges in nine States was passed by the House yesterday and sent to the Senate. The vote was 215 to 97.

The States affected are New York, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Maryland, South Carolina, Michigan, South Dakota, Iowa and California. Vigorous opposition to the measure was voiced by Democratic members from New York city, who objected to the five additional district judges and one justice of the circuit court of appeals to be given their State. The prohibition issue was raised by several representatives, who maintained that the docket congestion, resulting in the demand for new judges, was caused by petty cases which belonged in police courts.

BRITISH HEIR HONORED AT HOUGHTONS' DINNER

MANY AT DANCE LATER

London, June 8 (By A. P.).—Crewe House was a bower of spring blossoms for the fete, which the American Ambassador and Mrs. Alanson B. Houghton gave in honor of the Prince of Wales tonight. Blue delphiniums and huge clusters of roses and hydrangeas formed a colorful background, and American and British flags were prominently displayed.

Among other members of royal families present were Prince and Princess Arthur of Connaught, the two Swedish princes, Gustave Adolph, Duke of Vasterbotten, and Sigvard, Duke of Uppland, and Prince Chichibu, second son of the Emperor of Japan.

There were many young people of Wales' social set among the Ambassador's 35 dinner guests, including Miss Betty Baldwin, daughter of the prime minister, while at the ball after the dinner, most of the European embassies and legations were represented.

Those at the dance included the Prime Minister and Mrs. Baldwin, the American Consul General and Mrs. H. L. Washington, Col. and Mrs. E. M. House, Earl Beatty, Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, Viscount and Lady Astor, the Marchioness of Curzon and the Duchess of Norfolk.

A MODERN MARRIAGE

An Absorbing Novel

By IDAH McGLONE GIBSON

CHAPTER XXXXVI.

The Threat to Murder.

"IF you, Kathlyn, have been true to Rodney Evans you are a fool," said Elton Foss. "You have always been something for his amusement only. Think back over the time that you two have been together and you will find that he has been engrossed in business most of the time. No woman could be more to him than his business. No woman could be so much to him that he could not drop her if he wished to, as he dropped you for Sada Fillmore."

He hesitated a moment as though expecting me to say something, but I was speechless that any man would dare to talk to me in that way.

"With me it is different," he continued. "Why, don't you know, girl, that I am obsessed by you. Of course, I know I had some triumph in breaking Vernon Stedman, but all day as I found my stocks going higher and higher I kept saying: 'It is for Kathlyn; it is for Kathlyn.'

"Come with me, dear. Let's go immediately to Italy or the south of France for the winter."

"You know I can't do that, Elton," I said.

"Oh, if you've grown virtuous," he interrupted, "I'll even marry you."

My anger gave me strength to rise to my feet. I said: "Elton Foss, I would hate to deprive the other women of their part in you."

"But there are not other women, now," he said. "There have been others, I will admit. I'm no better than any other man and I'll confess that I thought I was very much in love with a girl within the last year, but after I saw you, Kathlyn, there was no other woman in all the world for me, so I passed her on to Vernon Stedman. And I was clever enough to let him think until today that he was robbing me."

I think I was more furious with Elton Foss because of the hateful laugh with which he ended his speech than I was because of his insulting intimation.

"Go," I said. "Get out of my house."

"Why, don't you understand, Kathlyn, that I am asking you to marry me? If you must know, the girl I passed over to Stedman has this very day offered again to come back to me. She says she has been unhappy ever since she went to Stedman, and she intimated that Stedman told her this afternoon when he came to her after his fight with me that he was through with her and that everything he had told her about me was a lie; that I had cast her off just as he was casting her off; that I was in love with you and had been in love with you since the first time I saw you.

"The girl is very pretty, Kathlyn; in fact, she was the toast of the town when she was with me. She amused more than you ever did and I am sure that it would not be better for me to take her back. Taking her from Stedman is no worse than taking you from Evans. I hate to be so much in love with a woman as I am with you. I must have you as my wife, if necessary, but have you I will.

"Because I care for you so much I took the time to call up that girl before I met you tonight to tell her to go back to Stedman, or to any other place. I told her I was coming here tonight to arrange matters with you and that we were leaving on the first boat for Italy. She pleaded with me to take her back. Said she would never go back to Stedman and just that afternoon when she tried to tell him that she had never cared for anyone else but me he had knocked her down and hurt her cruelly. She had hit her face against the chair she said and her eye was black and blue.

"I told her that did not interest me, that I never wanted her to worry me again and that if she wanted to know of my whereabouts all she needed to do was to watch the sailings of the vessels for Italy."

"That's the girl, Jim, interrupted Dick, "and I have other clews which, fool that I was, I thought unimportant which point to her. Oh, that's the girl who killed Foss. You see, I was so sure it was Kathlyn that it put everything else out of my mind."

"Wait a minute, Dick. What Kathlyn says further will perhaps give you more light."

* * * *

Elton Foss rose and came toward me. "Darling," he said, "you see everything is ready for our departure."

"But I'm not going with you, and I want you to get out of my house. I wouldn't marry you if you were the last man on this earth. It wouldn't be possible for me to marry you under any circumstances.

"Go."

He put out his hands to catch me, as I went toward the door. I succeeded in eluding him. He chased me around the table. I was almost paralyzed with fear. I happened to think than an automatic which Rod had given me was in the drawer. I was planning how to get it when Elton slipped and fell. While he was getting to his feet I managed to pull open the drawer and get the revolver into my hand.

"Now go," I said flinging the door open wide. I walked to the steps and he followed me.

As I turned back he came toward me. "Go! If you try to enter my door again I'll kill you," I said, pointing the gun at him.

He tried to remonstrate, but at that moment he crumpled and fell down the steps onto the pavement.

Beauty and You

IF ONE SHOULDER IS LOWER.

By Viola Paris.

A FEW months ago, I happened to go with a friend of mine while she had a fitting at her dressmaker's. I noticed that the fitter had some difficulty in adjusting the shoulder-line and that much more ripping and pinning was done on one side than the other.

"It is a great nuisance having one shoulder higher than the other," explained my friend; "but it has been that way ever since I was a child."

And for that reason she thought there was nothing to be done about it. When I told her what might still be accomplished through corrective exercises, she was amazed. Incredulous, to be more exact, for she straightway went to ask her family physician if what I had said had any truth in it. But, as he confirmed my statement, she set to work at the exercises, and already there is a noticeable improvement in her posture.

The treatment is really very simple. As one of the causes of my friend's low shoulder is her habit of standing with most of her weight on one leg, she is watching that tendency and trying to stand on the other leg as often as possible.

Secondly, she takes a fairly heavy book and raises it with the arm straight from the height of the offending shoulder to a vertical position overhead. This she does ten times, morning, noon, and night; or oftener if she thinks about it.

Another helpful measure is possible with two exercise rings, suspended from the ceiling. One of these should be a few inches higher from the floor than the other. Hang on both rings, with the feet off the floor, and the low side hanging on the higher ring. Repeat five times. This last exercise is one that children can easily be encouraged to take, and it is frequently the means not only of raising a dropped shoulder, but of averting a simple curvature of the spine.

Tomorrow Viola Paris will tell three essentials for reducing weight.

Railway Is 104 Miles From This Newspaper

Cheyenne, Wyo., June 8 (By A. P.).—Two Wyoming weekly newspapers are proud of being a part of the "great open spaces."

The Pinedale Roundup boasts in a banner line that it is "published farthest from a railroad of any newspaper in the United States." Pinedale is 104 miles from a railroad. The Wyoming State Journal of Lander, near the entrance to the Yellowstone National park, proclaims that it is "where rails end and trails begin."

SHOULD I WEAR A BIG HAT?

© VOGUE 8513

One of the strikingly new things in the summer mode is the vogue for the big hat—not just the big hat with the fluttery summer dress, but even the big hat with the simple straightline coat. Naturally, every woman asks herself, "Shall I get one?"

Are you short? Then don't—especially if you're not so slender. Are you stout? Then don't—even if you're tall. Are you old? Then don't—no matter what your figure. But if you're tall and slim and young—the big hat is yours.

The girl in the sketch has a coat of gray beige frisca—the simplest, youngest coat in the world. With it she wears a simple two-piece dress in gray and green. The big black milan hat has a band of gray beige grosgrain. Her shoes are of putty gray kid and her stockings are in the same general tone.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations and where a stamped, addressed envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease. Requests for such service can not be answered.

NURSING MOTHERS.

DR. GARLAND says the breast of a nursing mother should be washed with soap and water and nothing besides. Hardening the breasts with alcohol, tannic acid and other hardening agents does more harm than good.

If the breasts are cracked or sore, it is all right to use a shield, but not one made of lead. Babies have died from lead poisoning which resulted from the use by mothers of lead nipple shields.

The common plan is to leave the baby at the breast for twenty minutes. This is all right as a luxury, but it is not a necessity, nor is it even advantageous. Careful observations show that 40 to 60 per cent of all the milk a baby gets at a feeding he gets in the first minute at the breast. In the first four minutes he gets 60 to 85 per cent of his meal. After the first eight minutes he gets no milk and he may swallow air. When a baby stays at the breast 40 minutes he is wasting time. The milk supply is insufficient or he would not try for so long. Sixteen minutes, or eight minutes at each breast, is ample.

After a baby has nursed he should always be laid on the mother's chest with his head over her shoulder. When in this position he should be patted on the back. This causes the excess of air swallowed with the milk to come up. In this way digestion is promoted.

It has been established that breast fed babies can have scurvy and rickets. Therefore, all babies, even though at the breast, should have some orange juice or tomato juice. This should be begun during the first two months of age.

All babies in Northern cities should have cod liver oil during the winter, even though they are at the breast. Doubtless the time will come when some more acceptable rickets preventive will come into general use, but now it has the field.

A baby needs about 3 ounces of breast milk a day for each pound it weighs. Very careful close weighing before and after nursing is the only way of knowing just how much milk the baby gets. There should be several weighings before and after nursing, since one weighing before and after may mislead. A bowel movement weighs several ounces and so does a bladder full of urine.

A baby getting 3 ounces of milk for each pound of weight does not need to drink water. After a baby gets to be a few months old it is well to give him some water. When babies have passed say 3 to 4 months of age they should have a bottle occasionally, or some diluted milk and cereal out of a spoon. This trains them for the weaning period. One bottle feeding daily makes it possible for a mother to have some recreation away from home or to go to work.

As a rule, a baby 9 months of age should be pretty well weaned. After somewhere about 6 months of age milk is not a sufficient food—neither human milk nor cow's milk nor goat's milk.

CHILD MAY DRINK COCOA.

F. F. writes: My boy, 12 years old, will not drink milk plain, but will take any quantity with cocoa. I have been told that the cocoa is harmful.

REPLY.

The amount of caffein in cocoa is not great. I think your child can take it without harm.

CAUSES OF BOILS.

Mrs. K. D. writes: My husband and myself are frequently troubled with boils. Would you kindly state the cause for this? What will stop them?

REPLY.

The causes are several. Among them are:

1. Diabetes.
2. A diet that is too rich in sugars and starches.
3. Keeping the skin unclean, including conditions in certain occupations.

To stop them remove the cause.

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Money Again.

DEAR MISS McDONALD: I am one who agrees with you on the subject of the pocketbook in married life. If Betty marries her man without settling this vital question she certainly deserves what is sure to befall her. There must be some way she can put her argument so that she will make him see the light without causing a breach. If he refuses her desire before marriage, what will he do afterward. His refusal means but two things; narrow-mindedness and that he loves money more than he loves Betty and neither will bring any happiness.

I am one of the slaves who bend the knee for small change and hates the lord and master who gets that nice, generous feeling out of my humiliation. I didn't think of money questions when I married however; Betty's fiance may be the dearest and most generous man in the world, but so was mine before marriage! So were hundreds of other fiances that are making their wives unhappy today.

My husband has a checkbook which he says I can use, but I am positively scared to as he raises such a fuss and I must explain every nickel and this I can't tolerate. As the checkbook is the only source to pay for things with, it makes my life very unhappy. I have three small boys and care for my own house, yet my husband often says I have nothing to do but watch the children. I go to the theater once or twice a week and he hands me $2. By walking home I save some change. I have saved up $24 in two months and wish I may have enough some day to be independent of him. As my husband is in the ice business for himself, the winter is always the slow season.

I did the bookkeeping until last summer, and sometimes it kept me up until 2 or 3 a. m. But last summer I rebelled and insisted on $5 a week. He saw I was determined and gave in with bad grace. I deposited the money in the bank. But this winter his funds ran low and he borrowed it.

If Betty wants a taste of my married life, let her close her eyes and leap, but whatever she decides to do, I wish her luck.

MILDRED.

Now wait a minute, Mildred! We don't believe in autocrats for husbands, but are you being fair when you feel as you do toward a man who allows you $2 a week for the theater? Do you know that women write to this column who have never even been inside a theater since they married? In behalf of your husband—and your own future happiness I am going right now to put up one stiff defense for the chap who is trying to keep you satisfied. He is not a millionaire—but an ice man—and he offers you his checkbook for the household bills and gives you $2 a week for entertainment—and you publicly brand him as a stingy husband! And you want to be independent of him! Mildred, my dear, stop and think—before it is too late—for you are the one who is all wrong. You are not playing the game.

I hope you will realize in time that most marriages go on the rocks because only one is trying to make harbor. Perhaps some of the older women who read this column can help Mildred to see her duty toward the man who is trying so hard to give his family everything and keep his wife content. Is Mildred heading for harbors—or the rocks? Is her husband stingy—or exceptionally generous?

Actors Hit by Sunday Law on Barber Shops

New York, June 8 (By the Associated Press).—Actors will be the most affected by the new law closing barber shops on Sunday, say the owners of Rialto shops. It has been the actors' wont to spend no small portion of the Sabbath in a barber chair. At one shop, at whose ceiling Edwin Booth, Joe Jefferson and many another famous Thespian has stared in bored silence, complaining actors already are predicting "bootleg" shaves and "blind tiger" shops where work would be done on Sunday.

World's Toy Market Sought by Japanese

Tokyo, June 8 (By A. P.).—Tremendous gains in toy manufacturing for foreign trade, shown by export figures, are encouraging to the government's ambition to make this country the premier toyshop of the world.

Japan's foreign trade in toys last year was approximately $8,000,000. This was nearly double the total for the preceding year and was more than the record established during the boom years of the world war. The toys that go into foreign markets are chiefly those made of celluloid, rubber and wood.

Adopt This Rule

if a naturally lovely complexion is your wish

By NORMA TALMADGE

(Copyright, 1926, by P. O. Beauty Features.)

Leading skin specialists of the world urge it—it has given naturally clear complexions to more women than any other method known.

GAINING the charm of natural skin clearness is not difficult; nor does it depend on costly beauty methods.

Simple, natural ways now are given first place by authorities. Modern beauty culture has largely discarded the artificial ways of yesterday.

The following rule is being widely urged by experts. It is credited with bringing more women beautiful complexions than any other method known—just keeping the pores clean and the skin healthy, with the gentle olive and palm lather of Palmolive, used this way:

DO THIS— NOTE HOW YOUR SKIN IMPROVES

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Follow these rules day in and day out. Your skin will be soft and lovely—naturally colorful and clear.

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

Remember that before Palmolive came, women were told, "use no soap on your faces." Soaps then were judged too harsh. Palmolive is a beauty soap made for one purpose only: to safeguard your complexion 60 years of soap study stand behind it. Millions of pretty skins prove its effectiveness beyond all doubt.

BE SURE YOU GET THE REAL PALMOLIVE

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Note what one week of its use brings you. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois.

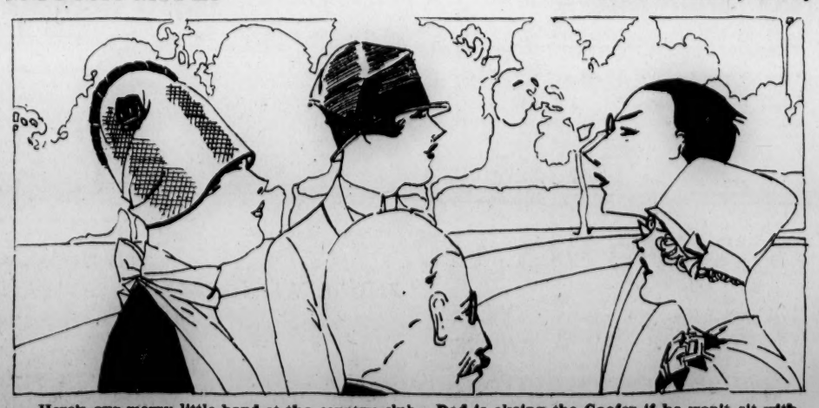
MODISH MITZI

Dad Insists, They Were Good Seats

By Jay V. Jay



Here's our merry little band at the country club. Dad is aksing the Goofer if he won't sit with them this afternoon at the ball game. He has five or six seats—not all in a row but together, and he says they are good. The Goofer looks straight at Mitzi and says: "Yes." Aunt Sophia in her new stocking shape hat urges him to come and Mitzi, who has been trying to figure out who the distant man in the plus fours is, is quite unconscious that the invitation has been accepted. Polly, in her small, high crowned and narrow brimmed felt, is thinking how heartless Mitzi is. Well, they'll all meet later.

The seats were good before the girls sat in them. But the Goofer is having a fine close-up of what milan straw looks like. The girls wore their broad brimmed milan straw hats for shade! Adelaide wears a navy blue milan straw with grosgrain ribbon loops for trimming, Mitzi wears red milan straw with a band of grosgrain ribbon round the crown. Polly has a baby milan straw—the baby doesn't pertain to the size but the straw—for the hat has the circumference of a bushel basket. It's about the best millinery display that Dad has seen in a long while.

Big Hats for Shade as Well as for Smartness

According to Modish Mitzi

Such a display as these large hats make, with their many, many inches in circumference, and their trimmings very chic, if brief.

Leghorns, milans, hair hats, moire and taffeta hats—even a very new one just out of its box, of lustrous velvet with a moire crown—and, by the way, many of the straws have velvet crowns to be very smart.

Black is still so smart—but there are many bright and brilliant colors to accompany the lovely afternoon frocks—and just a smart pin, a grosgrain band, or a flower, for trimming.

Col. Bell Declares That Board Is Soon to Give Out Estimates.

SECRECY NOT FAVORED

A step toward publicity in budget making, and from the secret methods of the past will be taken by the District commissioners this year. Lieut. Col. J. Franklin Bell, engineer commissioner, announced yesterday that the department estimates will be made public within a few days, after they have been tabulated by Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor.

Heretofore these estimates, upon which appropriations are based, have been withheld from public scrutiny. There was partial publicity of them last year, when the citizens' advisory council was organized and the estimates, masquerading under the name "statements of needs," were submitted to that volunteer body for recommendation. The "needs" were disclosed through the newspapers when the council held its meetings to discuss them.

This year, however, a more direct publicity is planned. Col. Bell has discussed the matter with Brig. Gen. Herbert M. Lord, director of the bureau of the budget, and the two have agreed that the act of Congress requiring estimates to be kept secret until reported to Congress, will not be violated if the estimates of department heads are revealed.

After the estimates have been scanned by the council and the commissioners, the latter will submit their recommendations to the bureau of the budget privately and there will be no further intentional detailed publicity until they reach Congress.

Maj. Donovan said many of the department heads had not yet submitted their estimates and that, after all the figures are in, there will be a week's work in preparing them for the District commissioners.

Peace Resolution Rejected by S. A. R.

Philadelphia, June 8 (By A. P.).—A resolution urging preparedness for peace, and not for war, by instruction in schools and colleges that would lead to the lessening of armaments, and by the spreading of peaceful ideals through family worship, was overwhelmingly rejected today by the national society, Sons of the American Revolution, in session here. The resolution was prepared by the Rev. William C. White, of Washington, D. C.

The congress adopted a resolution providing for the appointment of a national committee to raise $250,000 for the erection of a national headquarters building in Washington. A suggestion by Gen. Josiah A. Van Orsdel, Washington, past president of the society, to admit the full active membership youths of 18, also received favorable action.

Navy Department Will Mark Flag Day

Employes of the Navy Department will hold a Flag day celebration at the east end of the navy building Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Philip Walker presiding.

The Navy band, Chief Chaplain E. W. Scott and Asistant Secretary of the Navy Robinson will participate in the services, the latter giving an address. The salute to the flag and the oath of allegiance will be given by the assemblage and "America the Beautiful," will be sung. In case of inclement weather, exercises will take place in the main lobby of the building.

450-Mile Journey, Seeking Cat, Fails

Warren, Ohio, June 8 (By A. P.).—Two men from Atlanta, Ind., were on their way home today after a futile 450-mile automobile trip here in search of a yellow cat. The men obtained a search warrant here and, with a justice of the peace, searched the home of James E. Stillwell, but failed to find the cat.

The men said Stillwell, on a visit to Atlanta, had admired the cat and they thought he had taken it home with him. Stillwell said he had taken only a passing interest and not the cat. He took the search philosophically.

Coolidge Vacation Waits Congress Halt

(By the Associated Press.)

President Coolidge intends to leave for his summer vacation in the Adirondacks soon after his trip to Philadelphia for the sesquicentennial to July 5, but his plans are dependent upon whether Congress is in session.

Arrangements for the President's visit to Philadelphia were discussed with him yesterday by Mayor Kendrick. Afterward it was said the President would remain there only two or three hours.

Sir Esme's Son Wins Scholarship in U. S.

London, June 8 (By A. P.).—F. P. Howard, of Trinity college, Cambridge, a son of Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador to the United States, has been selected as one of the three students from Cambridge who will attend American universities through the Henry P. Davison scholarship fund. He will go to Harvard.

The others selected are A. MacDonald, of St. Johns college, who will go to Yale, and C. D. G. Nicholson, Jesus college, who will go to Princeton.

Swedish Prince Tells His First Joke in America

New York, June 8 (By A. P.). Gustavus Adolphus, Crown Prince of Sweden, told his first joke in public in America to 700 of the country's financiers and industrial leaders today. He said it had been told to him by Brig. Gen. Stewart at West Point yesterday.

"A beginner was learning golf from a professional," the prince related. "At every stroke the duffer was tearing up big pieces of turf. Finally, with a tremendous effort, he dislodged an unusually big piece of earth.

"'Wait a moment,' said the pro. 'You revoked that time.'

"'What do you mean, revoked?' asked the duffer. 'I'm playing golf, not bridge.'

"'But,' said the pro, 'you should have used a spade that time instead of a club.'"

day for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the substitution for it of "a simple grant of power to the Congress" to deal with the liquor question.

Favors Quebec Plan.

He expressed the hope that, with this done, Congress and the States, through congressional authority, "could establish in this country, in accordance with local sentiment and desires, some such system as prevails in the province of Quebec." He added that this "plan, as a result of the government taking over the sale exclusively of all alcoholic beverages and forbidding the consumption of those beverages upon the premises where sold, does away with the saloon and the private liquor traffic."

Senator Wadsworth's statement took the form of a letter to an unnamed constituent and was made public after the announcement that Franklin W. Cristman, former State senator, had formally accepted the request of the organized dry forces of New York that he be an independent Republican candidate against Senator Wadsworth.

Says Congress Tied.

Declaring it was a "great pity" the eighteenth amendment was ratified, Senator Wadsworth asserted that not only does it "violate the principles of sound constitutional law-making, but that it leads to bitter dissension and widespread disregard for the Constitution." He added that it tied the hands of Congress and the people themselves to a very great extent, depriving them of an opportunity to solve this problem by statutory enactments justified by experience and public opinion.

Senator Wadsworth also declared for a modification of the Volstead act to permit of the manufacture and sale of beverages nonintoxicating in fact, but he said he did not believe this would "solve the problem permanently."

VISCOUNT WILLINGDON WILL GOVERN CANADA

Accepts Appointment to Take Office Now Occupied by Baron Byng of Vimy.

London, June 8 (By A. P.).—Viscount Willingdon, of Ratton, has accepted appointment as governor general of Canada to succeed Baron Byng, of Vimy, whose term expires next month.

Freeman Freeman-Thomas, who was created first Baron Willingdon of Ratton in 1910, was made viscount in 1924. He was born September 12, 1866, of an old Sussex family. His father was Frederick Freeman-Thomas and his mother the daughter of the first Viscount Hampden, a former speaker of the house of commons.

He is a liberal, but has never been very active in politics. He served as member of parliament from Hastings from 1900 to 1906, however, and for the Bodmin division of Cornwall from 1906 to 1910.

He was junior lord of the treasury from 1905 to 1912, governor of Bombay from 1913 to 1919, and governor of Madras from 1919 to 1924. At present he is in China in connection with the British government's plan for disposition of the boxer indemnities.

spection and survey, has been selected to relieve Vice Admiral Roger Welles as commander of the naval forces in Europe, with the rank of vice admiral, about October.

Vice Admiral J. S. McKean will be assigned as commandant of the Eleventh naval and naval operating base, San Diego.

Rear Admiral Chase is to be assigned to command of battleship division 4 of the battle eet.

Overman Maintains Lead Over Reynolds

Raleigh, N. C., June 8 (By A. P.).—With 1,320 precincts reported out of 1,717 in the State, Lee S. Overman was maintaining his lead for the Democratic nomination as senator over Robert R. Reynolds today. The vote stood: Overman, 106,546; Reynolds, 69,610.

This represented returns from 78 counties and complete returns from 48 counties of the 100 in the State. Of these Overman had carried 34, while Reynolds led in 14.

FAGA TODAY TO KNOW DECISION ON CHARGES

Court-Martial Findings Will Be Disclosed to Marine Officer.

SEVERAL SPECIFICATIONS

Lieut. William H. Faga, marine corps, who for the last ten weeks has faced a court-martial at the navy yard on charges of desertion, conduct unbecoming an officer and prejudicial to the service, embezzlement, and permitting an enlisted man to have access to government stores, will know his fate this morning.

If he is acquitted, the court-martial will announce it; if convicted, it will be silent and the accused officer may not know the extent of his punishment, which might result in dismissal from the service, for weeks. The findings of the court will go their way through various offices of the marine corps and Navy Department until Secretary of the Navy Wilbur announces what they are.

The closing argument was offered yesterday by Capt. T. T. Taylor, U. S. M. C., judge advocate, and Lucien H. Vandoren, civilian counsel for Faga, who went on trial March 30. The arrest and charges against Faga followed his disappearance from the marine barracks at Annapolis, where he was storekeeper. He gave himself up last November. The court-martial was composed of Commander John B. Rhodes, U. S. N., president; Majs. Joseph A. Rossell and Sidney S. Lee, U. S. M. C.; Lieut. Comdr. H. L. Merring and Norman C. Gillette, U. S. N.; Capt. Richard H. Jeschke, U. S. M. C.; Leighton Wood, U. S. N.; Lieut. Rihcard D. Micou, U. S. M. C., and Lieut. Norman C. McDonald, U. S. N. William J. Hughes, jr., and Lieut. Victor Cherbonnier assisted in the defense and Lieut. A. W. L. Gordon was the assistant trial judge advocate.

Bankers Get Special Car for Convention

A distinct innovation in the method of reaching the annual convention of the District Bankers association, which will be held at Hot Springs, Va., June 17 to 20, has been fostered by Robert N. Harper, president of the District National Bank. Mr. Harper has arranged for a special car to be attached to the regular Chesapeake & Ohio train leaving Washington at 2 p. m., Wednesday, June 16, the day preceding the convention, and arriving at its destination at 9:30 p. m. of the same day.

Those who will make the trip by the "Harper special," are Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Moran, Mr. and Mrs. Percy McGlue, Mr. and Mrs. Hilleary L. Offutt, jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter K. Bachrach, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Morse, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Maury, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Slaughter, Mrs. B. F. Iden, Miss Maury, Mrs. Lucy Clark, Mrs. N. K. Fleming, I. A. Fleming, B. L. Colton, Sidney West, F. J. Groom, A. M. Fisher, Joseph Schiavone, persident of the International Exchange Bank, and Ralph P. Barnard.

SENATE CONFIRMS TAX BOARD MEMBERS

Resolution Against Naming of Revenue Bureau Workers Adopted.

(By Associated Press.)

The Senate yesterday finally confirmed the nominations of 16 members of the board of tax appeals made last month by President Coolidge.

The board, which went out of existence by reason of the failure of the Senate to act by June 1, now will be able to organize and resume its functions.

Senate opposition was based on the appointment of three members who were employes of the internal revenue bureau at the time of their selection. Preparatory to the action yesterday the Senate adopted a resolution by Senator Glass (Democat), Virginia, declaring it to be the sense of that branch of Congress that hereafter no person who has been an employe of the revenue bureau could be appointed to the board until two years after the termination of such employment.

House Drops Inquiry Into Election Charge

(By the Associated Press.)

The contest carried on for a year and a half by Warren W. Bailey (Democrat), of Johnstown, Pa., for the seat in the House of Representative Walters, Republican, neared its conclusion yesterday with the adoption by an elections committee of an unanimous recommendation that the contest be thrown out and Walters retain his seat.

Bailey, who charged irregularities and fraud in connection with the 1924 election when he opposed Walters at the polls, gained on the committee count only 12 votes toward wiping out Walters' majority of 63. The committee recounted and investigated ballots in three contested precincts, but decided not to examine those cast in the entire district.

Mine Session Fails; British Restrict Coal

London, June 8 (By A. P.).—Representatives of the mine owners and the miners held a protracted meeting here today but failed to arrive at any agreement to end the long coal tie-up.

The necessity for conserving coal because of the prolongation of the miners' strike brought another restrictive order from the govenrment today, prohibiting the use of coal by pleasure boats or steamers plying on rivers, canals and lakes in Great Britain unless a permit is obtained. Public ferryboats are exempted.

LEADERS SEE REBUKE IN IOWA PRIMARY

publicans, he said, admitted that the tariff was partly responsible. There was a tendency, he said, for the farmers to join with the Democrats and break down the tariff wall.

Mr. Steck spoke briefly, reading from manuscript in a well-modulated voice. The farmer sells in competition with the world, he said, and is forced to buy in a protected market. The tariff, he added, was of no benefit to the farmer.

Senator Harrison followed Mr. Steck. He began his characteristic political tirade by quoting a newspaper dispatch of Monday afternoon saying that Coolidge was the sole issue in Iowa.

"Brookhart opposed Coolidge on must everything," the senator said. "The sole issue was support of the President. Then this morning we read the startling news from Iowa that Brookhart has carried the State by anywhere from 42,000 to 70,000 votes.

"The procession moves along. This has been a very exceptional year. Strange things have happened. The political season has found much game quite plentiful, and the marksmen have been very successful in bagging a good supply."

Senator Harrison declared that "Stand by Coolidge" was the issue in Pennsylvania, Illinois, Oregon and Iowa, where Senators Pepper, McKinley, Stanfield and Cummins, respectively, were defeated.

Says Chamber Like Funeral.

"No wonder the Senate chamber this morning appears like a funeral," he said. "All we need is some crepe and flowers around here.

"The only reason why they went down to defeat was that they clung to Cal and stood by Andy too long and too much. There is McKinley, popular with everybody. Because he clung to Cal and stood by Andy the voters of Illinois defeated him at the polls. Here is Pepper, from Pennsylvania. He clung to Cal and stood by Andy and went down with his banner. This situation does not pertain to any particular State or section. You find it in the East, middle West and out on the Pacific coast.

"There is Bob Stanfield. He stood by the President on every vote. He has been subservient to the administration on everything. Yet in a race among six fellows he came out second or third best. Standing by Andy and clinging to Cal is not popular out in the far West.

"There is Cummins, of Iowa. He was second to the President of the United States in holding office. He has been honored by his constituents as governor and senator, term after term. Because he stands by the President, although he gets off a little bit on this farm question, he is repudiated at the polls.

Clashes with Watson.

"Republicans who have come up for renomination and reelection have asked for indorsement and have received in its stead a rebuke and a repudiation. Those who have rebuffed the administration have received at the hands of the people a reward in their election. About the only Republican senator who has been able to squeeze through for his nomination was Senator Watson, of Indiana, and it was not by clinging to Cal. He saw that that was a little dangerous, so he began clinging to himself or somebody else, and now he has landed by clinging to the Vice President."

Senator Harrison had reference to the fact that Senator Watson and Vice President Dawes have been assuming leadership in endeavoring to expedite farm relief legislation by the framing of a suitable bill.

After reading the roll call of those Republican senators who had voted for the seating of former Senator Truman H. Newberry, of Michigan, Senator Harrison said:

"Senator Watson will hear from it this fall."

"I have already heard from it," retorted Senator Watson.

"The senator has not come before the voters of Indiana since he cast that vote," returned Senator Harrison.

"Yes, I have, replied Mr. Watson.

"The senator went before the Republicans, of course," conceded Senator Harrison.

"That's all there are of any consequence in Indiana," replied Senator Watson, amid laughter. Senator Watson then added emphatically that he believed the charges against Newberry were unfounded and he declared that if he had to do it over again he would vote precisely as he did.

BANK ESSAY CONTEST IS WON BY L. T. SAVAGE

Frank W. Perley Granted Second and Rafael Del C. Calvo Third Award.

LOCAL STOCKS INACTIVE

By F. W. PATTERSON.

L. T. Savage, of the American Security & Trust Co., was yesterday named winner of the annual essay contest conducted by the District Bankers association for members of the Washington chapter, American Institute of Banking. Frank M. Perley, American Security & Trust Co., was selected for second place, and Rafael Del C. Calvo, Liberty National Bank, was chosen for the third prize.

The subject on which some 25 contestants wrote was "Suggestions for Improving Systems and Practices in Any Department of a Bank or Trust Company," and papers were limited to 2,000 words.

Under the method of judging essays those chosen to select the winning papers were in ignorance of the name of any contestant submitting a paper. The papers were first submitted to Francis G. Addison, jr., president of the association, who removed all marks of identification and placed a number on each paper offered, so that the awards were made by number and the name later supplied by Mr. Addison.

The judges of the contest were George O. Walson, president of the Liberty National Bank; C. H. Pope, vice president, Munsey Trust Co., and Maurice Otterback, president of the Anacostia Bank. In speaking of the essays yesterday the judges asserted that throughout the entire list they were unusually interesting and of such exceptional caliber that a final selection was extremely difficult.

The three members of the Washington chapter who were placed one, two, three in the contest will receive as a reward for their efforts a trip to the convention of District bankers at Hot Springs, Va., June 17 to 20, the expenses of the trip to be borne by the institution with which they are associated. They will also be presented to the bankers at the second day's session, at which time they will read their papers, to be followed by a discussion of the subject conducted by Mr. Addison.

Bank Declares 4 Per Cent.

Directors of the Bank of Commerce & Savings have declared the regular semiannual dividend of 4 per cent, payable July 1 to stockholders of record June 20.

The changes and improvements which are now progressing rapidly on the home of the institution at Seventh and E streets northwest will alter the entire appearance of this already handsome banking room, but the chief improvement will be noted in the exterior, which is being altered on both streets. Changes being made will add 7 feet to the frontage, and with new construction of Indiana limestone on both streets as far as the second floor the building will be one of the imposing sites on Seventh street below F street. The interior is being entirely remodeled, and with addition of a mezzanine floor, cages will be relocated and fixtures of metal and glass added will make this one of the best equipped of the city's savings banks.

The work, which will cost approximately $100,000, is under direction of Milburn, Heister & Co., local architects, and it is expected that improvements will be completed early in October.

Officers and directors of this progressive institution are: Maurice D. Rosenberg, president; Joseph Sanders, W. A. Bennett, Irvin Owings, vice presidents; Joseph H. Milans, secretary; Dr. Clarence A. Weaver, auditor; Alexander Wolf, general counsel; John M. Riordon, cashier, upon whose shoulders much of the executive work of the institution falls, and Frank Owings, assistant cashier. With the senior officers, the directorate consists of Ross P. Andrews, Louis Bush, A. Brylawski, Floyd E. Davis, R. L. Elliott, Elie Sheetz, C. E. Edwards, Albert S. Gatley, G. A. Kneesel, M. A. Leese, Harry E. Mayer and John F. Maury.

Officers Elected by Bank.

Trustees of the East Washington Savings Bank held their organization meeting yesterday and reelected the following to administer affairs of the institution for the ensuing year: John C. Yost, president; Samuel H. Walker and Lewis Flemer, vice presidents, and Charles A. McCarthy, secretary-treasurer.

Local Trading Restricted.

Quite unlike the session of Monday, when there was a good spread through the local list, yesterday's trading on the Washington Stock Exchange was restricted to a few issues only with firm prices prevailing.

Potomac Electric Power preferred continued its upward trend and opened with an overnight gain of ¼ point, 10 shares selling at 107¾, and advanced on next and final transaction to 108. The shares were marked up at close 107⅞ bid and 108½ asked. Capital Traction was a ¼ point easier, with 25 shares changing hands at 103¼.

Merchants Transfer & Storage preferred opened with a ½ point gain, 15 shares moving at 100½, and on a turnover of 10 more shares picked up to 101. Peoples Drug Stores preferred was easier, selling from 102 down to 101 on sales involving 24 shares.

The bond mart was entirely neglected in so far as sales were concerned, although there were numerous offers on favorite issues at strong prices.

Last Call for Convention.

The last call for the District bankers' convention was issued yesterday by W. W. Spaid, chairman of the general convention committee. The outstanding paragraph in the call to bankers was that reservations were coming in at such a pace as would indicate that under the present arrangement for transportation on the all-Pullman Chesapeake & Ohio bankers' special requests for reservations received later than Saturday will present a difficult problem for Hilleary G. Hoskinson, chairman of the transportation committee.

Mr. Hoskinson reported that up to last night 201 reservations had been filed, which is ahead of the number for the same period last year and indicates that the convention this year will be attended by a number well in excess of last year. Frederick P. H. Siddons, secretary of the American Security & Trust Co., chairman of the publicity committee, who has prepared literature for the various calls issued as well as seeing that the convention plans were presented to the financial district in such way as would arouse enthusiasm, should feel that his labors have not been in vain, for the returns to all committees indicate that the convention which begins next week will surpass in point of attendance any gathering of local bankers that has gone before.

Bankers Luncheon Today.

The weekly forum luncheon of the association will be held today at the City club, beginning at 12:45 p. m. While there are several matters of importance that should be discussed, it is hardly likely that any subject will be brought up that will displace plans for the approaching convention, according to Mr. Addison.

Highly Temperamental Bull Market Predicted

By S. S. FONTAINE.

New York, June 8.—While he expects the stock market to be a bit cautious, if not timid, as the shadow of the tax man casts its quarterly silhouette on the financial screen this coming mid-month, A. G. Boesel investment guide, anticipates a highly temperamental and discriminating bull market later on, and gives herewith some excellent advice as to how to make best selection for the strong box. Says he:

"Stock market averages reached a new high today since the March break. The rise had been felt by professionals, who thought that the previous high would not be bettered. When stocks went through the previous high there was a marked increase in participation. It should not be forgotten that a large part of the buying power emanated from the shorts. We are now facing the June 15 income tax payments and a consequent heavy shifting of funds in all parts of the country. It would be logical to expect a slowing up of the speculative pace until this tax date is bridged. Some large market operations which have been carefully planned are awaiting the passing of this date.

"The next phase of the market will be far more selective than the earlier phases of the bull market of 1925 proved to be. There is every reason for optimism in the rail group, for instance. Likewise, there is very good reason of optimism in the oils. The same applies with special emphasis to the good electric refrigeration and electric equipment shares. On the other hand, there is no good reason why a long list of stocks which shared in the last big advance should not be singled out for bullish activity. You are very apt to see a big market in a few selected issues and a very indifferent and probably even a weak market in a great many issues not favorably affected by known trade conditions.

"A conservative thing to do at the present time is to go through your list of holdings and sell those which have no logical reason for advancing and then substitute stocks which have a logical reason for advancing. The big drain which started late last February carried practically everything down in the hurry of forced liquidation. What you are now witnessing is the effect of accumulation of selected issues which logically have been singled out for bear attack. On any weakness which may develop between now and June 15, income tax date, we would buy selected issues among the rails, oils and electric refrigeration. We would also include selected specialties representing companies which manufacture labor saving and fuel economy devices.

"Considering investments, whether for speculation or for permanent investment, always bear in mind the following:

* * * *

"Is the capitalization excessive?

"Can the fixed charges be earned in a year of depression with ample margain to spare?

"Is the market broad enough to warrant expansion?

"Does the stock have voting privileges?

Insurance companies in the United States are becoming a more and more important factor in the financing and development of the business of the country, according to Dominick & Dominick, members of the New York Stock Exchange. For the first quarter of 1926 life insurance companies reported an increase of 6 per cent in volume of business over the same period of 1925, which accordingly means more funds available to insurance companies for investments.

Investments of 297 life insurance companies for 1924 show the tremendous volume and scope of their activities. These companies owned $238,652,544 worth of real estate and had invested $4,174,768,771 in mortgages. A slightly smaller sum, $4,049,231,785, was invested in bonds and $48,644,006 in stocks. Collateral loans were made to the extent of $18,093 039.

COUNTESS CATHCART AMERICAN'S FIANCEE

Gideon Boissevain Quoted by London Paper as Saying They Have the Ring.

London, June 8 (By A. P.).—Vera, Countess Cathcart, and Gideon Boissevain, of a Dutch-American banking family, the Daily Graphic asserts, are engaged to be married.

The Graphic quotes Mr. Boissevain as saying in an interview:

"We have already got the engagement ring, and the marriage takes place next week."

The Graphic also quotes Countess Cathcart as saying:

"Although my fiance looks so English, he is really an American. So I shall be an American, too."

Boissevain is 25 years old and well known in English society, the paper adds, and has often been described as the best dressed young man in London. Vera's supposed betrothal to Ralph Neale, English playwright, is mentioned by the Graphic, but without explanation.

House Vote Favors Welcome for Byrd

(By the Associated Press.)

The House yesterday adopted and sent to the Senate a resolution calling for a congressional committee to welcome back to the United States Lieut. Comdr. Byrd, the first man to fly to the north pole.

The committee, to consist of five senators and five representatives, would convey to the American explorer the congratulations of Congress.

Officers Nominated By Potomac Bakers

Norfolk, Va., June 8 (By A. P.).—The Potomac States Bakers association, comprising five States and the District of Columbia, in eleventh annual convention at Virginia Beach, today nominated the following officers without opposition: J. W. Lloyd, of Martinsburg, W. Va., present vice president, president; G. W. Phillips, of Salisbury, Md., vice president; J. W. Stohlman, of Washington, D. C., treasurer, to succeed himself, and H. R. Thomas, of Baltimore, secretary, to succeed J. H. Wolridge, of Washington, who resigned after a number of years of service.

J. W. Tawes, of Crisfield, Md., was named as a member of the executive board to take the place of Mr. Phillips, who will become vice president.

BETHLEHEM STEEL WILL RETIRE BONDS

Grace Announces Plan to Save $140,000 a Year in Interest Charges.

New York, June 8 (By A. P.).—Plans for further improving the financial structure of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation were outlined today by President E. G. Grace, in the announcement that all of the company's outstanding 7 per cent bonds, amounting to about $12,000,000, would be retired through the sale of a $10,000,000 issue of 5 per cent notes. The balance required for redemption will be provided out of current earnings.

A banking syndicate, headed by the Guaranty Co., of New York, will market the new issue in equal instalments maturing over a period of three to six years at prices to yield 4⅜ to 5⅛ per cent. The proceeds will be used in part to retire $11,000,000 7 per cent marine equipment trust certificates and $1,000,000 7 per cent equipment notes of the Bethlehem Steel Co.

The operation will save the corporation approximately $140,000 a year in interest charges.

Church to Buy Home of Zachary Taylor

Winchester, Va., June 8.—The homeplace of Gen. Zachary Taylor, twelfth President of the United States, is soon to pass into the hands of trustees of Braddock Street Methodist Episcopal Church South, it was learned here today. The trustees intend to exercise an option within the next two weeks, given by Dabney C. Harrison, Miss Nannie Thomas and Samuel S. Thomas, heirs of Miss Mary Spottswood Buchanan, who owned the property at the time of her death.

A new house of worship will be built by the congregation. The two-story brick colonial dwelling is one of the landmarks of North Braddock street. It was occupied for a long time by Gen. Taylor before he became President.

FURIOUS MAN SHOOTS 4 IN A BEAUTY SHOP

Opens Fire on Women When His Wife Refuses Divorce, Then Kills Self.

New York, June 8 (By A. P.).—A rain of bullets wounded four women and sent a score of others scurrying for safety in the small confines of an East Fourteenth street beauty parlor today when John Olason, a cook, fired an automatic pistol at them and then killed himself.

The shooting was provoked by the refusal of Mrs. Mary Olason, one of the women who was shot, to divorce Olason. She was employed in the parlor where Olason went and demanded his freedom. After her refusal to consent to divorce, the enraged man left to return in a few minutes. Without warning he began firing. Women fled through the place, several of those not hit gaining safety by jumping from a window.

Police reserves were needed to quiet the throngs attracted by the ambulances and turmoil. Those shot were Mrs. Mary Olason, the wife; Mme. Marie Floretti, owner of the beauty parlor; Mrs. Katherine Bentsaino, her mother, and Miss Marie Tanzer. Mrs. Olason and Miss Tanzer are in a critical condition.

Gertrude Olmstead a Bride.

LABOR MAY WALK OUT TO END UNSAVORY FILMS

A. F. of L. Organizer Threatens to Withdraw Men When Such Plays Are Shown.

HAYS LUNCHEON AMAZED

New York, June 8 (By A. P.).—Labor today warned the movies to mend their ways.

At a testimonial luncheon for Will H. Hays, motion picture czar, Hugh Frayne, national organizer of the American Federation of Labor, announced that his organization would refuse employment in "unsavory" productions.

"If the time has come," said the labor leader, "when all that is necessary to secure a job in the films and be booked as a great actress is to commit a crime, then we are putting a premium on the commission of crime. I have raised a protest against undesirable women exploiting their scandals in motion pictures and have emphasized this protest by asking our people not to work where contracts are offered for such purposes. There is a large field for clean pictures free from taint of any kind."

Referring to ticket "scalping" Mr. Frayne said: "If we can find no other way to stop it, we will enforce our objections by having our people refuse to work in theaters where practices of that sort are countenanced." He said very often the public is turned away from a box office, where they are told the theater is sold out, to find a "scalper" next door selling tickets at advanced prices.

WALL STREET GOSSIP

New York, June 8 (By A. P.).—Steel ingot production by all companies in the United States in May is calculated at 3,945,336 tons by the American Iron & Steel Institute, compared with 4,123,941 tons the month before, and 3,454,971 in May last year. February was the only other month this year with a smaller output, 3,381,776 tons. Approximate daily production in May was 151,744 tons for 28 working days, at 84.27 per cent of operation, which is based on the "theoretical capacity" of 56,000,000 gross tons as of December 31, 1925.

The annual report of the Managers Securities Co. for the year ended April 15 states that the amount earned under its contract with General Motors Corporation was $4,635,535, with a balance of $4,002,306 after Federal taxes, out of which $480,000 in dividends was paid. Balance of $3,522,306 was credited to class "A" surplus.

Dividends received and interest earned for the year aggregated $6,903,176. After deducting dividends paid on preferred stock, interest, &c., a balance of $5,325,448 remained, representing the amount accrued for the benefit of Class A stock and credited to Class B surplus. Holdings of General Motors common stock, previously carried at original cost of $60 a share, have been reappraised to reflect the net asset value of this stock on General Motors Corporation's books at the close of 1925, which is $73.96 a share. Alfred P. Sloan, jr., president of Managers Securities, emphasized the profit from appreciation of the market value of General Motors common stock in its treasury, which exceeds $36,000,000 in three years.

Large railroad equipment orders were reported today. The Baltimore & Ohio placed 1,000 box cars equally between Bethlehem Steel and Standard Steel Car. Central Railroad of New Jersey divided 1,000 box cars between the same two companies and American Car & Foundry. The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western gave orders for 400 70-ton all-steel coal cars to American Car & Foundry, also 300 box cars, and to the Magor Car Co. 200 box cars. The Tennessee Central bought 275 freight cars from Pressed Steel Car Co.

Walter Leigh, president of American Beet Sugar Co., told stockholders at the annual meeting he estimated the company's production this season at between 1,500,000 and 1,600,000 bags, against an out-turn of 1,313,000 bags last year. The gain would be made despite smaller acreage, he said, the decline being chiefly in California.

Bayard Says Citizens May Fire on "Drys"

Baltimore, Md., June 8 (By A. P.).—Shooting by prohibition agents on suspicion justifies return of the fire by citizens, United States Senator Bayard, of Delaware, told Prohibition Director Edmund Budnitz, in a letter today. Senator Bayard had asked for a report on the action of a prohibition agent in opening fire on Harrison B. Collins, Delaware farmer, on May 25. Collins reported his automobile was pierced by two bullets when he failed to halt for the agent and two policemen, whom he said he did not know. Budnitz replied that his men believed Collins to be a bootlegger.

The shooting was an "outrage," Senator Bayard declared, adding that he knew of no law justifying the use of firearms by "dry" agents to halt persons to whom they are unknown.

STEEL COMMON'S GAIN MARKS BROAD UPSWING

SOME RAILS ARE STRONG

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, June 8.—With buying of Steel common the feature, prices rose buoyantly on the New York Stock Exchange today and dealings widened to a volume approaching 1,750,000 shares. The top of the rise was sacrificed to profit-taking, but good gains were generally held.

The market ignored the political significance, if any, of the Iowa primary election result, and centered an optimistic eye upon the Treasury's position. The department's totally unexpected announcement that no government borrowing would be necessary during June in order to finance the usual quarterly settlements, came as a pleasant surprise to the financial district and to the public. This is the first time the government has been able to handle its periodic needs without resort to new flotations and the significance here, which was quickly taken into consideration, was that, with unemployment of funds which otherwise would have found their way into the government's short term issues, these funds must flow into other securities.

Dealings in Steel common fell but little under the 200,000 share mark, a tremendous turnover for the old leader, even in these piping days of prosperity, and the quotation ran up 3¾ points to 131¼, the stock closing firmly on the peak, at the highest quotation since the March break. Wall street laid the rise to rumors that large financial interests expected the steel industry to surpass earlier expectations for the latter half of the year. Rumors, too, of an impending change in the Steel Corporation's management added zest to the speculative appetite.

Other steels followed the leader, Gulf States rising 1⅛, Inland gaining ½, Crucible holding 1¼ of its gain and Bethlehem being well bought, though it did nothing much in a price movement sense.

Movements in other groups were somewhat mixed. The New York local tractions resumed their rise in the early afternoon, with Interborough Rapid Transit, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit and Manhattan modified guaranteed issues rising.

The oil shares had moments of unusual activity. Motors were irregular. General Motors was bid up about a point but fell away for a fractional loss. The company sold more cars in April in the metropolitan district than any other manufacturer, not excluding the Ford company. Hudson was heavy, losing 2 points, but Willys Overland, on a large business, was advanced for a time. One reason for the hesitation in this department was revealed on the close when the Hudson Motor Co. announced a cut in car prices.

The so-called Walters stocks featured the railroad division. Atlantic Coast Line advanced above 202 and held 1¾ net gain, while Louisville & Nashville, its relative company, held 2 points net advance. The demand gave rise to revival of rumors that a consolidation plan was being worked upon.

There were other strong spots. N. & W. was advanced about 2 points, but profit taking wiped out all but a fractional gain; Delaware, Lackawanna & Western likewise rose 1½ points, holding only the fraction. Delaware & Hudson declined 1¾. Stocks of Southwestern roads with merger possibilities also were active, notably Rock Island. The market for St. Paul issues was stronger than it had been in some time.

A fresh slump in French francs below the 3 cent level to a new low quotation for the movement, was the feature of the foreign exchange market. However, they rallied to 3.03½ cents. Sterling was firmer and Norwegian kroner soared to 22.30 cents, a new high rate for the year. Brazilian milreis rose to 15.60 cents, the peak for this year.

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, June 8 (By the Associated Press).—A sharp upturn in prices accompanied the expanding volume of trading in today's curb market. Bullish sentiment was created by the announcement that no new Treasury financing would be necessary this quarter, by the prospect of easier money rates and by indications of a stronger underlying investment demand from high-grade issues.

Oils pointed upward, but the buying lacked vigor. Humble responded to the declaration of an extra dividend by climbing 1¼ points, to 65½. Most of the other active issues showed only fractional changes despite private trade estimates of a decrease in crude oil production last week.

In the industrial list Glen Alden Coal responded to the declaration of a higher dividend by touching 171, but it later fell back to 167, off ¾ net, on profit taking. There was nothing in the day's news to explain the further strength of the baking shares. Continental Baking A soared over 5 points, to 82, and Purity Baking A advanced over 3 points, to 35. Goodyear Tire moved up in sympathy with the rally of the rubber stocks on the "big board," showing a net gain of 1½ at 36½.

Auto shares were irregular, Auburn standing out with an extreme gain of over 2 points. A good demand also was noted for Metropolitan Chain Stores, Stanley Co. of America, Bloomingdale's and Swift International. Trading in the public utilities was quiet. United Gas Improvement reacted over 2 points on profit taking, but the American Superpower issues and Southeastern Power & Light displayed a strong undertone.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, June 8 (By A. P.).—The cotton market was irregular today with fully relatively firm on covering, while new crop positions felt the influence of favorable weather advices and talk of crop progress. July sold up to 18.42 or 17 points net higher, and closed at 18.36, while December, after selling up to 17.42 or 5 points net higher, closed at 17.32, compared with 17.37 at the close yesterday. The general market closed steady at a net advance of 11 points on July, but from 2 to 8 points net lower on October and later deliveries.

The market opened steady at an advance of 1 to 3 points in response to relatively steady cables and a renewal of price fixing or covering by July shorts. Selling developed on the good weather reports and Manchester advices stating that spinners of American cotton in Lancashire were considering the advisability of closing down their mills every other week owing to the coal situation and unsatisfactory state of trade.

Earlier offerings were readily absorbed, however, and the market worked up during mid-day, new crop months showing net advances of 5 to 9 points at the best. There was a good deal of switching from July to later months at widening differences and the strength of the more favorable view of weather and crop conditions.

When demand for July tapered off later in the day, offerings of new crop positions increased and closing prices were the lowest of the day on these deliveries. Final quotations showed a July premium of 96 points over October compared with a difference of only 83 points at the close of the day before and July was selling fully a cent over December.

June 25 will be the first July notice day here and the advance of today was attributed partly to belief that an increased premium might be necessary to attract cotton from the South for delivery.

Port receipts today, 10,920. U. S. port stocks, 815,943. Exports, 11,986, making 7,579,087 so far this season.

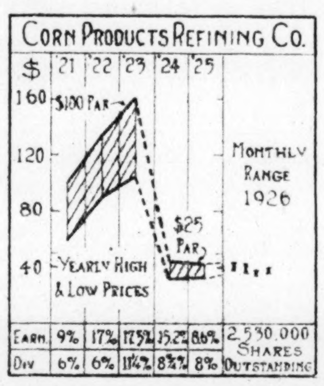
What's Behind Your Stock

Corn Products Refining Company

This well-known corporation, which was founded in 1906 as a consolidation of several companies, is engaged in the production of starch, glucose, corn oil and syrup. Two of its widely-known trade marks are "Karo" and "Mazola." The Corn Products Refining Co. operates manufacturing plants in New Jersey, Illinois and Missouri, these plants being able to handle about 175,000 bushels of corn daily.



The profits of this company during the war years were larger than they have been since. Nevertheless, net earnings have held at a sizable figure since 1921, the best year being 1924 when common stockholders under a change in the capital structure received five shares of stock with a par value of $25 in exchange for each $100 par value share then held. Dividends of 8 per cent were paid on the old common stock in 1920, 1921 and 1922. The new stock has paid $2 a year, which is equivalent to 10 per cent on the old stock. Earnings last year, however, were less than in 1924 by about $3,000,000, but during the first quarter of 1926 earnings amounted to 90 cents per share on the common stock as compared with 53 cents per share in the first three months of 1925.

INDIANS OVERCOME NATS' RALLY IN NINTH TO WIN

Vince Dundee Knocks Out Wiggins

Dencio and Cafoni in Draw; Gallagher Kayoes McFeely.

VINCENT DUNDEE, one of the many Baltimore Dundees of the prize ring, brought an abrupt halt to the local conquests of Willie Wiggins, of Trenton, N. J., with a few score well-directed punches which culminated in the tossing of a towel by Wiggins' seconds in the fifth round of their scheduled twelve-round match, the feature bout of the show at Kenilworth last night which was witnessed by a crowd of 3,000 persons.

The Baltimore welterweight, with right arm cocked throughout the bout, but which took little part in the encounter, impressed upon Wiggins that the fight had really begun in the first round. With Wiggins sparring about with little semblance of any objective, Dundee met him at close quarters with a short right which sent the Jersey man to the floor face downward for a count of nine.

Wiggins apparently never recovered from the surprise or the force of that blow. He proved a willing target for the left jabs of Dundee, and with the exception of the third round, took a deal of punishment. Wiggins' main accomplishment throughout the first three rounds was to rush Dundee to the ropes, caress him with a few well-meant, but feeble crosses, and revert to his former status as a first-class absorber of left jabs.

AFTER the bell had saved Wiggins in the fourth, Dundee set about to end the fight in the fifth. Coming off the ropes he sent Wiggins down for the count of nine. The latter came up gamely enough, stalled about and took a flurry of blows and went to the floor bleeding about the face. At this juncture the seconds humanely tossed in the towel.

The best that Young Dencio could obtain in his fight with Jack Cafoni in the semifinal was a draw. The Filipino piled up a slight lead in the early rounds, which was wiped out by Cafoni in the final three sessions.

In the preliminaries Marty Gallagher scored a technical knockout over Walter McFeely, of Georgetown university, in the fifth round; Jacinto won the decision from Joe Villa in four rounds, and Kid Woodie knocked out Billy Harris in one round.

RAINIERS TO DRILL.

Practice for the Mount Rainier team will be held tomorrow at 5 o'clock.

in the PressBox with Baxter

AN experiment designed to demonstrate which branch of higher education is the greatest aid to baseball, was conducted yesterday in the shadow of the Washington monument. The monument played a perfectly passive part in the proceedings, however, the principals being the faculty of George Washington university and members of the Pyramid, student honor society.

Taking a very academic view of the proceedings it must be acknowledged that the science of engineering is the best qualification. Dean Hugh Miller, representative of the school of engineering on the faculty team, applied the formulae of higher mathematics most successfully to his efforts. If he was up four times he made four hits, but if it so happened that he was up five times he must have made five hits for he hit early and often. The only thing that prevented Dean Miller from making a home run is that his legs will no longer carry him that far without a rest period.

William Mather Lewis, president of George Washington, proved in the course of the afternoon to be a man of considerable wisdom. He yielded in the pitcher's box after the fourth inning when the score was tied at 6-all. This enabled him to speak freely during the rest of the game, and afterwards, despite the fact that the Pyramid nine won by a margin of two runs.

The most entertaining feature of the afternoon, however, was the experimental way in which Ottman, of the Pyramids, played the game. It was apparently a delightful mystery to him. He will undoubtedly make his mark as a research worker, for he did his best to fathom the pastimes mysteries. Fortune was with him. He defied all accepted rules at bat and made a hit, and after he got on base almost succeeded in advancing on a foul ball. He should have been caught off second seven times but was not. Young Mr. Ottman must have a future in the game.

THE worst feature of the game probably was the umpiring. This column umpired the game by proxy and this column's umpiring by proxy was no better than its own efforts would have been. The umpire by proxy confessed at the end of the game that the task of retiring 54 men was one that taxed even his ingenuity. The umpire by proxy was, however, an ingenious man.

The estimated score of the proceedings was 14 to 12 in favor of the Pyramids. This is by no means official, as members of both teams insisted that they individually had scored more runs than the combined total. Lacking better evidence

Five Straight Dropped by Johnson

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

CLEVELAND, June 8.—Manager Stanley Harris has just about reached the conclusion the time has come when his veteran pitchers alone are unable to carry the team's mound burden and, if the Nationals are to score their third consecutive American league pennant it will have to be with the aid of some of the youngsters.

Of the quartet of veterans on whose shoulders Harris placed his team's hopes at the beginning of the season, only Walter Johnson has delivered. True, Barney has lost his last five starts, but nevertheless he has turned in well-pitched efforts in most of them, getting the worst of it for the simple reason that his mates got him no runs.

Yesterday, for instance, the Big Train granted but four hits and half of these were scratchy. But one run was coined by the Tigers, but this proved enough to give them the verdict.

BUSH was scheduled to get the assignment today, but Stanley decided to turn the job over to Curley Ogden. Tonight he was doubtful as to whom he would use tomorrow. Had he not used Morrell today, he intimated that he might have given Bill a chance.

The former New Haven flinger has pitched a number of good short shifts this season and Harris is seriously considering starting him shortly. Now it looks as though he will have to give Bush the call.

The fact is that the time is just about ripe for a complete rebuilding of the Washington mound staff. Veteran flingers have given the Nats two pennants and a world's title, but 1926 experiences have shown that new blood—and good new blood—is needed at once or the Harrismen might just as well forget there is such a thing as a pennant and start to work on their 1927 machine.

Indications are that the Harrismen will face nothing but southpaw pitching, if such is available for the balance of this trip. Their failure to make much headway against flingers of fork-hand persuasion has them marked throughout the circuit and their opponents seem to be saving the left-handers for the Nats' special benefit.

And what makes this particularly tough is that Manager Harris has no left-handers he can use in the box during batting practice. Ruether right now is on the shelf and even when he is O. K. he can not be expected to work every fourth or fifth day and do much practice slinging between times.

IN connection with the Dutchman's case it is not known just what progress his ailing wing has made toward rounding to shape. "Slow, but sure," is all Walter could say about it when asked today.

One of Nick Altrock's stunts went better with the fans than it did with the comedian before today's game. While the Indians were taking their batting practice, Nick grabbed a bat, jumped to the plate and just got there in time to collide with one of Buckeye's fast ones. He had to hastily retire to the dressing room for one of Mike Martin's famous treatments.

Faber Bests Grove In Slab Duel, 1 to 0

Chicago, June 8 (By A. P.).—Chicago shut out Philadelphia, 1 to 0, today, in the first game of the series. The game was a pitching battle between Lefty Grove and the veteran Red Faber in which the former weakened in the ninth inning.

Falk started a rally with a single and Barrett and Kamm followed with hits, filling the bases, and on the attempted squeeze play Schalk bunted past third base, sending Falk home with the winning run.

Cuyler Leads Pirates To 4-3 Win Over Robins

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 8 (By A. P.).—Pittsburgh gained an even break in the series with Brooklyn by winning today's game, 4 to 3. Cuyler tripled off McWeeny in the eighth, scoring on a wild throw to the plate by Felix. This tied the score. With two on the bases in the same inning Boehler relieved McWeeny and passed two men, the second time forcing across the winning run.

Grimm's Homer Helps Cubs Beat Giants, 2-1

New York, June 2 (By A. P.).—The New York Giants lost to the Chicago Cubs today, 2 to 1, giving the visitors an even break in the abbreviated series. Charlie Grimm's homer, followed by two passes and Adams' single gave the Cubs their pair of tallies in the second. Young's homer accounted for the Giants' lone run. Root allowed only six hits and chalked up his sixth victory of the season.

Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus and Princess Louise of Sweden were in attendance.

Hank's Error Gives Tribe Victory

Washington Ties Score With Pair in the Last Session.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 8.—Washington snatched a ball game out of the fire here today in a timely ninth-inning rally only to toss it away again in the lower half of the frame. The final score was Cleveland, 5; Washington, 4, the defeat sending the Harrismen skidding down to fifth place.

Emil Levsen drew the Indian mound assignment and went the route, allowing but nine hits, which were kept fairly well scattered. A cluster of three extra-base blows gave the Nats two of their runs in the fifth, while a miscue by the usually reliable Speaker helped the Harrismen knot the count in the final frame.

Curley Ogden, Bill Morrell, Alexander Ferguson and Fred Marberry did the flinging for the Harrismen and despite only mediocre work by Ogden, and poor work by Fergy, the Nats might have won but for an excusable error by Severeid which gave the Tribe its winning marker in the final half of round 9, when Hank let Rice's bounding return peg of Burns' fly get away from him. This had the runner beaten by several steps.

THE game was interesting to watch, with the Nats gradually solving Levsen's delivery after having gone hitless for the first three frames. Myer, Rice and Ruel each garnered a brace of hits, while Rice contributed the best catch of the day, taking J. Sewell's knee-high liner after a long run in the fifth.

Ogden was welcomed so warmly by the Indians in their opener that one might have thought he was a member of their tribe just returned from a long journey. Summa greeted him with a single, took second on Lancys sacrifice, and counted on J. Sewell's double. When Burns followed with another of the same proportions, scoring Joe, Harris was just about convinced that the shiek was too popular, but he gave him another chance and he stopped the Cleveland scoring until the fourth.

Two more were rung up in this session, the result of Speaker's double, L. Sewell's intended suicide, on which all hands were safe, Jamieson sacrifice fly, and singles by Lutzke and Levsen.

Meanwhile, the Nats had obtain-

COLLYER FAVORS PRINCE OF WALES AT LATONIA

Punjab Best In Derby at Hamilton

Flying Cloud Favored in Weights of Long Branch Feature.

Pegasus Given Call at Aurora; Mercutio Also Liked.

By BERT E. COLLYER.

PRINCE OF WALES.

Take the rubber off the old B. R. and string with the McLean racer at Latonia today. He is in with a smart field, I admit, but they will have a time catching him with a comparative feather on his back. If anyone gums the works it will probably be ARCADY. Mose Goldblatt recently shelled out 10,000 bucks for this sprinter and this is the kind of a spot that offers him an opportunity to get out.

Who is going to grab BARCOLO in the fifth? If you can answer that question you have the winner.

Over at Hamilton we have the derby. W. J. Salmon's PUNJAB stands head and shoulders above the others. Should it turn muddy string with GAFFMAN.

The new mile track at Long Branch also swings into action with a $2,500 handicap as its big feature. FLYING CLOUD seems to have the best of the weights and I look for a good contest with FLAG OF TRUCE and GOLDEN BILLOWS fighting it out for the place.

The Barrington handicap is the feature at Aurora. PEGASUS has the call here with PILLAGER second and the DURNELL ENTRY third.

MERCUTIO in the sixth, and MISS ROSEDALE in the seventh also appear to be handy winners.

Over at Fairmount I am going to string once more with LUPINE, in the second race. Paid a good price to place the other day. REAP, in the seventh, is another one that looks like peaches and cream to me.

Out Omaha way the boys shoot me BREECHLOADER in the sixth as the candy kid. Lack of space forbids more comment.

WILBUR GETS SPEED BOAT THRILLS

McCormick-Goodhart Craft Get Trial on Potomac.

SECRETARY OF THE NAVY WILBUR got a sample yesterday of just what kind of speed the powerful motorboats that will participate in the President's cup regatta on the Potomac September 18 can do when he took a trial spin down the channel in F. H. McCormick-Goodhart's Silver Heels. After a short spin at moderate speed, Capt. W. E. Carter, skipper of the Silver Heels, "opened her up" and was skimming through the water at a clip of 55 miles an hour.

The Silver Heels is owned by Mr. McCormick-Goodhart, a resident of Langley Park, and will defend Washington's honors in the free-for-all Secretary of the Navy's cup race, which is one of the feature events on the water card the day of the President's cup race.

The Silver Heels was made and designed by Gar Wood, the premier speed launch builder of the United States, and is a duplicate of the Baby Gar, the launch with which Mr. Wood beat the Twentieth Century Limited in a special race from Albany to New York city last fall. Mr. Goodhart's craft is 33 feet long and is equipped with a 450-horsepower engine of the new dry Liberty motor type. Following her spin yesterday Mr. Goodhart sent the speedster to Bar Harbor, Maine, for the summer and will bring it back to Washington about September 1.

CAPT. CARTER declared after yesterday's trial test that he did not have the Silver Heels going at her top speed inasmuch as he did not want to force her too much because she is a brand-new craft and is still somewhat stiff.

Mr. Horace Dodge, of Detroit, in a recent communication with officials of the Corinthian Yacht club, which is sponsoring the regatta, indicated that he would have two, and possibly three, of his speediest boats here for the races. While it is still a bit early for entries, officials of the Corinthian club feel certain that the regatta will take a place among the topnotch affairs of the kind in this country.

CARDINAL INSECTS AHEAD.

BETTLE PEEWEES WIN.

The Bettle Peewees defeated the Navy Yard Peewees yesterday, 14 to 13.

QUINTON INSECTS WIN.

The Quinton Insects defeated the Brown Insects, 13 to 11.

9 AMERICAN PROS OUT FOR NORTH ENGLISH TITLE

Bill Mehlhorn Leads U.S. Golfers

Hagen Disappoints With Card of 82; May Not Qualify.

LIVERPOOL, June 8 (By A. P.).—Turning in a card of 71 for the 18-hole round, William Mehlhorn, of Chicago, American-born and bred player, today came within two strokes of leading an international field of 150 contestants in the first day's play for the English northern professional championship at Formby.

By equaling the course record of 70, George Gadd, of Roehampton, and W. L. Davies, of Prenton, took first place. The qualification test will be completed tomorrow with another 18-hole round. All players within 21 strokes of the leader at the close of the first 6 holes will be eligible to continue in the final two rounds of 18 holes each on Thursday. A prize of 1,000 pounds sterling will go to the low scorer for the complete 72 holes.

An outstanding surprise in today's play was the poor exhibition of the American professional champion, Walter Hagen. His card of 82, if he does no worse tomorrow, may not keep him out of the final 36 holes, unless one of today's leading trio comes within a stroke or two of the record again.

Hagen's score today was bettered by every member of the invading North American team of nine, except young Joe Stein, who tied Walter's mark with an 82.

Scores of the United States professionals follow:

Bill Mehlhorn	37	34—71
Cyril Walker	39	35—74
Jim Barnes	37	38—75
Al Watrous	39	37—76
Joe Kirkwood	38	38—76
Tommy Armour	40	37—77
Emmett French	42	38—80
Walter Hagen	40	42—82
Joe Stein	43	39—82

Mehlhorn might have done even better than he did had not luck been against him on more than one hole. On the first green his 4-foot putt lipped the cup, while he had the same experience on the eighteenth. He did not require more than two strokes on any green.

On the 135-yard sixteenth he almost holed his mashie pitch. On the 381-yard eleventh he holed a 25-yarder for a 3.

ed but two hits off Levsen's slants during this period, a wasted single by Rice and double by Bluege in the fourth, although Lacy's error and a walk in the second, with only one down, made Harris' team look threatening temporarily.

THREE extra base blows in succession, followed by a walk, gave the Champs two markers in the fifth and put the tying runs on the bases, but Levsen then settled down and killed the rally. As a starter, Ruel was credited with a double when L. Sewell and Burns collided. Tate, up for Ogden, tripled Muddy home, scoring on Myer's two-baser to deep center.

The next three Harrismen could help none, however, Rice fouling to Burns and Goslin and Judge hoisting to Summa. Then followed four scoreless frames for both teams, Morrell, who relieved Ogden, holding the Indians down to three hits, one of which was mighty flukey.

Just as most of the fans were starting for the runways on their way home, the Nats knotted the count on a two-run rally in the ninth. An error by Speaker helped turn the trick, it being a muff of Pinch-hitter Ruether's near Texas leaguer, following a walk to Ruel. McNeely and Stewart were put on the sacks as substitute runners, one scoring as the result of two useful outs, while Rice's single propelled the other across the registering station.

All this proved to be just so much lost motion, however, for the Indians took the decision in their half. Ferguson, on the hill, was most ineffective. Levsen greeted him with a double down the third-base line and gave way to Knode on the paths. After Summa had popped to Myer, while trying to sacrifice, McNulty, up for Lacy, walked, and when Alex's first two offerings to J. Sewell were balls, Marberry took up the hurling and completed what Fergy started, passing the alien shortstop and filling the sacks. Burns then lofted weakly to right, and Rice's peg home had Knode beaten, but the ball got away from Severeid.

Golf AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Should a beginner who is naturally left-handed try to play right-handed or should he stick to his natural tendency?

By WILLIE OGG,
New England Professional and Massachusetts Open Champion.

Players who have been playing the game for some time have been known to shift from right to left and improve. This is the case where baseball players who bat left-handed but throw from the other side are concerned. They started on the left because they batted from the left; but their right-handed throwing showed the natural tendency.

However, changes of this nature should be given careful consideration before they are made. A good game may be ruined in this manner as easily as improved.

HARRIS WILL TRY HIS YOUNG HURLERS

Guy Lacey, former Richmond player, covered second for the Indians today. Spurgeon, the regular middle sacker, is temporarily out, due to getting a piece of coal or something in his eye.

Some of the Cleveland fans gave Myer the razz when he first came to the plate. Speaker gave him a trial last spring, but "Buddie" refused to accept the terms offered and later went to New Orleans, where Engel purchased him for the Harrismen. The Indians probably could use this youngster this season as Lutzke is not a particularly good third sacker and is going rather than coming.

BURNS' double in the first hit Myer's foot so hard that it bounded all the way to deep left field after caroming off the wall back of third.

In the second inning, Burns figured in a peculiar play, making an assist at first and a put out at third on the same play. With two on, Tobin rolled to George who trapped Goslin between third and home, and then hustled over and made the out in the rundown.

Umpire Rowland halted the game in the fourth to journey to left field and, with the aid of a cop, made an over enthusiastic fan quit flashing a sun glass in the eyes of Washington batters.

MISS BROWNE VICTOR AT PARIS

Seems Destined to Meet Mlle. Lenglen in Finals.

PARIS, June 8 (By A. P.).—The United States may have a share in the finals of the women's singles in the hard-court championship after all, despite the sudden illness of Helen Wills, that seemed at first to crush all hopes. Miss Mary K. Browne, captain of the American Wightman cup team, today restored confidence in a measure when she defeated Mrs. L. A. Godfree, the former Kathleen McKane, one of the strongest among the English women players, in straight sets, 7—5, 6—0.

Miss Browne's victory carries her into the semifinals against Mlle. K. Bouman, of Holland, and with what is considered an excellent chance of meeting Suzanne Lenglen in the last bracket. Mlle. Bouman today defeated Mlle. Contoslavos, of France, 6—2, 7—9, 8—6.

Miss Browne shared the honors with Howard Kinsey and Vincent Richards, both of whom won their way into the quarterfinals, Kinsey by defeating the Belgian crack, M. Aslangul, 6—4, 6—0, 6—3, and Richards taking the measure of the sterling young British player, J. C. Gregory, in straight sets, 7—5, 6—3, 6—2.

Navy Tennis Team Loses Close Match

The combined Postoffice and Agriculture tennis teams proved too strong a combination for the Department of the Navy racket team yesterday in an interdepartmental league game and the former left the courts victorious in the match, 3 to 2. All matches played were doubles and three of the five went three sets before decisions were reached, so evenly matched and stubbornly fought were the games.

Bates and McVay (Navy), defeated Stebbins and Aronewsky (Postoffice-Agri.), 6—3, 3—6, 6—3; Richardson and Sperry (Postoffice-Agri.), defeated Holt and Frazer (Navy), 6—2, 4—6, 6—3; Peter and Somercamp (Postoffice-Agri.), defeated Mann and Wood (Navy), 6—4, 6—3; Thompson and Almquist (Postoffice-Agri.), defeated Cummings and Sheldon (Navy), 6—3, 6—4; Haeberle and Rock (Navy), defeated Shearman and Custis (Postoffice-Agri.), 6—3, 3—6, 7—5.

The Sportswoman

By DOROTHY E. GREENE

WITH the first sample of tennis weather which has been served us in nearly two weeks, the District women's tennis championship play started yesterday morning and nine first-round matches were completed on the Fifth and B street courts during the day.

Frances Krukoff defeated Betty Hubbell, 6—0, 6—0; Mrs. Philip Flemming defeated Florence Poston, 6—1, 6—2; Florence Seward defeated Adeline Alexander by default; Cecile Taylor defeated Mary Ryan, 6—2, 6—1; Corinne Frazier defeated Ivy Wymore, 6—1, 6—4; Mrs. Duffy Guilford defeated Elizabeth Shepley, 6—1, 6—2; Ruth Curran defeated Marjorie Wooden, 6—1, 6—2; Mrs. McCutchins defeated Maude Sewall, 6—1, 6—2; and Frances Walker defeated Kathleen Johnson, 6—0, 6—3.

Pairings for today for the matches which will be played on the Fifth and B street courts are:

First round—Beatrice Smith vs. Dorothy Kingsbury, 8 a. m.; Virginia Olmstead vs. Margaret Ryan, 2:30 p. m.; Alice Ewers vs. Helen Sinclair, 2:30 p. m.; Phoebe Moorehead vs. Sally Redd, 3:30 p. m.; Edith Petrie vs. Helen Johnson, 4:30 p. m.; Mary Hall vs. Ruth Martinez, 5:30 p. m.

Second round—Mrs. D. Guilford vs. Ruth Curran, 8:30 a. m.; Cecile Taylor vs. Corinne Frazier, 4:30 p. m.; Mrs. McCutchins vs. winner of Smith-Kingsbury match, 3:30 p. m.

ST. JOSEPH'S WINS.

St. Joseph's school won the initial match of the Plaza Playground league final schlag ball series yesterday, when they nosed out the Blair players by 1 point, the final score being 20 to 19.

The two teams ran neck and neck in each inning, with the final point being scored at the last minute. Miss Frances Groshon is captain of the winning team. The schools will meet again today at 3:45 p. m. at Plaza playground, and if St. Joseph repeats its victory of yesterday the series will be concluded. Should they lose, a third and deciding game will be played for the title.

Members of the church school team are: Frances Groshon, Frances Cockrell, Mary Princippi, Gertrude O. Donahue, Helen Grace, Arleen Morrison, Louise Brew, Regina Lees, Marie Kane and Rufina King.

Errors Help Browns To Beat Red Sox, 6-5

St. Louis, June 8 (By A. P.). Four Boston Red Sox errors helped the St. Louis Browns win today, 6 to 5. Two of the errors came in the first inning as a result of which the Browns were able to stretch three singles into four runs. The Browns also played raggedly, drawing three errors.

Indians Pay Record Price for Boy Hurler

Waco, Tex., June 8 (By A. P.). Willis Hudlin, 19-year-old pitching ace of the Waco baseball club, has been sold to the Cleveland American league team for $25,000 in cash and a pitcher and a shortstop. This was announced here today. The price is said to be the highest ever paid for a Texas league player.

A provision in the sale is that Hudlin must "make good' before all of the cash is paid.

Hudlin will stay with Waco the remainder of this season, but Cleveland will send a shortstop to Waco at once.

CLOVERS NOTICE.

RUTH'S HITS TURN BACK TIGERS

Second Homer Wins Game in 11th Inning, 11 to 9.

DETROIT, June 8 (By A. P.).—Ruth's twentieth and twenty-first home runs of the 1926 season, added to circuit clouts by Pat Collins and Bob Meusel, were factors deciding today's eleven-inning game in favor of New York, 11 to 9.

Detroit, which at one time was six runs behind, climbed into a tie in the ninth on Koenig's error, Cobb's single and Heilmann's sacrifice fly, only to lose in the eleventh when the Babe smashed the ball out of the playing field scoring Gehrig ahead of him.

Ruth's first homer came in the third, also scoring Gehrig, who had doubled.

In the first inning, with Gehrig on second and two out, Ruth was purposely passed, but Meusel hit over the fence to score both of them.

The welcome that the Coast league is giving Paul Strand on his descent from the majors, by way of Columbus, is probably one that Connie Mack's biggest bust would have been willing to omit.

Army Tennis Play Will Start Today

With the Sheridan cup as a reward to the winner, more than 20 officers from different army stations in the Eastern and Southern sectors begin the first round of matches today at the Columbia Country club for the singles tennis championship of the army. Play will continue through tomorrow with the finals being reached Friday afternoon. Today's matches start at 2 o'clock.

Six players drew byes in the first round but will not idle today for the second round will be contested as soon as all of the first round sets are completed. Lieut. R. R. Studler and Capt. Robert Sharrer are the Washington representatives in the tourney.

Braves Lick Reds, 8-7, In 11 Frames; 4 in Row

Boston, June 8 (By A. P.).—The Braves made it four straight over the Cincinnati Reds by nosing out the visitors, 8 to 7, in an eleven inning encounter today. High's single, followed by J. Taylor's double, produced the winning run.

MORE ENTER COLUMBIA TOURNEY

Huge Field Will Get Off Today in Club Title Play.

WITH the arrival of a large number of out-of-town participants in the Columbia Country club invitation tournament, which opens at 8 o'clock this morning with a qualification round of 178 players for the first installment of contestants, and with local competitors playing practice rounds, the course of the club was crowded yesterday. The fairways are in excellent condition and the greens are also satisfactory, with the exception that the new greens on the fourteenth and eighteenth holes are fast for downhill putts.

When the entry list closed Monday night 320 names were paired, but additional entries received yesterday brought the list up to an aggregate of nearly 340. Arrangements were made, however, to pair all of the postentrants.

The golf committee announced last night that instead of United States Golf association rules, the club would apply a local rule for lost balls and ball out of bounds, the penalty being loss of distance only, and not loss of both stroke and distance.

IN answer to many inquiries made yesterday it may be stated that last year there were exactly sixteen players with scores of 81 and under to qualify in the first flight, and that 91 was the highest figure to qualify in the sixth sixteen.

With the large field of good golfers that has entered and with the course in fine condition, it is quite possible that 81s will play off tomorrow afternoon for positions in the first sixteen, and it is hardly likely that contestants with cards over 92 will be able to find a place even in the sixth sixteen. Some optimistic golfers were confident yesterday that a card of 95 would qualify.

Cherrydale to Play Comforters Sunday

Cherrydale, which has been going at top speed of late, will encounter the Comforter club nine, under the wing of Jack Harrington, on the Lyon Village field Sunday. Cherrydale players will report for practice Saturday at 3:30 o'clock. Games with the Knicks, Chevy Chase and Harps are being sought by the Cherries.

PIGEON IS FOUND.

A pigeon bearing bands with the marks "MCCA 1925, B-6009" and "No. 9129," flew into an office in Lynchburg, Va., last Monday. R. M. Taliaferro, who has the bird, may be reached at box 135, Lynchburg, Va.

UNLIMITED WILL HAVE SERIES

District, Virginia and Maryland Nines to Meet This Week.

WITH The Washington Post ready to give cups to the winners, District, Maryland and Virginia unlimited teams will make plans for championship series in their sections at meetings of the clubs to be held at The Washington Post building tomorrow, Friday and Saturday nights.

Northern Virginia teams will hold the first meeting tomorrow night at 8 o'clock; nearby Maryland clubs will gather at the same hour Friday, while District nines will answer the call Saturday.

The move is in keeping with the desire of the unlimited teams for organized competition and the means of declaring championship clubs under their own rules in a manner satisfactory to all concerned.

In order that a play-off can be made of the three section champs, rules in each division will be made as identical as possible.

EFFORTS will be made to form a league composed entirely of Prince Georges county teams, which include Mount Rainier, Marlboro, Seat Pleasant, Maryland A. C., Bradbury Heights and Capitol Heights.

Another section of the Maryland series will include teams outside of that county. All Maryland unlimited teams are invited to have a representative present.

The Virginia series is assured of the entries of Cherrydale, Arlington and Addison. There are a number of other strong teams in that section which are interested in the organizing of a league that will send their managers to the meeting.

This season has developed a number of strong teams in the District able to give the 1925 champion Knickerbockers and the Shamrocks, twice flag winners and runners-up last year, a battle for the local unlimited championship.

Playing independent ball, it would be virtually impossible to declare a real champion, and a titular series is the objective of practically all teams.

GOOD BUYING DEVELOPS IN INVESTMENT BONDS

Libertys and Other High-Grade Issues Gain Sharply; Few Spots Heavy.

GERMAN LOANS STRONG

New York, June 8 (By the Associated Press).—The strength of high-grade investments and a revival of interest in new financing today contrasted with the selling of semispeculative issues in an active bond market. Funds, which were being accumulated in anticipation of new Treasury financing in June 15, were quickly diverted to outstanding securities by the announcement of Secretary Mellon that no borrowing would be necessary at this time.

Liberty bonds and other standard investment obligations readily attracted fresh buying interest and scored substantial gains. All the active United States government obligations worked higher on a large volume of business and the moderate increase in the demand for Atchison, New York Central, Missouri Pacific, Southern, Pennsylvania and other representative rail issues was noted.

More than $50,000,000 in new financing has been announced for tomorrow and in the belief of the investment community has been well timed to catch the June reinvestment demand. A $40,000,000 issue of Southern California Edison 25-year refunding mortgage 5 per cent bonds will be marketed at 98½ to yield 5.10 per cent. The sale of $10,000,000 5 per cent notes by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation will enable the company to retire its outstanding 7 per cent obligations. The new bonds, maturing in three to six years, will be priced to yield from 4¾ to 5⅛ per cent.

Price movements of corporations issues were somewhat confusing. Prospects of an early reorganization announcement carried American Writing Paper bonds and certificates to new high prices for the year, but their extreme gains of about 6 points were reduced before the close. International Telephone 5½s were heavily sold on the announcement of new stock financing, falling more than 3 points below 110. Other heavy spots were Cuba Cane Sugar 7s and 8s, Warner Sugar 7s, Central Steel 8s, Ulster & Delaware 5s and West Penn Power 5s.

German government obligations were the outstanding strong feature of the foreign group, selling at a record high price of 105 before profit-taking set in. Additional progress was reported on plans for German steel company financing.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, June 8 (By the Associated Press).—Corn proved strongest today in a general upturn of grain values. All around market effects of reported damage by drought were supplemented in the case of corn by results of the Iowa election which were regarded in some quarters as suggesting more likelihood of farm relief legislation. Corn closed firm, 1¾ cents to 2⅜c net higher, with wheat unsettled ½c to 1c up, oats showing ⅝c@⅞c to ⅞c gain and provisions at 15 to 27c advance.

Buying of corn was more active than had been witnessed in a long while. According to some authorities, a good deal of the purchasing appeared to be due to Iowa political developments, belief being expressed by numerous traders that possibility of congressional action favorable to growers had been furthered to a material extent. Far-reaching lack of moisture, though, and the fact that hog values today were the higest in five years, were deemed by other observers to be mainly, if not altogether responsible for the sustained upward swing of the corn market. Adverse field reports concerning oats had a strengthening influence both on oats and corn.

Liberal profit-taking sales in the wheat market counteracted to a large degree fresh advices telling of crop injury in Kansas and of severe lack of moisture northward to Canada especially west of the Mississippi river. The Kansas wheat crop was stated to have gone to pieces from Salina west to Hays. It was asserted that in this district which is exclusive of the portion of Kansas that has been dry all spring the plant is drying up, a big part of the wheat will not even be cut by harvesters. On the other hand an official State report said Oklahoma this season would produce the second largest crop on record.

IVANHOE

"Tourquilstone Ablaze"

GREAT MYSTERY AND ADVENTURE SERIES
The Complete Novel in Daily Picture Installments

By Sir Walter Scott
Continuity by Ruth J. Williams; Pictured by Nicholas Afonsky

Read this and follow the story.

Cedric's party, including Rowena, his ward, and Isaac and Rebecca, has been imprisoned by de Bracy, de Bois-Guilbert and Front-de-Boeuf. Rebecca nurses the wounded Ivanhoe, whose life was saved by a mysterious black knight. Cedric escapes and joins forces with a band of outlaws and the black knight. They attack and Front-de-Boeuf is wounded. Old Ulrica, who hates him, has fired the castle.

THE BEST
TWO-FAMILY DWELLING
IN THE CITY
Located half block from 14th street, on the Heights, this two-family dwelling is an ideal home with income-producing value. The building is 25 feet wide on lot 148.5 feet deep, having two apartments of five and six rooms, each with bath. Double brick garage, now renting for $20, and one apartment for $65; the other occupied by owner. Separate hot-water heating plants, electricity, exceptionally large, bright rooms; nice yard, separate entrances—these are just a few of the many attractive features. This is not a converted house, but an unusually de luxe two-family apartment, built by owner. The price is right as an investment or a home.

LEGAL NOTICES

F. H. STEPHENS and F. W. MADIGAN, Attorneys.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE DISTRICT of Columbia, holding a District Court. In re Condemnation of land for public alley in square 1869, in the District of Columbia. District court, No. 1835. Notice and order of publication. Notice is hereby given that the commissioners of the District of Columbia, pursuant to the provisions of section 1608 to section 1610, inclusive, of the code of law for the District of Columbia, have filed a petition in this court praying for the condemnation of the land necessary for the opening and extension of an alley in square 1869, (bound by Connecticut avenue, Chevy Chase parkway, Livingston street, and Legation street), in the District of Columbia, as shown on a map or plat filed with the said petition as part thereof, and praying also that this Court empanel a jury in accordance with the law provided for in such cases to assess the damages each owner of land to be taken may sustain by reason of the opening and extension of said public alley and the condemnation of the land necessary for the purposes thereof, and to assess as benefits resulting therefrom the entire amount of said damages, including the expenses of these proceedings, upon each lot or part of lot or parcel of land, which will be benefited by said condemnation, in the proportion that the said jury may find said lots, parts of lots or parcels of land will be benefited as provided for, in and by the aforesaid code of law. It is, by the Court, this 26th day of May, 1926, ORDERED that all persons having any interest in these proceedings be, and they are hereby warned and commanded to appear in this Court on or before the 30TH DAY OF JUNE, 1926, at 10 o'clock, a. m., and continue in attendance until the court shall have made its final order ratifying and confirming the award of damages and the assessment of benefits of the jury to be empaneled and sworn herein; and it is further ORDERED, That a copy of this notice and order be published twice a week for two successive weeks in the Washington Evening Star, the Washington Herald and The Washington Post, newspapers published in the said District, commencing at least ten days before the said 30TH DAY OF JUNE, 1926. It is further ORDERED, That a copy of this notice and order be served by the United States marshal, or his deputies, upon each of the owners of the fee of the land to be condemned herein as may be found by the said marshal, or his deputies, within the District of Columbia, before the said 30th day of June, 1926. $50,000 IS SOUGHT IN DAMAGE ACTIONS AGAINST CORNWELLS

Allege Defendants and Others Committed Assault and Battery.

$25,000 DUE ON NOTE ASKED BY OIL COMPANY

Harry Cole Suit Against Corporation Is Dismissed.

Harvey B. Cornwell, 1308 D street northwest; Richard T. Cornwell, 4913 Ninth street northwest, and Forrest Cornwell, 1206 C street southwest, were named defendants in two lawsuits filed yesterday in circuit court for a total of $50,000 damages for alleged assault and battery.

The plaintiffs are Frank Marcozzi, 2133 P street northwest, and Elice Smith, 1621 Connecticut avenue northwest. Both plaintiffs allege that the defendants and three other persons unknown at this time committed an assault and battery on them June 9, 1925. Each of the plaintiffs ask $25,000 damages. Attorney E. M. Martin appeared for them.

Samuel Herstein, civil engineer, sued the Black & White Taxi Co. for $10,000 damages for alleged personal injuries. Through Attorneys Martin & Reid the plaintiff says that his automobile was run into by a cab on Massachusetts avenue northwest on June 10, 1924.

The Jefferson Construction & Oil Treating Co., of 1416 F street northwest, sued C. A. Myers, of 1014 Fourteenth street northwest and Nashwauk, Minn., to recover $25,000 alleged to be due on a demand note dated June 9, 1923. Attorneys Dickey & Kriz appeared for the plaintiff.

The $35,000 damage suit filed by Harry Cole against the Asher Fire Proofing Co. was dismissed by Attorneys Simon, Koenigsberger & Young for the plaintiff. The latter alleged that he was injured during the construction of the store building at Seventh and F streets northwest April 15, 1925.

Suit Against Board.

The $50,000 damage suit filed against the Shipping Board by John J. Bee, father of James C. Bee, deceased third officer on the Shipping Board freighter Schodack, was dismissed by C. M. Morris, counsel for the father. Bee fell overboard at Dumquerque, France, January 22, 1923, and died the next day, according to the declaration.

The $25,000 suit filed by Harry Standiford against the Washington Rapid Transit Co. was dismissed. Wolf & Cayton, attorneys, appeared for the plaintiff and alleged that he was injured on a bus at Thirteenth and E streets northwest on June 6, 1925.

John R. Daily, administrator of the estate of Kapriel Najarian, deceased, filed suit against Samuel Kaplan, 429 Eleventh stret northwest, to recover $10,000 damages for Najarian's death. Through Attorney H. M. Welch, it is alleged that Najarian was riding in Kaplan's automobile near Warrenton, Va., June 7, when the machine overturned. Najarian died two days later, it is stated.

William T. Griffin, motorcyclist, who sued M. Carter Hall and his wife, Mrs. Martha G. Hall, for $20,000 damages for alleged personal injuries, lost his case. The jury brought in a verdict for the defendants. Griffin alleged that the Hall automobile, driven by Mrs. Hall, collided with his motorcycle at the intersection of H street and Madison place northwest June 8, 1924. Attorneys Lambert and Obear appeared for the defendants.

Ancient Footprints Reach Washington

Embedded in a ton and a half of slabs of sandstone and shale, footprints of animals that roamed the Grand Canyon of the Colorado 25,000,000 years ago arrived yesterday at the Smithsonian institute. They are the collection of the trip made by Dr. Charles W. Gilmore, of the National museum, and constitute one of the foremost collections of fossil footprints ever made.

Dr. Gilmore took them from three different levels in the canyon, the lowest of which was 1,800 feet below the rim and 400 feet below any fossil footprints that have ever been found. The animals that crawled when the stone was soft sand disappeared and their tracks were covered by sediment.

Four Washington Men Are Graduated

Four Washington men were graduated from the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa., at commencement exercises yesterday. The graduating class, numbering 350, was one of the largest in the history of the institution.

The local graduates were William Gibson, 322 Tenth street northeast; Carter Scrimgeour, 1830 K street northwest; James Whitman, 2310 Twenty-seventh street northwest, and Carey Proctor, 1826 G street northwest, who received bachelor of science degrees.

Gas Pressure Investigated.

Chevy Chase gas pressure was made the subject of an investigation by order yesterday of the public utilities commission. Complaint had been received from the Chevy Chase Citizens association and by Assistant District Attorney Ralph Given that there is insufficient gas pressure for cooking mornings and evenings.

Insomnia Aids Girl To Win Contest

Miss Lula Belle Motley, of 1613 Riggs place northwest, yesterday was presented with a check for $1,500, second prize in the E. R. Squibb & Sons dental hygiene educational contest which closed last November, and in which more than 40,000 individuals participated. The presentation was made by Dr. Edward H. Squibb in the presence of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, to whom Miss Motley is secretary.

Miss Motley is a native of Pittsfield, Ills., and came here last fall. She attributes her success in the contest to insomnia, for it was a night when she was unable to sleep that she worked out the most difficult problem presented in the contest, she said.

MOLLER AMENDS PLANS FOR TRAFFIC

Signals to Be Placed in Pennsylvania Avenue Southeast.

Assistant Director of Traffic I. C. Moller yesterday amended his plans for comprehensive extension of the system of electric light traffic signals, to provide for automatic traffic control in the Southeast and southwest sections of the city, heretofore neglected in this particular.

He now plans to place signals in Pennsylvania avenue southeast, from First street to the bridge over the Anacostia river, and in Sixth street southwest from Pennsylvania avenue to the water front. The former will control an entrance to the city from Anacostia and the latter is designed to aid automobile travel to and from the wharves. These will be installed this year.

It is planned next year to similarly equip Eleventh street southeast from Pennsylvania avenue, across the navy yard bridge and to Nicholas avenue and Seventh street southwest, to parallel the installation in Sixth street. "It occurred to me that the northwest section was getting too large a percentage of automatic direction of traffic," said Moller.

ELKS FLAG SERVICE TO BE HELD SUNDAY

Annual Exercises Planned at New Jewish Community Center.

Exercises, which are held annually by the Elks, commemorating the birth and development of the American flag, will be held in the new Jewish community center auditorium Sunday night at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the Washington lodge, No. 15.

Representative Frederick N. Zihlman, of Maryland, and Patrick J. Halitgan, reading clerk of the House of Representatives, are programed as the principal speakers. The exercises are partly ritual and embody the use of nine distinct flags, each of which being descriptive of some period in the nation's development.

James A. Balderson is chairman of the committee on arrangements. Instrumental music will be furnished by Sol Minster's orchestra and the Washington quartet, composed of Mary Sherier Bowie, Ritchie McLean, J. F. M. Bowie and Fred East, will sing.

MOTORBUS PARK RULE TO BE IGNORED

Commission Decides to Hold Ordinance in Abeyence.

The public utilities commission yesterday decided to ignore a traffic regulation adopted by its members, while sitting as District commissioners, rather than vote for its repeal. Last week Earl V. Fisher, executive secretary of the utilities body, recommended that the traffic rule forbidding motorbuses to park downtown be repealed or modified to permit the Burleith buses to lay over at Tenth and E streets northwest, as a terminus.

The commission, instead, cited that part of the act creating it, giving it power to disregard regulations of the District government, and ordered that the buses be permitted, at the street intersection in question, stopovers "of sufficient duration to maintain their present schedule."

2,900 Visits Made By Nursing Staff

A total of 2,900 patients were visited during May by the nursing staff of the Instructive Visiting Nurses society, Miss Gertrude H. Bowling director, reported at the closing meeting of the society for the season yesterday.

Mrs. Whitman Cross, president of the society, presided. Other members present were Miss Cora Barry, Mrs. Franklin Ellis, Mrs. Emory Scott Land, Mrs. G. Brown Miller, Mrs. Henry G. Newcomer, Mrs. David Potter and Mrs. Ord Preston.

BARON IS STRIVING TO RECOVER PROPERTY

Alleges That He Is Swiss Citizen and No Subject of Germany.

Lieut. Baron Waldemar Konrad Ernst Anton Wilhelm von Zedwitz, who served with the first regiment of the guard dragoons of the Royal Prussian army at the front during the war, who is the son of the late Countess Elizabeth Breckenridge Caldwell von Zedwitz, and heir to the $3,200,000 estate of his mother, began his attempt yesterday in equity court before Justice James Francis Smith to recover the estate from the alien property custodian.

The baron says he is a Swiss citizen and his defense against the contention of this government that he is and was a German citizen is that he was impressed against his will into the service of the late Kaiser Wilhelm and remained a Swiss citizen in spite of the alleged forced service in the Prussian army against the United States.

The records of the Swiss government as introduced before Justice Smith show that the baron and his mother became Swiss citizens at Thun, in 1908. These records were admitted in evidence over the objection of Assistant Attorney General Dean Hill Stanley, who appears for the alien property custodian. The records of the German government tending to show that the baron had expatriated himself by a ten-year absence from Germany were ruled out temporarily over the objection of Attorneys Shearer, Kratz & Butler, counsel for the baron. The latter is the holder of an iron cross, second class. The mother of the baron gave Caldwell Hall to the Catholic university, of the District of Columbia. The baron was born in Berlin, May 8, 1896. His father was a German nobleman. By a privy order dated November 30, 1915, signed by the kaiser, the baron became a lieutenant, the records show.

Those in charge of the ceremonies are Mrs. W. V. Cox, president; Mrs. Huston Thompson, Mrs. Douglas T. Birne, Mrs. M. L. Saunders, Mrs. B. W. Parker, Mrs. Mark Kauffman, Mrs. A. B. Brown, Miss Lenrose Wainwright, Mrs. Fernando Cuniberti, Mrs. Andrew Bradley, Mrs. William Colt, Mrs. Frederick A. Fenning, Mrs. Wrisley Browne and Mrs. George M. Eckles.

New Bus Line Sought.

Application was made yesterday by William H. Merz, of Philadelphia, to the public utilities commission for permission to enter Washington with a new de luxe motorbus line between the two cities. It is proposed that the local terminus be at the Mayflower hotel, with two trips daily, the fare to be $7.

COMMITTEE URGES WIDER BLAIR ROAD AND NEW HIGHWAYS

Board Will Request Commissioners to Change Present Thoroughfare Plans.

PARK BODY APPROVES ACQUISITION OF LAND

Separation of Commercial and Residential Districts Feature of Design.

Acquisition of land for widening Blair road from Underwood street to Peabody street to a width of 90 feet was recommended by the city and park planning committee meeting yesterday. Establishment of two new highways west of Nichols avenue, in Anacostia, extending from the south boundary of St. Elizabeths hospital to Blue Plains, with ultimate acquisition of land between them as a park tract, was also recommended.

The committee desires to change the lay-out of Blair road from the present highway plan and effect a separation of commercial and residential localities on the east and west sides of the thoroughfare. The District commissioners will be requested to modify the tentative highway plan, which places the road to follow the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and that necessary land for the plan be acquired by condemnation, purchase and dedication. The commissioners will first hold a hearing for abutting property owners in the area concerned.

Two New Highways.

One of the two highways proposed for Anacostia will run at the base of the intervening bluff planned for parking; the other, along the ridge. The land between will form a connecting link for the District parking system between Anacostia park and Forts Foote and Washington. The tract is a mile long and about 300 feet wide.

A change in the line of Yuma street east of Connecticut avenue in the Soapstone valley neighborhood, was also recommended to avoid filling work which will eventually destroy the natural beauty of the valley.

Acquisition of that part of Foundry Branch valley, south of Reservoir road, necessary to connect Archbold and Glover parkways with the Potomac river, and regulation of building on the east side of Forty-fourth street so as not to mar a proposed parkway were discussed at the meeting. Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, new assistant engineer commissioner, succeeding Maj. Raymond A. Wheeler, attended. Maj. Wheeler was also in attendance at his last meeting with the committee.

Wife Sues to Remove Tonsils of Children

Joseph Rosendorf, husband of Mrs. Minnie Rosendorf, was cited yesterday by Justice Smith, in equity court, to appear next Friday to show cause why his wife should not be authorized to employ a physician to remove the tonsils from his two daughters, Mildred, 6 years old, and Ruth, 4, and also why he should not pay the expenses of such operations.

Through Attorneys Strasburger and Wood, Mrs. Rosendorf, who has the custody of the children, says her husband objected to her plans for the removal of the tonsils. According to affidavits attached to Mrs. Rosendorf's petition for the rule against her husband, the tonsils are inflamed and need to be removed.

Government Wins Smoke Screen Case

The government secured its first conviction in a smoke screen case yesterday in criminal court before Justice Stafford. The defendants were Norman Goodwin and Edward Cotten, both colored, who were arrested in Bryant court northwest, November 29, last, by Capt. Guy Burlingame and his "flying squadron." The device in this case was tested out by the police and traffic was tied up for several blocks.

According to the testimony the defendants were surprised while unloading liquor. Goodwin whipped out a pistol, it was testified, but Capt. Burlingame was quicker on the trigger and shot him in the shoulder. The defendants were remanded. The maximum sentence is five years in prison.

Committees to Make Park Inspection Today

In the interest of the coming District park program, Maj. U. S. Grant 3d and Maj. Carey H. Brown, director and assistant director of the office of public buildings and public parks, will take members of the District subcommittee of both House and Senate committees on appropriations for a tour of the District, beginning at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

Leaving the public buildings and public parks office in the Navy building, they will visit the Rock creek-Potomac parkway, the Glover and Archbold tracts, Fort Stevens and Fort drive, then into the Northeast section and back to the Capitol by noon. The parking plans for these districts will be explained to committee members.
